BELLEVUE, COOPER ESTATE.

☞ A few of the many reasons why BELLEVUE is admitted by all as being the GRANDEST PROPERTY EVER OFFERED IN THE COLONY.

Because	BELLEVUE is within 3 MILES of the EXCHANGE, Post Office, &c., by 'BUS, TRAM, or STEAMER.
Because	BELLEVUE commands UNRIVALLED views over the whole of our LOVELY HARBOUR.
Because	BELLEVUE is the ONLY LARGE BLOCK of LAND in the locality that CAN COME into the market for years.
Because	BELLEVUE has been subdivided into LARGE BLOCKS, not small allotments.
Because	BELLEVUE is FREEHOLD (not leasehold) LAND.
Because	BELLEVUE is in the heart of our most fashionable suburb.
Because	BELLEVUE is surrounded by the MANSIONS of the ARISTOCRACY.
Because	BELLEVUE Sites are all NATURALLY DRAINED.
Because	BELLEVUE Lots are 200, 300, and 400 FEET DEEP.
Because	BELLEVUE enjoys advantages possessed by NO OTHER ESTATE, and only needs an inspection to prove that all the advantages claimed for it ARE REALLY WELL MERITED.
Because	BELLEVUE Terms are 10 per cent. deposit; 10 per cent. in 3 months, WITHOUT INTEREST; balance at 1, 2, 3, and 4 years, with 6 per cent. interest.

WERRINGTON, PARKES PLATFORM,
between St. Mary's and Penrith.
THIS DAY.
WATKIN and WATKIN,
281, Pitt-street.

TO GENTLEMEN SEEKING A COUNTRY RESIDENCE.

WERRINGTON HOUSE, between South Creek and Penrith, and only 75 minutes from Sydney, is a most desirable place. The house is thoroughly well built (walls about 18 inches thick), dry, and sound; has every convenience for a gentleman seeking a home outside the bustle of city life; stands in its own grounds of about 24 acres (which could be increased by as many acres as the purchaser might wish for); is situated upon the hill top, has beautifully wooded country surrounding it, and is within a few minutes' walk from the railway platform. The barns, sheds, stables, &c., are in good order; there is plenty of water in the place, and in fact, every convenience for a large establishment; and every gentleman seeking a quiet home within easy distance of the city would do well to inspect this property.

In the grounds are some fine English oaks, and a magnificent specimen of the bunya-bunya tree in grand foliage, while there is a good-sized orangery close to the house.

The above splendid property will be sold by auction, by WATKIN and WATKIN, THIS DAY, 17th March, 1883, on the Ground, at Parkes' Platform.

OPPOSITE the PARK, Ashfield.—Gentlemen in search of a good building SITE should inspect the block having 156 feet frontage to Orpington-street, and 200 feet to Loftus-street. WATKIN and WATKIN, 281, Pitt-street.

Offices—4, Park-street.

TO ECONOMICAL HOUSEWIVES.—Your Grocer can purchase inferior Soaps 8s a hundredweight less than he can buy Allen's No. 1 Crown Soap, and he charges for them the same price per bar. He reaps the benefit and you pay for it. You lose 8s a box, your clothes last no time, and their colours are destroyed by the adulteration. To avoid all this see that your bar of soap is stamped "ALLEN'S No. 1 Crown."

PETERSHAM, on the Boulevard, between Frazer-road and Toothill-street, Avondale, well-built 2-story Brick HOUSE, shingled roof, contains hall, drawing and dining rooms, 3 bedrooms, balcony front and back, detached kitchen, with store, washhouse with copper, good water supply; land, 36 x 133. STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS
FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with the two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January 12, 1866.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution: None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, London. Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s.
Agents: Sydney—ELLIOTT, BROTHERS.

HAVE YOU TRIED IT? WHAT? Why GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER, the greatest remedy the world ever saw or heard of. It is purely vegetable, and guaranteed not to contain one particle of any kind of mineral. It may be taken by either sex, old or young, without the slightest danger. It will positively cure you of liver complaint, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, dyspepsia, &c., &c. Will you try it? If you do you will bless the day you read this. Price, 3s 6d. All chemists sell it. Wholesale by ELLIOTT BROTHERS, Sydney and Brisbane.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An External Means of CURING SKIN DISEASES. There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine," and commence to fade away in a few days. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; while old, enduring skin disorders that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists, and ELLIOT BROTHERS, Sydney. Bottles, 2s 9d. Made only by J. PEPPER and CO., London.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—This fluid combination, as a stimulant to disordered liver, is safer than calomel, blue pill, or destructive antibilious medicines. In all cases of congestion or liver complaint, Taraxacum and Podophyllin sets the sluggish liver in action, moves the stomach very gently indeed, giving a sense of clearness and comfort within a few hours. The symptoms of liver derangement—headache, torpidity, costiveness, flatulence, heartburn, sense of over-repletion, shoulder pains, repugnance to food, general discomfort and depression—are quickly dispelled by Taraxacum and Podophyllin. Prepared solely by J. PEPPER and CO., London. Insist on having the correct preparation. Bottles, 2s 9d and 4s. 6d. Sold by Chemists everywhere.

PEPPER'S QUININE AND IRON TONIC possesses all the powers of these valuable tonics in banishing diseases and symptoms traceable to weakness. It rouses and develops the nervous energies, causing increased action of all the nerve centres, enriches the blood, promotes appetite, dispels languor and depression.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC strengthens the nerves and muscular system, improves digestion, animates the spirits, thoroughly recruits the health and strength. Bottles (32 doses), 4s 6d. Sold by chemists everywhere. Insist on having Pepper's Tonic. Made only by J. Pepper and Co., London.

LIVER COMPLAINTS.—Dr. KING'S DANDELION and QUININE LIVER PILLS (without mercury). THE BEST REMEDY FOR BILIOUSNESS, STOMACH DERANGEMENT, FLATULENCE, PAINS BETWEEN THE SHOULDERS, BAD APPETITE, INDIGESTION, ACIDITY, HEADACHE, HEARTBURN, and all other symptoms of disordered liver and dyspepsia. The safest and mildest pills for every constitution.
In Boxes at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, sold everywhere.
Prepared by Jas. Rorke, London.

DERMATOLOGY.
JAMES H. ADGER, Dermatologist.
Office: 131, Elizabeth-st., Sydney, treats successfully all diseases of the skin and scalp, loss of hair, premature blanching, and general cultivation and growth of the hair; and, as a result of this experience, he may point to his flattering success during several years' practice in this city, without reference to the many special cures he has effected, as the best proof of the general efficiency of his system of treatment.
Mr. Adger may be consulted at his office, 131, Elizabeth-street, where letters and testimonials are open to inspection, which must satisfy the most sceptical, signed as they are by persons of the highest positions in society. It will be obvious that no person could have obtained such names as an endorsement of his professional ability without constant proof of merit.

READ THIS, AND LIVE.
When all so-called liver remedies fail, when your spirits are cast down, and life becomes a drag, when the science and skill of your physician have proved a failure, and you have satisfied his many claims with your hard-earned money, yet there is hope, for Dr. WILLIAMS' celebrated MIRACULOUS PILLS are the only liver remedy known.

Musical Instruments.

THE LEADING HOUSE IN SYDNEY FOR PIANOS.

NICHOLSON and CO.,
325, George-street.

MESSRS. NICHOLSON and CO. would impress on all intending purchasers to see their NEW MODEL PIANOS before buying elsewhere.

THE MIGNON PIANO

stands pre-eminent as the finest model ever introduced to Australia. It contains all the valuable improvements that are to be found in instruments of double the price. This model has a grand iron frame, with splendid metallic tuning plate. Is overstrung (double oblique) trichord, and 7 octaves in compass. It has a beautiful ivory keyboard of full size. The instrument is enclosed in the prettiest style of case conceivable, in walnut, walnut and gold engraved; or in ebonised case, or ebonised and gold engraved.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

The tone is unequalled for the size of the instrument. Full and powerful, and of great purity and sweetness and sustaining quality. The improved iron frame prevents the possibility of atmospheric influences, and ensures a most remarkable steadiness and retention of the quality of the tone.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

No other firm can show a Piano at all approaching this excellent model. The price is exceedingly low for so superb an instrument, and it has got a quality of tone that NO SIMILAR VALUE PIANO POSSESSES. This instrument can be sent without fear to any part of Australia.

WE GUARANTEE IT FOR SEVEN YEARS.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

The superiority of this model is evident from the large and continuous orders we receive for the instrument. The demand increased daily, and no wonder, as the instrument is the best and cheapest in the city.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

This instrument requires no fulsome testimonials in its praise. Were we so disposed we could exhibit hundreds of letters speaking in the highest terms of it. The Mignon Piano will not disgrace any drawing-room; it is the most elegant model ever turned out of a Piano Factory.

THE MIGNON PIANO

, is a marvel, is grandly constructed,
is the perfection of a Piano,
is preferred to all others of similar value, is known the length and breadth of the land, is preferred because a fancy price is not asked for it, is a big success, is manufactured expressly and solely for
NICHOLSON and CO.

NICHOLSON and CO.'S NEW MODEL PIANOS.

SEE the superb Model No. 11, the best built Cottage Piano at its price ever shown in Sydney, of magnificent proportions, iron framed, overstrung, double oblique, fine, full, and powerful tone, exceedingly rich in quality, beautiful elastic touch ; in fact, the PIANO OF THE PERIOD.

OUR competitors must confess their inability to show such instruments as our Mignon and No. 11—it is impossible for them to do so. Nothing but months, very many months, of patient perseverance and a great outlay of money could accomplish such a great success as ours has been in producing our NEW MODEL PIANOS.

ONCE seen and heard, and they are preferred to all others.

Illustrated photo. catalogues, showing interior and exterior views; also, lowest cash prices, and prices and particulars of TIME PAYMENT, may be had on application.

OUR BERLIN LETTER.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.

The new year brought for Germany the surprising and startling news of the death of Leon Gambetta, the effect of which is still to be felt in the political world. The German Government circles are still very reluctant to give any opinion about the significance of this event. The official press has only praised Gambetta for his patriotism, and has acknowledged that he had done his very best to organise in France the resistance against the German invader, and to restore the honour of his country. Prince Bismarck was deeply moved by the sudden death of the French ex-dictator, all the more so as the same year had freed Germany from another dangerous enemy—General Skobeloff. The German Chancellor, however, is well aware of the fact that the sudden death of the leader of the French Republic may bring on more serious consequences than can be anticipated at this moment, for in the state of the home affairs in France, as well as in her relations with foreign countries, great disturbances may take place. The official circles here doubt very much whether affairs in France will become more secured. It is assumed here that the different parties will very soon begin to struggle for the heirship, and that the moderate elements will not be able to check either the Radicals or the Monarchists. The best chances may for the moment be with the Radicals, under the leadership of Clemenceau. The French, however, will soon learn that the Powers will under these conditions be still less inclined to conclude an alliance with France, and that even Russia would renounce all plans for combined action. The German Chancellor has also defended the principle that the French Republic, checked by the jealousy and ambition of the different parties, must be regarded as the best means for the preservation of peace, while the Monarchy would be obliged to fortify its position by restoring the prestige of France in going to war, and its reinstitution must therefore be regarded as a real danger for the European peace. The whole interest of the political circles here has, therefore, been lately concentrated in the question, who will become the heir of Gambetta? Prince Jerome Bonaparte was one of the first who believed that the time to act had come for him. The circumstance that he published a manifesto to the French population showed clearly how very entangled the state of affairs is in France. The French Ministry was so surprised by this step from the party of the Bonapartists that they thought to cut short further embarrassments from that side by incarcerating the prince. This step is regarded here as a great mistake of the French Government, though the latter has protested that the authorities of justice alone have to be made responsible for this matter. The present Cabinet will at all events have to bear the consequences of this unwise measure. Though the majority of the German press has ridiculed the step of Prince Jerome, it was nevertheless regarded as a sign that no influential and wise statesman exists at this moment in France who has the power to control the passions of the majority. All the proceedings in France are of course followed here with the greatest interest, and it can be stated that the news of the embarrassment of the Orleans princes, which was occasioned by the act of Prince Napoleon, has been received by the German Government with a certain satisfaction, as these princes have never been much liked here. It is a well-known fact that the Duke d' Aumale has lost all sympathies here through having been president of the court-martial on Bazaine, and by his having always supported Chauvinistic agitations in order to influence public opinion in France in his favour. It is therefore assumed that the Orleans princes seek for a disturbance of the general peace in Europe. Although the German Government has during the last ten years avoided every step for meddling in the home affairs of France, the fact has never been a secret that by the rising of the Orleanists the relations between Germany and France would certainly not be improved. The crisis in the French Cabinet, after the steps taken against Prince Jerome Bonaparte (regarded as unavoidable), is followed here without any excitement, as the Cabinet Duclerc is not understood to have gained the sympathies of any foreign Power. The state of home affairs in France is regarded as being so uncertain and so embarrassed that foreign policy cannot make exact calculations regarding the future development of affairs there, but is obliged to regulate its relations with France only from event to event. Of one fact only the German Government circles are convinced, that France will, in her present situation, be utterly unable to follow an energetic foreign policy, and that England will not have to fear anything on the part of France.

Earl Granville's circular note regarding the Egyptian affairs, which was handed over last week to the Powers, will not cause a great deal of diplomatic intercourse. It would indeed have more pleased Germany if the English Cabinet had at first come to an understanding with France, as thereby the negotiations with all the other interested Powers would certainly have been very much facilitated. It is, however, now considered as an accomplished fact that the present French Cabinet will not be induced to accept the proposals of England, and that the latter will thereby be obliged to adjourn the final settlement till another time. As the majority of the Powers have in the first place only the wish that order and peace should be restored and secured for a long time in Egypt, England will not find any resistance to those measures which have this aim in view. The demand of the Duclerc Cabinet to have the former control of the Egyptian finances reinstituted will on no account be supported by Germany and Austria, for Prince Bismarck has always been of the opinion that the reinstitution of this united control would create the possibility of future difficulties, and even of a war between France and England, which might easily disturb the general peace of Europe. This might all the more easily happen, as the Egyptian authorities would in future have to act under the authority of England, and as the latter would then feel offended by recriminations on the part of France. If England is ready to give the necessary guarantees that the Egyptian Government will fulfil the duties to which Egypt is bound by different treaties, that the commercial interests of the different powers will not be endangered, and that particularly the international law courts will be preserved, then England will in no way be hindered from the exercise of a certain supremacy over Egypt.

The circumstance that the Emperor William and Pope Leo XIII. have lately exchanged letters has been much commented upon in political circles, and speculation has been going on about the meaning of this intercourse. The Pope has indeed made use of the beginning of the new Church year to express the hope that an understanding between the Prussian monarchy and the Roman Church might be arrived at; and Emperor William, in answering the Pope's congratulations for the new year, expressed the same hope in most kind terms, but without making any promises. The Vatican is said to have understood that the Prussian Government is not willing to make any further concessions, and that an understanding will only be possible in case the Church is willing to yield to the demands of the Prussian State. The Centre party has resolved to demand again from the Government that every priest, though not confirmed by the State authorities, should be allowed to read masses and to distribute the sacraments, which demand was refused in the last session. The Centre party seems to have been induced to this step only by the wish that the Government should be obliged to give explanations about the state of the relations between the Prussian Monarchy and the Vatican. It is expected that shortly a letter from the Pope will bring satisfactory statements, and that then the negotiations will at last take a thoroughly satisfactory turn.

The Skin.—The glory of woman, the pride of man. It contains the delicate lines of beauty, and constitutes all that we term "loveliness," yet how many have their skins blemished by irritant soaps—carbolic, coal tar, glycerine—made of putrid fats. "The Albion Milk and Sulphur Soap" is the purest, the whitest, and most purifying of all soaps. It removes all pimples, blotches, and roughness. Recommended by the entire medical profession. Delicately perfumed. Sold in tablets by all chemists and perfumers.—[Advt.]

OUR MELBOURNE LETTER.

MELBOURNE, March 12.

The new Ministry are all in their places, and the work of the departments is going on as if nothing had happened. They have even begun to receive deputations. They are abused, of course, but they do not seem to mind being abused. Especially at Geelong they are taken to task. That is to say, Mr. Service is taken to task for allying himself with Mr. Berry. As if he could well do anything else but ally himself with Mr. Berry. And therefore Mr. Berry is to be opposed by somebody; and thus more trouble is brewing. Some people can never persuade themselves that it is a good thing to be at peace. They will be so exceedingly high-principled. They cannot see the virtue of expediency. And yet expediency is the very lubricant which enables this world to move pleasantly onwards.

Mr. Bent's farewell speech, on the occasion of the going out of the Ministry, was a touching howl of disappointment. He would not take his punishment kindly. It would have been too much to expect Mr. Bent to be dignified: but he might have been silent. Instead of that, he insisted upon telling everybody how much it hurt him to have to go out of office. He never could have played the Spartan boy with the fox gnawing his viscera. And so he bellowed, he blubbered, he called his opponents bad names; he imputed to them evil motives; he cursed them as far as parliamentary language would go in the direction of imprecation. He was therefore not an edifying spectacle at all. He was not even funny in his rage; you could not laugh at him; he only wearied you, and provoked your contempt. The situation was just of the kind to show a man's breeding, and it showed his. It is easy to say that there is grandeur in the sight of a good man suffering adversity; but although Mr. Bent has had the reputation of being a good man; and although he was certainly under a very dark cloud of political adversity, there was not the least hint of grandeur about him—no more grandeur, in fact, than there is about a lubberly hobbledehoy when he is kicked out of a turnip field.

It may be that Mr. Bent's misfortunes will chasten his spirit, and enable him to bear future suffering with resignation, but it is more likely that they will not, and that in the formation of future Ministries he will have no place. He certainly deserves to have none.

And now Dr. Beaney's dream is out, and he is the Honourable George James. His happiness deserves to be called supreme. It is a glowing sort of happiness effulgent, rosy, pervading. And really, looking with that sort of feeling which prompts us to be glad at the happiness of our fellow-creatures, it does one good to behold his measureless content. Also Mr. Butters, who managed Dr. Beaney's candidature for the Central Province, is content, for he has unbosomed himself in the Argus, and has shown that, so far from making a profit out of Dr. Beaney through this election, Dr. Beaney is indebted to him in the sum of £36. Mr. Butters has clearly been a much-slandered man. But by this time he has, probably, quite satisfied himself of the eternal truth that it is the fate of all virtuous men to be misunderstood. But it is reassuring to the outer world to know that the long friendship existing between Dr. Beaney and himself is not impaired. Mr. Butters says so.

After a fashion Sir Bryan is content also, for at last the loan is floated above par. But the contentment comes too late. Nevertheless, Sir Bryan enjoys the sweet consciousness of his own rectitude. He is not in Paradise, but he knows he ought to be. He will have no place in the field on the 3rd proximo, when the campaign is open, but he will look on from the heights of his clear conscience, and feel how honestly he could have wielded his weapon in that warfare.

There is thus then a momentary lull in the political breeze, but the wind will freshen on Thursday night, when Mr. Service is to declare his policy at Castlemaine, and we are to know what is going to be done. It is safe to say that whatever he says will cause dissatisfaction in some people's minds. It would be almost disappointing if it did not. We do not wish to be dull; we should be cloyed with sweetness if we had a Government able to please everybody. Besides, it is the mission of a great many people in this world, and as it seems to me, especially in this Victorian world, to be obstructive. Charitably regarded, perhaps, they may be considered as the continuous brakes of society.

Next to politics, we have been most exercised on cricket. Last Friday we took holiday to see the final match played. Perhaps in no country other than Victoria could such thing have happened as a whole community shutting up its departments and its law courts to go and see a cricket match. And yesterday, when the game was over, and the result was declared, the commotion in the streets was as if some general had just saved the country from the invasion of a foreign enemy.

As a contrast with this wild madness over cricket, I may mention that nobody goes to see the exhibition of the Academy of Art now open on the Easter Hill. To be sure, we have not many artists, and the best of them do not exhibit; but some of the pictures of those who do exhibit are worth seeing. Naturally, the best artists say, what is the use of exhibiting when nobody goes to look at their pictures? The building, too, of the academy is a poor, forlorn, unfinished heap of bluestone ugliness; and yet the proceeds of one cricket match would enable the council of the academy to complete the structure and obliterate an eyesore. Nobody ever gets up a bazaar to supplement the academy's funds, and yet at this moment all the hoardings are covered with long placards announcing bazaars in every quarter of the city, the proceeds to be devoted to building or finishing some church, or schoolroom, or minister's manse.

The weather, also, has served for conversational purposes—the weather in connection with Wiggins. Up to this morning a great many people had faith in Wiggins. Now they have none. He is a false prophet: for we have had no storm, and only a little rain, and this not enough to raise even the faintest fear of a flood. But if Wiggins were to prophecy again, they would renew their belief in his predictions. They could not well exist if they had not some calamity in their expectation. Thus they have at this moment the comet and its early re-visitation in their minds. And within the last day or two some cometlings appear to have caused great consternation in the neighbourhood of Geelong by alarmingly coruscating in the heavens. These fledgelings are declared to be the precursors of the comet itself, and we are bidden to prepare. One man, in order to escape destruction by comet heat, has blown himself up with dynamite in one of the public gardens. A large number of others, about seventy in all, have been making mad revel in the streets, on the principle of "Eat, drink, and be merry, for to-morrow we die." But the authorities have not coincided with them in this practical application of the aphorism, and so have variously sent them to gaol, or relieved them of their money. A newly married young man, bent upon eating and drinking and being merry at the expense of others, procured the means of doing so by drawing a valueless cheque. But as his wife paid the money, he did not go to gaol; and so he demonstrated the benefits of matrimony.

THE COST OF A SECOND CABLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Can you or any of your readers inform me what the cost per mile would be of a submarine telegraph cable from Port Natal to Western Australia? and what would probably be the cost of laying same? The distance from Port Natal to St. Paul's Island is 2300 miles, and from that island to Western Australia, 1800 miles, making a total of 4100 miles of cable required.

The advantage of this route would be that the entire length of cable would pass through either British territory or the ocean. Our present line is for nearly two-thirds of its length through foreign countries, with whom we might be at war to-morrow.

Another objection to the present telegraph line is the great number of stations through which messages must pass, and where they are often sadly mutilated, as those connected with the companies here well know. The Natal line could be carried to Mauritius, as you, sir, suggested some months since, and then on to Western Australia. This would, of course, lengthen the route, but would have many advantages in a commercial point of view.

I trust that the Herald will use its influence in awakening the Government of New South Wales to the necessity of a second telegraph line to the mother country. I am, &c.,

FIJI.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LEVUKA, March 3.

It is not very likely that any reader of the Sydney Morning Herald is thinking of emigrating to the island of Rotuma: but writers on mental disease tell us that partial insanity is much more common than is generally supposed, and therefore it is within the bounds of possibility that some one in New South Wales may be contemplating that step. To the friends of such a man the following remarks are specially addressed.

Rotuma is a small lone island, some hundreds of miles to the north-west of Fiji, and one of Sir Arthur Gordon's most brilliant achievements was its annexation to the British Crown. This being effected, it was not long before we discovered that we had annexed a nuisance, and the Rotumans themselves appear to have made a similar discovery from their own point of view. Accordingly they sent home a petition that her Majesty would be graciously pleased to let them go about their business once more, and this her Majesty was graciously pleased to refuse. So they are tacked on to Fiji, and we have to do the best we can with them. This we find to be no easy task, for they are literally a peculiar people, who differ from both Polynesians and Melanesians on many points which are extremely interesting to the philologist and the anthropologist, and extremely exasperating to our Government, which has to legislate for them. Thus, an ordinance which fits Fiji to a nicety might be altogether unsuitable to Rotuma, and consequently every measure has had to be specially considered with regard to that island before it could be made into law. It is really distressing to note so disheartening a result of Sir Arthur Gordon's well-meant labours, especially when we consider that Rotuma is the one solitary success which rewarded his patriotic exertions to buttress the British Empire by the annexation of South Sea Islands. Tonga and Samoa have to be written down among his failures. He spread himself upon them, and brooded over them with infinite pains and long suffering, but they wouldn't "hatch." Rotuma was his only chick which came out of the shell, and a troublesome, cross-grained, incongruous little chick it is.

Our present Governor has long felt the difficulty of dealing with Rotuma on our Fijian basis, and he has at length cut the Gordonian knot by issuing "an ordinance to make special provision for the government" of that Island of the Blest. "There shall be established in and for the island of Rotuma"—thus runs the ordinance—"a court of justice, to be styled 'the Resident Commissioner's Court,' which is to have in Rotuma all the powers in civil and criminal cases which the Supreme Court has in Fiji." It may make rules and orders at its pleasure, subject to the approval of our Governor; and in the absence of such rules and orders, or (here the ordinance becomes slightly foggy) if in the opinion of the Commissioner they are not applicable to any particular case, he may adopt "such procedure as shall to him seem best fitted for the speedy and effectual administration of justice, provided that no such procedure be repugnant to the principles of the laws of England." The Court can deal summarily with criminal cases, inflicting fine or penal servitude; but in cases were the fine exceeds £50, or the term of penal servitude is more than 12 months, or persons other than natives are concerned, a record of the proceedings must be sent to our Governor. The Court may try a man for his life, and find him guilty, but it may not pronounce sentence of death upon him. In such cases the record is to be sent to the Governor of Fiji, and the Governor in Council, after conferring with the Chief Justice, is to pronounce the sentence. Special provision is made to bar appeal to our Supreme Court, and no appeal is allowed in any case, save to the Privy Council. But the "roof and crown" of this Court is the constitution of it. It consists simply and solely of the Resident Commissioner himself, who is to administer fine and imprisonment, and to record findings which may take away men's lives, without assessors, jury, or any other safeguard. And the Resident Commissioner is an exceedingly nice young gentleman, who came out from Scotland a few years ago, apparently fresh from school, and received his judicial training as clerk to the board for hearing land appeals in Levuka. Hence, he is supposed to be thoroughly versed in "the principles of the laws of England," and in every respect a fitting person to have such large powers entrusted to his hands. The intending emigrant may take notice that if he settle at Rotuma he is liable to be called upon to stand his trial before that young gentleman, in a place where he can obtain no legal help of any kind whatever, that he may be sentenced to fine or imprisonment, without the possibility of appeal, and that he may even be found guilty of a capital offence, his sentence being pronounced by another Court, before which he cannot be represented. Thus he will be enabled to get himself hanged under circumstances which have the charm of novelty, and his fate will be a pleasing break to the dreary monotony of executions which are preceded by the usual forms of law. On the whole, if anybody be so far left to himself as to entertain a notion of settling at Rotuma, his friends would do well by calling his serious attention to Mr. Punch's celebrated advice to people about to marry.

The ordinance also provides for a sort of legislative Board at Rotuma, consisting of from five to ten natives, under the presidency of the Resident Commissioner. As its regulations will be laid before our Legislative Council, and will be subject to the approval of her Majesty, hasty and ill-considered legislation may be sufficiently guarded against, and really good work may be done. The chief point in the ordinance which we should like to see explained is the motive for barring appeal to our Supreme Court. Doubtless this measure is intended for the purpose of keeping the natives from under the protection of that Court as they are kept in Fiji; but the mystery remains unexplained as to the motive for denying them that protection. It would be an interesting experiment to take a good native case direct to the Supreme Court, and thus to test the validity of regulations which deprive British subjects, whether they be white or black, of the right to call the laws of England to their aid.

A remarkable event, which should have been noticed by the last mail, was crowded out of my letter, but it ought not to be left without record.

Writing on December 11, I mentioned that Mr. Anson, our Acting Agent-General for Immigration, had sent a very extraordinary reply to a courteously worded letter of inquiry from Messrs. H. Cave and Co., who wanted to tender for the introduction of the Polynesian labourers required by the Government for their own purposes. That gentleman appears to have improved the interval by taking lessons in manners and literary composition, with the highly satisfactory result that he forwarded to Messrs. Cave and Co. a second epistle, in every respect a delightful contrast to his former one, which was gently described as "supercilious, uncivil, irrelevant, and ungrammatical." It is very pleasing to note this great improvement in Mr. Anson's style; and, if he will now set himself to learn the necessity of replying to important business communications, not only courteously, but expeditiously also, we may have good hopes of him in the future. As it is, the interval of more than three months which elapsed between the date of Messrs. Cave's application and that of his late reply was simply fatal to the scheme proposed by the firm. Mr. Anson is said to be an exceedingly pleasant gentleman in private life. It is only when he gets his official harness on that he feels impelled to tilt at the Universe, and then wheeling round with graceful sweep to charge impetuously in upon his brother officials. It seems to take possession of him, and to run away with him, and to bring him into violent collision with all sorts and conditions of men, like the famous steam leg of "the richest merchant in Rotterdam." If this be so, we can only bewail the cruel fate which prevents him from confining himself to the sphere of which he is so bright an ornament. Such people really ought not to expose themselves to influences which transform a man who in private life is a courteous gentleman into a—well, into an Acting Agent-General of Immigration.

The mills of the gods grind slowly, it is said, and so they do as a general rule; but in Fiji they go off sometimes with an astounding rush, and then the danger is that the grinding may be imperfectly performed. Close following the Fijian Labour Ordinance noted in my last letter, we have another which, by a very strict system of inspection, and severe penal clauses, makes careful provision for guarding our Polynesian labourers against ill-treatment. I have already pointed out the necessity for measures such as this, and that necessity must always exist whenever an inferior race is employed by a superior. If we could be sure that none but thoroughly just men would be found in our ranks, Government vigilance might relax, inspectors might take their rest, and penal ordinances might be allowed to fall into abeyance. But, in the absence of such assurance, the fair-dealing portion of our community must be content to put up with unpleasant regulations, which are made necessary by the presence of men whose doings will not bear the light.

There is, however, another side to the question which it is not fair to refuse to look at. The Government does only half its duty when it cares for the labourer alone. In common justice its regulations should compel the workman to do his duty by his employer, as well as compel the employed to treat his workmen in a proper manner. The Government legislates for these natives as if they were children under its care, and therein it does well. But children have to be taught obedience as well as to be protected from injury; and he who provides for the latter only, while neglecting the former, is simply rearing a larrikin who will be a nuisance and a positive danger to the community. Our native brother is sometimes a very exasperating subject to deal with, as the ladies who employ him in domestic service are lamentably aware. He is given to spending his nights in the festive dance, and to being sleepy and sulky on the following day. He is also occasionally violent, and goes for the lady of the house with a hammer, or any other article of domestic apparatus which may be lying handy. Under such provocation it is not to be wondered at if the master of the house be moved to administer personal castigation. Indeed, some of our highest Government officials have felt the stirrings of this inspiration, and even within the sacred precincts of Government House itself a man and a brother has come flying into view, propelled by a boot to the rearward of him which had the right foot of Sir Arthur Gordon's house steward in it. On these painful occasions it is said that Sir Arthur used to take his major-domo to task, and reason with him, and point out that such measures were subversive of his native policy. But then he used to leave the stipendiary magistrate, and the Crown Prosecutor, and Chief Justice Gorrie, to reason with the planter who was similarly energetic. We are bound to suppose this was all right because Sir Arthur Gordon did it; but still, as Captain Macheath says,

> "Since laws were made for every degree,
> To curb vice in others as well as in me," we are puzzled by it, and we have to lay aside the apparent incongruity as beyond the reach of human reason, and belonging to the province of faith.

All this, however, only goes to show the necessity for strict supervision. The rod of correction, however useful its application may be, is far too dangerous an instrument to be left in irresponsible hands: but the power that takes it out of such hands is bound to provide some efficient substitute for it. The fact of the case is, the Government regulations are right enough as far as they go, and the only thing wrong about them is that they do not go far enough. It is as if the governor of a public school were carefully to protect the boys against tyrannous ill-usage on the part of the masters, but were to make no provision, or altogether inadequate provision, for securing obedience and the performance of the allotted tasks. Many of the natives are docile enough, and give very little trouble: but there are others on whose behalf sharp measures are required. We have acknowledged freely on our own account that stringent regulations are necessary to protect the workmen, because of the presence of brutal men among us; and precisely on the same grounds we may fairly ask for measures which shall protect the employer, because of the presence among his workmen of those who will not do their work without smart compulsion. If a planter ill-uses his men, we say punish him severely for the offence, and guard against the repetition of it in the future, by refusing to give him any more men to employ. But see to it that means be provided for making the labourers do their work, and inflict upon the obstinately refractory men among them some punishment which shall really act as a deterrent. A curfew regulation also to stop the undue prolongation of the nocturnal corroborees would be very beneficial, and it would be no more harsh nor tyrannous than is the rule which sends schoolboys to bed at a reasonable hour, such as shall give them a chance of sleep enough to prepare them for the work of the morrow. Savages, we are told, are children, with the strength and the passions of men; and it cannot be unreasonable to ask that, when they come under our control, they shall be subjected to a discipline such as regulates an English public school.

But there is little chance of our seeing regulations such as these in force among us, and the danger is that one-sided and partial legislation here and elsewhere may eventually produce a reaction which will be mischievous in the extreme. The anti-slavery movement in the last generation resulted in a sound healthy hatred of slavery in the English mind, and when an idea gets firmly fixed there it is extremely difficult to move it. But it is to be moved by a sufficient force, persistently applied: and, if it be once started, there is great danger of its going too far in the opposite direction. John Bull is sometimes unjust out of his very hatred of injustice, and when he finds out his mistake, his habit is to make amends for it by rushing to the other extreme. Utterances such as those of Sir Bartle Frere concerning our African colonists have not been spoken to the winds, and people at home are beginning to ask whether the desire to secure justice to the black man may not in some instances have resulted in wrong to the white. And if this notion once get itself firmly seated in the British mind, the difficulty in the way of securing the just claims of the inferior races will be increased a thousand fold.

The Governor's financial message to the Legislative Council is a cheerful document, and deserves an extended notice, which cannot be afforded to it in this letter. At last we have got on the right side of the ledger, with a small balance in hand after paying all expenses: and, according to the Estimates, we are to have something like £3700 to our credit at the end of next year. Our exports too have increased marvellously, and they are going to increase still further. If the islands and Calcutta fail to give us workmen enough, we may draw an ample supply from Madras or China. With their help, his Excellency tells us, we are to send away this year produce to the amount of £300,000, and in 1884 nearly half a million sterling. His Excellency is well on the safe side here: for, if our labour supply be kept up, we shall probably send away nearly those amounts in sugar alone. This at all events is the estimate of another great man among us, the chairman of our Chamber of Commerce, who also has been reviewing the past, and launching forth on the wings of prophecy into the future. But he appears to be a man of sanguine expectations, and so full of faith that he believes the Government is actually going to repair without any further delay the Queen's Wharf at Levuka, from which it has drawn a large revenue for some years past, and which it has allowed to rot piecemeal until it has become positively dangerous.

We have had a long succession of boisterous, gloomy, rainy weather, with the unpleasant accompaniment of an almost universal influenza, which set most of the white folks sneezing, and prostrated for a time nearly all the native population. But very few deaths have occurred, and we do not anticipate any appreciable effect on our mortality tables. Not so with the visitation of last year, which on the Rewa River was one of fatal dysentery, and the mortality there among the imported labourers was appalling. Without counting the plague of measles, this was the third similar epidemic which has visited that district during the last 20 years. The weather, though boisterous and disagreeable, has not been unfavourable to the crops; and if we get through this month without a hurricane, we may look forward to an exceptionally prosperous year. On the 24th ultimo there was every appearance of a disastrous blow. The glass fell rapidly to a true hurricane marking, but nowhere in this part of the group did the gale attain a really dangerous pitch, and the damage done is on the whole but trifling. Rewa, Suva, and the rest of Navitilevu escaped almost unhurt, but at Levuka the storm was much more violent and some casualties occurred. A weatherboard house on the hillside, occupied by Mr. Adolf Busch, performed the singular operation of drawing its own back piles out of the ground, and then began to proceed down the hill with its master and mistress on board. Fortunately it did not go far; but even in its short excursion it sustained considerable injury, and its inmates describe their sensations during the movement as novel indeed, but decidedly earthquaky and unpleasant. A more serious accident occurred on the Totogo Creek unfortunately attended by fatal consequences. A half-caste woman, frightened by the oscillations of the small house in which she lived, ran out of it with her child. The house was literally blown after them. It fell on them, and killed them on the spot. With these exceptions no great damage was done. The s.s. Hero came near the Levuka passage during the height of the storm, but had to stand out to sea again, not being able to discern the landmarks. She came in all right during the evening, having passed an overturned boat floating bottom upwards. H. M. S. Miranda arrived at Suva during the gale. There can be no doubt that the blow was a true hurricane somewhere in our neighbourhood, and we indulge a fervent hope that it has filled up our measure of dangerous weather for the coming year. If so, we are likely to do well. In the meantime our mills have ceased crushing, and we shall make no more sugar till the next season's crops come in. These are everywhere giving promise of an excellent yield.

A man named J. M. Murray, more commonly known as Measly Murray, has been committed for trial for attempting to murder his wife, a decent industrious woman. After the attempt he jumped from the balcony of a two-storied house, and came to the ground without injury. This feat of agility was prompted by the sight of a loaded rifle in the hands of a wrathful sea captain who wanted to expostulate with him.

PRINCE GORTSCHAKOFF.

Telegrams through Reuter's Agency and from our own correspondent inform us of the death of Prince Gortschakoff, under peculiar circumstances. It is a strange ending to one of the most remarkable careers known in modern history. For more than 60 years he was a foremost man in the diplomatic service of Russia; influencing the policy, and in a large measure controlling the destiny of that great nation; holding at times the peace of the whole of Europe at his command, and sharing with his great rival Prince Bismarck the constant attention of the diplomatic and political world.

"Men of the Time" gives the following brief sketch of Prince Gortschakoff's career:—

"Alexander Michaelowitsch Gortschakoff, statesman, and cousin of the celebrated general who defended Sebastopol, was born in 1798, and educated at the Lyceum of Zarskoe-Selo. He commenced his diplomatic life at the Congresses of Laybach and Verona, in the capacity of attaché to Count Nesselrode; was secretary to the Russian embassy in London in 1824, chargé d'affaires to the court of Tuscany in 1830, and was attached for the first time, in 1832, to the legation at Vienna, where the death of his superior, the Russian ambassador, gave him great influence. In 1841 he was sent on a mission to Stuttgard, where he negotiated the marriage of the Grand Duchess Olga of Russia with the Prince Royal of Würtemberg. During the events of 1848-9 Prince Gortschakoff maintained a dignified neutrality, but it is rumoured that in 1850 he exercised some influence in procuring the abdication of the Emperor Ferdinand I. in favour of his nephew, Francis Joseph. During the dispute respecting the Eastern question, the prince was ambassador at Vienna; at his instance the Russian Government accepted the four points which formed the basis of the Conference of Paris in 1856, and he was recalled to St. Petersburg in that year, to replace Nesselrode as Minister for Foreign Affairs, which office he still holds. A proclamation of his, very hostile to the Western Powers, during the Sicilian and Neapolitan revolution, excited much attention, and his policy during the Polish insurrection of 1863 has been freely commented upon. In October, 1870, while Paris was being besieged by the Germans, Prince Gortschakoff issued a circular to the representatives of Russia abroad, announcing the resolution of the Emperor to be no longer controlled by the treaty of 1856 so far as it limited his rights of sovereignty in the Black Sea. This led to the conference held in London in 1871, when the treaty was modified so as to satisfy the demands of Russia. In recognition of his services on this occasion, Prince Gortschakoff was credited with the rank of Highness. He was one of the Plenipotentiaries at the Congress of Berlin in 1878."

During latter years Prince Gortschakoff's position in Russia was more nominal than active, although his continuance in the office of Chancellor of the Empire was almost a constant menace to Germany. In the early part of last year he resigned, or was relieved of his chancellorship. The following is the text of the Imperial rescript relieving Prince Gortschakoff of his functions as Russian Chancellor, and appointing M. de Giers in his stead:—

"Prince Alexander Mikhailovitch,—Your feeble health and your advanced age compelled you to seek in a prolonged residence abroad the rest which you required after the fruitful labours that signalised your brilliant career in the active service of the State. Being convinced, to my profound regret, that the state of your health will not permit you to resume the management of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, I have resolved, in accordance with your wishes, to relieve you of it, while still leaving to you the highest civil dignity in the State—that of Chancellor of the Empire. At the same time my heart prompts the repetition to you of my warm thanks for the glorious services which during your career of nearly 65 years you have rendered to the throne and the fatherland. They have often been recognised, and solemnly acknowledged by the rescripts of my father of imperishable memory, and I appreciate them as highly. They have gained for you the respect and gratitude of your fellow-countrymen, and have set your name in the annals of history. I pray the Lord to preserve your life for many years to come, and to permit me long to profit by your wise counsels and by your experience of State affairs to the welfare of Russia."

On the original document the Emperor added, with his own hand, "With sincere esteem, your grateful Alexander. Gatschina, March 22, 1822."

The London Times, commenting upon this information in April last, says:—

"To Englishmen in this generation the name of Prince Gortschakoff is almost synonymous with the foreign policy of Russia. It is he whose name for the last 30 years has been most closely identified with every Russian movement in which we have had a direct and palpable interest. Other men may have worked out great internal reforms, such as the emancipation of the serfs, but their names remain unknown, save to students of Russian affairs; while Gortschakoff's has been a household word among us. It is to this country that he partly owed the extraordinary popularity he enjoyed in Russia—a popularity dating from the spirited despatches in which he repelled the interference of the Western Powers in the Polish rising in 1863. He appealed not less forcibly, and again at our expense, to the patriotism of his countrymen when during the Franco-German war he tore up the Treaty of Paris and got rid of the last relics of the great struggle in the Crimea. During his earlier diplomatic career he had abundant opportunities of becoming perfectly familiar with the intricate politics of the old German Bund. It was the interest of Russia to maintain this institution in its chaotic helplessness. There is no reason to doubt that Gortschakoff did what he could to this end; but a new force was developing itself, of a kind hitherto unknown in his experience. A man had arisen in Prussia who, like Mirabeau, could ôsater les formules, and whose masterly grasp of facts supplied the place of diplomatic subtlety and experience. Prince Gortschakoff was fairly outwitted and overpowered by his younger and more vigorous rival, who crushed Austria and annihilated the old, convenient, Russ-ridden Bund before the Russian Court was well aware that Prussia was in motion. Not less masterly was the subsequent diplomacy by which the new German Empire persuaded Russia to keep Austria in check while it settled accounts with France. Prince Bismarck has reorganised Europe on anti-Russian lines, with the astute Gortschakoff looking on, and apparently unable to comprehend until too late the effect of the rapid evolution of Prussian policy. It is not wonderful if there remained in his mind a considerable amount of bitterness towards the masterful Chancellor of the German Empire, the only man who had ever inflicted upon him and the policy he represented a complete and unmistakable defeat. He has had, of course, the good sense to make the best of accomplished facts; but there are many signs that Russia is far from reconciled to the comparative insignificance of the part left to her in European politics by the success of Prince Bismarck's far-reaching and audacious schemes."

Speaking of the estrangement which had at that time arisen between Russia and Germany, the Cologne Gazette attributed it in no small degree to the influence of Prince Gortschakoff and to the thwarting of Russian policy by the Berlin Treaty. It said:—

"It was the Berlin Congress which produced the fearful embitterment of Russia against Germany, and strengthened the personal enmity between the two Chancellors, Prince Bismarck and Prince Gortschakoff. The latter was unwilling to accept the Berlin defeat. He attempted, in his vexation, to revenge himself on Germany, and for this purpose opened the persecution of the Germans in the Russian press. Further, by his intrigues with France, he almost brought on a general war. These events are still within everyone's recollection. The upshot of them was the conclusion of the Austro-German Alliance. This has forced Russia to retreat, and imparted a totally new aspect to the political situation of our times. It was the greatest defeat Prince Gortschakoff ever suffered in his whole life, and, if ever any check was deserved, it was just this. Thus his career as a statesman, generally successful, closed with a disastrous failure."

The Polyphemus.—This singular monster has not yet acquired the perfect use of its underwater torpedo arrangements. When going at and over 12 knots the resistance of the water has been found to be so great that the torpedoes generally jam in the guide bars. A series of additional experiments are about to be made with dummy torpedoes, with a view of determining the amount of resistance encountered by the shield and guide bars and by the heads of the torpedoes when the ship is passing through the water at various rates of speed, after which she will proceed to Chatham to receive her new set of boilers.—English Paper.

ELECTION OF BISHOP.

It is in many senses unsatisfactory that the result of the deliberations of the committee appointed to elect the Bishop of Sydney should have been kept a mystery. Apart from the interest naturally excited in the minds of the members of the Church as to the character of the man on whom the lot would fall, those whose sympathies do not run in Denominational grooves, but who are identified with the Protestant churches as a collective body, have naturally manifested some concern in the issue of the deliberations of the committee. The question was not alone that of selecting a head of a particular diocese, but a head of the whole anglican community in Australia. To all intents and purposes an archbishop had to be appointed, and in him was presumed to centre the embodiment of Anglicanism, as the Church in Australia would define it. It is absurd to suppose that the issue of the election could have ever been narrowed down into one of a purely diocesan character, so long as a strong section of the parties to the election had no particular interest in the choice of a Bishop of Sydney beyond the fact that he was forced on them as the head of the Australian episcopacy. It naturally followed that this section took a far wider view of the qualifications necessary to be found in a bishop than the other who adhered to the narrower one, that localism was the primary consideration. The episcopate is composed of men of very widely different views. It may be said that all parties in the Anglican Church are represented on the Bench, from High to Low, with the intermedial Broad. A man whose sympathies run strongly in any of these directions could find little favour in the eyes of the rest, and the first point looked at by the Bench seems to have been to select a man of breadth of character with no special leanings one way or the other. The second was to select a man who had made his mark ecclesiastically and academically, an ἄναξ ἀνδρῶν in point of fact, and this distinction was made paramount to any other consideration. On the other hand, those who interpreted their functions to extend no further than the election of a diocesan took the narrow view of "parochialism," so to term it. They needed an administrator of a diocese, and the man who had exhibited a power of parochial organisation was in their eyes more eligible for the office than one who had gained any amount of distinction otherwise. It need hardly be said that an elective body selected from such incongruous elements could never be expected to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion. As far as the public is concerned, it is left very much in the same position with regard to accurate information as it was twelve months ago. It is reported that some sort of compromise was aimed at, and that the appointment has been offered to some ignotus homo, as far as the members of the Church are concerned. In the meantime the latter are requested still to pray that the head of the Church will send a man "endowed with gifts and graces" to fill the responsible office of bishop.

It is quite useless attempting to shut our eyes to the fact that strong party leaning has been at the bottom of all the fiasco hitherto. A considerable section believe that the lines upon which the late Metropolitan laid down the system of church organisation were correct, and that the election of a man who would deviate from them would prove a sore calamity. Religious zeal with him was at all times a feature in the candidates for Holy Orders, paramount to any educational qualifications, and it is no use ignoring the fact that as a body the Anglican clergy are far below those of any other denomination on the score of educational attainments. Those who have the good of the Church at heart profess to see the result of discord in her ranks as due to party leanings, and to a somewhat overbearing tone adopted by the ultra-Evangelical party, presumed to be the strongest section. It is to be feared that this view is utterly erroneous. The Indifferentism, so rapidly on the increase, arises from no such source. Education is high in the colony, and the congregations of to-day are a very different class in point of educational attainments to those of a quarter of a century ago. It is felt that the clergy must keep pace with the times—be prepared, without kicking down old landmarks, to accommodate themselves to altered circumstances, to deal fearlessly and boldly with things as they are, and not what they would have them to be, and what they never can be. The Freethinkers as a body unquestionably lay claim to the conversion of numbers of the better-educated Anglicans from the fact of their finding them attending their meetings; but these men are not Freethinkers—they are Indifferentists. They have been bred in the fold of the Anglican Church; they look to her offices for consolation in sickness, and when they pass away they are laid in the tombs of their fathers fortified, as far as it goes, with the rites of their Church. If the question is put to them why they absent themselves from public worship they give the invariable answer, that it is in very few churches where they hear anything worth listening to. In the meantime Church funds are languishing, all sorts of complaints are made respecting maladministration during the present interregnum, and apathy waxes greater. Things were even worse in Victoria at the end of the last episcopacy, and it is but now under the vigorous administration of Bishop Moorhouse that the denomination is asserting itself. To save this diocese from the fate impending it was the aim of a strong section of the Episcopal Bench, and in the man they desired to place at the head of it they hoped to find not only a vigorous diocesan, but a leader for themselves as their Primate.

It is useless disguising the fact that the election of Primate of the Anglican Church is one in which those outside the pale are not deeply interested in. His position as an ecclesiastic is almost subordinate to that assumed by him from a social standpoint. As the head of the largest organisation, he has the power of doing much good and much mischief. He can alienate more easily than he can conciliate. A large section of the community differ from him virtually on no other point than the minor one of Church government. On the social platform he appears as their colleague, and as he must be associated with the leaders of other denominations in numberless social movements, it is of no ordinary importance to them to have one of broad sympathies, of strong moral suasive power, and robust rhetoric. Such a man is needed in the community, and, totally apart from any sectarian consideration, it would be a calamity if any man is placed in such a responsible position who sees his public duty narrowed within the confines of sacredotalism. No man in the habit of reading public opinion aright can fail to feel humiliated at the recent proceedings in the Church of England. The English journals have covered the members with ridicule, and in one of the most recently received, and perhaps the most influential, is contained a leading article congratulating the Anglican Church on the elevation of Canon Wilkinson to the See of Truro, while we have the fact before us that this very gentleman's name was submitted to the synod and received with almost studied indifference.

The mistake unquestionably made at the outset was the leaving the choice of bishop in the hands of two bodies who held such divergent views. If the primacy was the first consideration, the bishops were clearly the body to elect him outside the local synod altogether. If it was a question of electing a diocesan, it was a matter for the Synod itself, and no one else. Whether, however, the Synod had within itself the material to form a proper judgment as to the respective qualifications of candidates submitted for its approval is quite another matter. Other dioceses do not seem to consider that it had; and from the reports received it will not be gathered that the last two additions to the Bench of Bishops are the weakest members of it.

DEMAS.

Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. INCIDENCE OF CUSTOMS TAXATION.

At a much earlier date than we have been accustomed to see the general annual statistical returns of the colony, we have received the Customs statistics for the year 1882. The value of all such returns is necessarily enhanced by the promptness of their publication, and we therefore congratulate Mr. James Powell and the officers of his department on the celerity exhibited this occasion. The statistics comprise an elaborate series of tables, the study of which suggests considerations on two main points: First, the incidence of the Customs taxation; and second, the extent and course of the trade of the colony. In the present article we purpose dealing with the incidence of taxation.

The Customs revenue of the colony for the year amounted to £1,504,913, which for an estimated population of 817,468 gives an average of £1 16s. 9½d. per head—being 9d. in excess of the average for the preceding year; the figures for the two years showing an average payment of 4s. 8d. per head more than during the period from 1876 to 1880. So large an increase in the consumption of dutiable goods during the past two years is only what might have been expected as one result of the prosperity which has been universally enjoyed. Nothing is a better test of the well-being of a community than an enlarged consumption of all those things which minister to personal comfort and enjoyment. The total number of articles taxed is 78, including the different kinds of spirituous liquors. The revenue from them may conveniently be classified as follows:—

Articles.	1881.	1882.	Increase.	Decrease.
Spirits, wine, and beer	£743,503	£786,060	£42,557	...
Malt and hops	15,774	18,959	3,185	...
Tobacco and cigars ...	126,829	128,657	1,828	...
Opium	13,068	12,960	...	£108
Tea	86,212	87,826	1,614	...
Coffee, chicory, sugar, molasses, rice, dried fruits, nuts, sarsaparilla	136,706	129,054	...	7,652
Specific duties on 50 articles ...	245,695	281,668	35,973	...
Warehouses, fisheries royalty, pilotage dues, harbour and light ...	41,157	51,202	10,045	...
Chinese restriction ...	...	8,520	8,520	...
Total	1,408,928	1,504,912	95,984	...

From this it will be seen that more than half of the duty collected through the Customs arises from spirituous liquors and beers, averaging, in fact, about £1 per head of the population. If malt, hops, tobacco, cigars, and opium be added, we find a total of £946,606 derived from all these sources, a sum forming nearly two-thirds of the whole of the Customs revenue, or more than that proportion, if we exempt the warehouses, fisheries royalty, pilotage, harbour and light dues, which may be regarded as payments for special advantages enjoyed. In round figures 24s per head of the Customs revenue was derived from spirituous and alcoholic liquors, tobacco, and opium; 11s. 6d. from other 50 articles on the fixed and specific duty scales, and 1s. 6d. from payments for services specially enjoyed, including £8520 paid by Chinese for the privilege of entering the colony. Tea only yielded about 2s. 3d. per head of the population, coffee and chicory barely 5d., sugar 1s. 2d., and dried fruits 1s. 3d.

Comparing the figures for 1881 and 1882, we see that though there is an all-round increase of £95,984, that increase is by no means of a general character. No less than £42,557 arose from spirits and beer, £3185 from malt and hops, £1828 from tobacco and cigars. Tea only yielded an increase of £1614, less than the proportionate enlargement of the population, and the other articles on the fixed list yielded absolutely less by £7652 than in the year 1881. From specific duties there was a satisfactory addition of £35,973, while the warehouse, harbour, and other dues gave a return of £10,045 in excess of the figures for 1881. It will thus be seen that an undue proportion of the increased Customs duties of the year came from drink, other than tea and coffee, and from tobacco. In the list of specific duties several articles, chiefly building materials, showed a large advance on those for 1881. As they are not mentioned in the accounts periodically published we may give from the Customs statistics a few of the leading figures:—Galvanised iron, £31,596, an increase of £4772; fish, £18,525, increase £2726; iron wire, £17,948, increase £3045; jams and jellies, £17,869, increase £5630; undressed timber, £16,036, increase £7357—dressed, £13,677, increase £6974; cement, £15,792, increase £1413; kerosene, £11,703, increase £1287; other oils, £14,692, decrease £2054; candles, £11,653, increase £287; salt and saltpetre, £16,992, a decrease of £5367. These figures show that although not specially named in the quarterly and yearly abstracts of revenue, the receipts from some of the articles under the head of specific duties are considerably larger than several of those which are so mentioned. Any revision of the tariff should surely embrace alterations so as to bring into notice the chief duty-bearing items, and relegate into a less prominent position those which yield little. Out of the 28 articles on which there are fixed duties there are no fewer than 12 which yielded less than £10,000. On the other hand, out of the 50 articles comprised in the list under the head of specific duties, there are 10 which return over £10,000. There is ample scope for a comprehensive revision of the tariff with a view to the removal of some of its anomalies. We have at present a list of 78 articles taxed. Nine of those might have been omitted from the return of last year with a loss of £3920 only, namely, shutters, sago, gunny bags, sashes, rope, corn flour, spices, cordage, and sarsaparilla. The duties on twelve other articles—dates, soda crystals, ginger, mustard, nuts, powder, paper (fancy and writing), biscuits, blue, confectionery, cheese, and methylated spirits—could have been remitted for the loss of £16,550 only. Thus, from 78 articles taxed, a reduction might have been made to the extent of twenty-one articles with a loss to the revenue of £20,400, less the cost of collection. The impropriety of maintaining a duty on this insignificant scale was seen by the last Ministry, and if their proposal to remit duty on some of them has not yet been imitated by their successors, it is to be hoped that that is only because they are waiting until they can do something on a more comprehensive scale when they come forward with their next year's policy. Besides the articles named, there are many others which yield a very small return. If the Colonial Treasurer says he cannot afford to remit duties, he has but to adjust the sugar tariff on a proper basis to make good the deficiency. In 1879 the colony received £68,727 from the sugar duty; last year the amount was only £46,311. Allowing for the increase of population, we may safely affirm that had there not been a large growth and manufacture of sugar in the colony, the duty received would have been from £82,000 to £83,000, an increase on last year's return of £36,000 which an excise duty alone can recover. With an adjustment of the tariff of this kind, the number of taxable articles might be reduced to fifty without any loss to the revenue; and if a little scrutiny be made it will be seen that from a few other articles much more duty might be obtained by a similar process, and a still further reduction made in the list of dutiable goods without lessening the revenue.

Any Colonial Treasurer, with a determination to place the tariff on a free-trade basis, and to simplify it by otherwise reducing the number of articles taxed, has not a very difficult duty to perform, especially with the present flourishing condition of the Government coffers. Of course there may be members who have special interests to protect. One, perhaps, feels a concern for the local kerosene manufacture, another thinks that the sugar industry should be cultivated, a third regards the growth and manufacture of colonial tobacco as all important, a fourth wishes the candle-making industry to progress, and so on through a considerable list. One and all these may band together to oppose any attempt to remove duties which have the effect of protecting different commodities against the just charges of the State. If, however, Mr. Dibbs, Mr. Stuart, and Mr. Reid are true to the policy they have prominently and strenuously advocated when out of office, there should be no half-hearted scheme when next they meet Parliament with a fiscal policy. An opportunity may present itself, never, perhaps, to occur again for them, and having determinedly seized it, whether successful or defeated, they will show that they have at least the courage of their convictions. There are two great evils in the administration of the monetary affairs of this country, both having precisely the same effect. In the ingathering of the revenue, the country gets only a part of what it is entitled to, so that certain persons may have the remainder; and in the expenditure of that revenue, the country loses considerably by the unjust preferences given in certain quarters. The amount of revenue received is lessened, so that individuals may be benefited, and the amount of revenue to be expended is improperly reduced by demands for local and individual objects. Among the 78 articles on which duties are levied there are at least 26 which do not return all the revenue which the State might fairly claim. There are 26 growing industries in this colony which have the benefit of a protective duty. About £270,000 is produced from a list of articles which are being grown and manufactured in the colony. To the extent of their production—and in the case of sugar, wine, kerosene, and some others, that is very great—the colony is deprived of revenue which goes into the pockets of growers and manufacturers. The exact amount of these State gifts to individuals it would be difficult to say, but it is very large, and increasing year by year. If we look carefully at the list of articles taxed, and recognise the possibilities of production in the colony, we can see a number which may yet be fostered into existence by the import duty. For instance, the colony last year derived £31,596 from the duty of 40s. per ton on galvanised iron, and £3171 from a duty of 3s. per cwt. on galvanised manufactures. Already the revenue is lessened to a considerable extent by the manufacture here of various articles paying the higher duty. It is quite possible, and indeed it has been hinted at as probable, that iron will be galvanised in the colony—that is, that plain iron may be imported into the colony free of duty, and galvanised here under the fostering influence of the tax of 40s. per ton. That is an illustration of how our duties imposed for revenue purposes are availed of to introduce manufactures. As the local industry grows the State loses the revenue, which goes into the pockets of the manufacturers, and the colony literally drifts into a system of protection, against the declared views of nine-tenths of its people. As we have said, in this list of 78 articles taxed, there are 26 which do not yield all the revenue which the State should claim, and there is the probability of others—one of which we have named—being in the like position. A Government which holds strong opinions as to the injustice or inequity of favouring any class, should face the question manfully, and in the interests of the whole country root out the evil before vested interests become so strong as to make the removal difficult and perhaps impossible.

Of the total Customs revenue, £1,296,085 was collected in Sydney, £208,741 at the outports; but the general considerations arising from such distribution we reserve for another occasion.

"A ROLAND FOR AN OLIVER."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Under the heading of "The Fisheries Act and Mr. Philip Cohen," Mr. Alexander Oliver has, in your issue of this morning, made a very smart attack upon me, and has published a portion of the evidence I gave before the Royal Commission on Fisheries in February, 1880, in order to make it appear that my continued attacks on the Fisheries Act of 1881 were in direct antagonism to my utterances on the former occasion. Mr. Oliver charges me with having said, "The bunts of the nets are sometimes not more than ½-inch mesh, when they should be 1½ or 2 inches." Was he not fully aware at the time that I was alluding to river and lagoon fishing? No question was ever put to me by any member of the commission having reference to "beaky seines;" my remarks applied to general nets. I denounced the use of "gratalls," and urged the necessity of preventing "stalling." I maintained that the adjacent rivers and lagoons had been scandalously maltreated for years, and that young fish had been destroyed in myriads. I gave it as my opinion that these rivers and lagoons should be closed and protected for at least two years; but I never for a moment supposed that Mr. Oliver and his colleagues contemplated closing all of them simultaneously. When I spoke of the destruction of "small garfish," it can easily be seen from my evidence that I was alluding to the river or "scaly" garfish, and that the ½-inch mesh prawn-net was being used in the rivers, and was an engine of great destruction; and this evidence I repeated a few days back before the select committee of the House of Assembly now sitting. It will shortly be seen that my later statements were reiterations of the opinions I formerly expressed before the Royal Commission. The fact is I urged the protection and partial closing of the rivers and lakes. Mr. Oliver and his fellow-commissioners protected and closed the Southern Pacific Ocean. They confounded the sea-shore with the Parramatta River. They prescribed nets that would catch no fish. They entered into a violent crusade against the unfortunate fishermen. They appointed inspectors who could not distinguish between a fishing-net and a fly-trap. And, as a fitting conclusion to a long list of absurd blunders, Mr. Oliver and his confreres resigned almost in a body, finding out that they had made a most confounded mess of the whole business confided to their charge.

Mr. Oliver accuses me of displaying "a thrilling combination of pathos and invective." Perhaps, if that gentleman had been an eye-witness—as I have been on many occasions—of the cruel wrongs inflicted on poor unfortunate fishermen by the laws he helped to create, even he might have "displayed" some "pathos and invective." I shall not attempt to follow Mr. Oliver any further. His premises are wrong; but his style is superlatively excellent. I am sure no one will gainsay that. And I can only assure him that he ought not to include me in the general "strangulation" he hints at, because I plead not guilty to his implied charge. I never "recommended the inch and a-half mesh for garfish nets," and, what is more, I never assisted in any way, either by word or deed, towards the destruction of a great, and what should be an expanding, industry.

Manly, March 13. I am, &c., PHILIP COHEN.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, MARCH 16.

Banco Court.—(Before his Honor the CHIEF JUSTICE and a jury of four.)

EVANS V. GUNNING.

Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Bruce Smith, instructed by Messrs. Iceton and Faithful, agents for Mr. Blaxland, of Cooma, for the plaintiff; Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. Armstrong, instructed by Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Scarvell, for the defendant.

This was an action by a squatter against a selector for trespasses to the squatter's run.

After some more evidence had been taken, the parties agreed to settle this, and the cross action, Gunning v. Evans, upon special terms, which were lodged in Court as part of the record.

The rest of the jury panel having been discharged, the Court then adjourned.

Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. JUSTICE WINDEYER and a jury of four.)

WILLIAMS V. WHYTE.

Mr. Foster and Mr. Bennett, instructed by Mr. G. M. Dunn, for the plaintiff; Mr. O'Connor (Mr. Rogers with him), instructed by Mr. T. Williamson, for the defendant.

This was an action of defamation, part heard yesterday. The plaintiff was a builder who had contracted to build a house for defendant at Summer Hill. The declaration alleged that the plaintiff, being a carpenter and joiner, the defendant falsely and maliciously spoke and published of him in relation to his said trade the words following:—"He is no tradesman; he knows nothing about joinery. Most of the work was so bad that it had to be taken down; the work was a disgrace." The defendant pleaded not guilty. The plaintiff gave evidence that the slanderous words had been spoken to several persons, and that the work had been done in a workmanlike manner. The defendant denied having used the words imputed to him, and gave evidence that the work was very bad.

The jury found for the defendant.

POKORNEY V. O'BRIEN.

This case was struck out, no one appearing for the parties.

(Before his Honor Sir G. INNES and a jury of four.)

MUSTON V. SMITH.

Mr. Owen, Q.C., and Mr. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, for the plaintiff; Mr. Stephen, Q.C., and Mr. Smyth, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Lawrence, and Jaques, for the defendant.

This action was part heard when the Court adjourned.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT.)

ARNOTT V. CHAPMAN.

Dr. Donovan, instructed by Mr. De Lissa, for the plaintiff; Mr. Lingen, instructed by Mr. A. S. Gilder, for the defendant.

The plaintiff in this suit, Marianne Agnes Arnott, half-sister and next of kin of an intestate, Edward Charles Arnott, late of Balcorne, Fife, Scotland, who died in this city on the 20th March, 1880, sought to have the estate administered by the Court, and to have all proper accounts taken, inquiries made, and directions given. It appeared that a mother and sister had survived the intestate, but both were now dead, the plaintiff being administratrix for the first and heiress to the second. The amount in Court, after the payment of all debts, was stated to be £5370.

Mr. Lingen asked that there might be special inquiry as to domicile of the testator, because, if it were proved that he was domiciled in Scotland, the distribution would be different to that followed here.

His HONOR made a decree as prayed, but reserved the question of costs.

IN RE TRUSTS E. J. HOLLINGDALE'S WILL, AND THE ACT 23 VIC. NO. 12.

Mr. Heydon, instructed by Mr. Freehill, for the trustees, sought the advice of the Court as to the construction to be put upon a portion of the will of the late Edward Joseph Hollingdale, of King-street, jeweller. The testator had charged his business with two annuities of £100 each, and the question was whether the property in which the business was carried on was included in the charge. Mr. Hollingdale, to whom the residue of the estate was left, decided to get a conveyance of the real property from his co-trustee, and the assistance of the Court was invoked to clear away all doubts.

His HONOR hesitated before pronouncing an opinion, as the annuitants were not before the Court. However, upon reference to the power given to the Court to say whether it was necessary that all the parties should be represented, he said he was of opinion that the view taken by the trustees was the right one—viz., that the annuities were to come out of the business alone. There was an affirmative declaration of what was to be subject to the annuities, and a negative statement that no other property taken by the son was to be chargeable.

IN RE WILL OF M'KONE AND THE TRUSTEE ACT.

Mr. Tarleton moved for the appointment of a second trustee, in order to satisfy the purchasers of the property as to its conveyance, there having been two trustees under the will, one of whom was incapable of exercising control. Granted.

BEATTIE V. WARDSLEY.

Mr. Gordon, Q.C., and Mr. Knox applied for an order calling upon the defendant, William Wardsley, of Goulburn, to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt in refusing to execute a conveyance upon payment of his costs, in pursuance of an order made by Mr. Justice Hargrave, in January, 1881.

His HONOR made the order, and directed that the writ should be in the office until the 2nd proximo. Costs of the application to be paid by defendant.

BOURKE V. WRIGHT AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Gordon, Q.C., and Mr. Lingen, instructed by Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Scarvell, for the plaintiff; Mr. C. J. Manning and Mr. Knox, instructed by Mr. Ashdown, for the defendant Wright; Mr. Owen, Q.C., and Mr. H. F. Barton, instructed by Mr. W. C. Proctor, for the defendant Lyons.

The argument in this case was commenced at 1.30 p.m., but the counsel for the plaintiff had not concluded when the adjournment took place.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

Owen Carolan, of Dungowan Creek, farmer. Liabilities, £188 9s. Assets, £10 10s. Mr. Macnab, official assignee.

SCHEDULE FILED.

James F. Porter, of Lawrence. Liabilities, £105. Assets, £450.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

Some ca. sa. motions were disposed of, and re-hearings granted.

DAY V. WOODMAN.

Henry Day sued Woodman and Collins for alleged negligence in connection with a brougham and a buggy stored with them. Mr. Shorter appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Bruce Smith for defendant. Plaintiff established his case as far as one of the vehicles was concerned, and obtained a verdict for £6.

PROCTOR V. HYAM.

S. Procter sued S. Hyam for £28 18s. 2d., goods sold and delivered. Defendant paid £15 8s. 2d. into court, and in addition to that amount plaintiff obtained a verdict for £6 6s.

BOOKER V. LOVEDAY.

E. Booker sued H. Loveday for £10 10s. for work and labour. Defendant had a set-off, and plaintiff was nonsuited.

MORRIS V. MORRIS.

Israel Morris sued John Morris for money alleged to be due. Defendant had a set-off, and plaintiff was nonsuited, being unable to prove for the balance.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Clarke, S.M., presided on the Bench in the Charge Court yesterday.

A number of cases of drunkenness were dealt with.

William Ditcham was charged with having unlawfully and knowingly obtained from one Alfred Law goods to the value of £21 14s by means of false pretences, and with intent to defraud. Mr. Levien appeared on behalf of the defendant. From the evidence of the prosecutor it appeared that on the morning of the 3rd instant the prisoner went to prosecutor's residence, at the Glebe, and there represented that he had been sent from a Mr. Assenheim to procure from prosecutor a number of casks. The prosecutor had had previous transactions with Mr. Assenheim, and believing the representations made by Ditcham to be true he gave him 30 casks, valued at £21 14s. The accused made several excuses about Mr. Assenheim being ill, and led the prosecutor "a wild goose chase" in search of him. Eventually the prosecutor saw Mr. Assenheim, who disclaimed any connection with the transaction. It was solely upon the representation of the prisoner that the prosecutor had allowed the casks to go out. In cross-examination it was elicited that the prisoner knew that the prisoner and young Mr. Assenheim had had previous transactions together about casks. Mr. Assenheim deposed that he had not authorised the prisoner to purchase casks on his behalf on the 3rd instant; he had on previous occasions lent money to his son and the prisoner to purchase casks with; he had always known the prisoner to be an honest man. The prisoner was committed to take his trial at the next Quarter Sessions, bail being allowed.

Lizzie Harper was charged with having stolen a silver salver and a tablecloth, of the value of £3 10s., the property of Ann Taylor, of the Native Youth Hotel, Pyrmont. From the evidence of the prosecutrix it appeared that the articles were stolen from her place on last Thursday week. The silver salver had been pawned by the prisoner at Molloy's pawnshop. The accused was committed to take her trial at the next Quarter Sessions.

George Wurst pleaded guilty to a charge of having stolen a hide, valued at 25s., the property of Wm. Howard Smith, and was sentenced to be imprisoned for three months with hard labour.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Mr. Marsh, S.M., presided on the Charge side yesterday.

A number of cases of drunkenness and other petty offences were disposed of.

Alexander M'Pherson, convicted of making use of threatening language towards his wife, was bound over to keep the peace for three months, with two sureties in £10 each; in default, to go to gaol for one month.

John F. Luants, for using indecent language in the Domain, was fined 60s., with the alternative of one month's imprisonment.

John M'Kenzie, who was arrested for drunkenness, was further charged with assaulting the arresting constable, and sentenced to pay a fine of £5, or be imprisoned for one month.

Ellen or Bridget Howard, 34, charged with being thrice convicted of drunkenness within the preceding three months, and behaving in a riotous manner in Crown-street, was sent to gaol for a month.

Samuel Baldry was charged with feloniously wounding one Timothy Cusack. From the evidence of prosecutor, who lives at North Shore, it appeared that he had had suspicion of his wife's fidelity, and on Saturday last told her he was going away to Newtown that night; he stayed about the house till between 9 and 10, when he saw prisoner in company with his wife go into the garden; they had several bottles of rum with them; as soon as they saw him, prisoner took up one of the bottles of rum, and struck him over the head, and then ran away; his head was severely cut, and bled a great deal; he had since offered to abandon the prosecution if prisoner would pay the doctor's bill. Mr. Vardy, who appeared for the defence, applied for a remand to bring witnesses to prove an alibi; but his worship refused to grant the application, and committed prisoner for trial at the ensuing Quarter Sessions, bail being allowed.

John Hunt, 19, pleaded guilty to stealing a pair of boots, value 11s. 6d., the property of John Wilson, and elected to be dealt with summarily. It was his first offence. He was sentenced to pay a fine of 20s., with the alternative of seven days in gaol.

Richard Williams, 12, was charged with being under the age of 16 years, and found sleeping in the open air. His mother stated that she could do nothing whatever with him, and he was directed to be sent aboard the Vernon.

James Walsh, of the ship Itala, was fined 20s., with the alternative of two days' imprisonment, for being disorderly on board; and on a further charge of assaulting the steward, a fine of 40s. was inflicted, in default imprisonment for 14 days.

Jonathan Wilson was charged with being found in the offices being erected near the corner of King and Phillip streets, for an unlawful purpose. Prisoner, a strong healthy-looking man of 40, confessed that he had been in the colony for over 10 months, and during the whole time had subsisted by begging, and obtained his meals at the Soup Kitchen. He was sent to gaol for 14 days.

Mr Addison, S.M., sat in the Summons Court, and dealt with a number of charges of breaches of municipal regulations brought by Inspector Seymour and Mr. Sapsford, City Surveyor.

William Clarke, for assaulting Joseph Haynes, was fined £2, with £1 6s. 10d. costs; in default, to be imprisoned for one month.

REDFERN POLICE COURT.

Yesterday, before Mr. Buchanan, S.M., the usual number of drunkards were dealt with. George Criswell, in addition to a charge of drunkenness, was charged with using obscene language, and was fined £5, with the alternative of two months' imprisonment. Agnes Owen, an idle and disorderly person, was sent to gaol for six months. Catherine Farrell appeared on summons for using obscene language, and was fined 60s. and 4s. 10d. costs, or one month's imprisonment. Thomas Hicked, for being drunk and disorderly, was fined 10s. and 4s. 10d. costs, or four days' gaol. James Rowswell and George Wright were each fined 10s., with 2s. 6d. costs, for breaches of the Police Act.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

The inquest, initiated last week by the City Coroner, with regard to the death of a young man named Thomas Moore, who was killed through a cab colliding with him in George-street, was concluded yesterday morning. As there was no further evidence forthcoming, the jury deliberated on that given on the first day of the inquest, and they returned an open verdict, to the effect that deceased met his death through certain injuries received, but under what circumstances they were inflicted, the evidence did not enable them to say.

The Coroner, subsequently to the above, commenced an inquest at the Observer Tavern on the body of a newly-born male infant, which was found in a box in a room at the house of a Mrs. Rosenfeldt, No. 113, Macleay-street, on the 14th instant. Emma Hanson, a monthly nurse in the employ of Mrs. Rosenfeldt, deposed: On Wednesday last, she noticed that a servant in the house named Theresa Carew, was looking very unwell, and in consequence she asked her what she was ailing from; she told witness in reply that she had a bad headache, and witness noticing something strange in regard to her condition, questioned her further; some short time afterwards witness found Theresa Carew in a room and she noticed some blood on the floor; this aroused her suspicion, and on making search witness discovered the dead body of an infant in a box at the side of a bed in the room; it was wrapped in some clothes and it was handed over to Sub-inspector Hyam, who took it to the Circular Quay morgue. Horatio George Anthony Wright, a legally-qualified medical practitioner, deposed he professionally examined the girl Theresa Carew on the 14th instant, and found that she had given birth to a child; he was shown the child of which it was alleged she was the mother; it was a fully-developed male, and on making a post-mortem examination of the body he noticed that there was considerable swelling of the scalp on the left side of the head; from the appearances presented witness had no doubt but that the child had been born alive, and he was of opinion that death resulted from asphyxia, but there were no external indications as to how it came about. At this stage the inquest was adjourned until Thursday next.

A NEW RIFLE.—The Whitehall Review states that "what is practically a new rifle will shortly, in all probability, be issued. Experiments with this view have been going on for some time past. The new weapon emanates from the Royal Small Arms Factory—the birthplace of the original Enfield rifle—and its construction is mainly due to Mr. Magee, one of the assistants at that establishment, after whom, in all likelihood, the new rifle will be named. The breech action and lock of the present Martini-Henry are retained, but all else is changed. Thus, the diameter of the new barrel is reduced to 0·40 of an inch; while, instead of the Henry rifling, what is known as the 'ratchet system' has been substituted, the grooves being cut deep on one flank and vanishing away to nothing on the other. The bullet has been slightly elongated, and the charge of powder increased to 85 grains. The weight of the barrel has likewise been increased by some 4oz. However, the net result of these new mechanical combinations is to give the bullet a very high degree of initial velocity—about 1900 feet per second at the muzzle of the gun, whereas in the Snider it is only about 1200 feet; and while, as a matter of course, the accuracy of the rifle is thereby much increased, the height of the trajectory is at the same time so reduced that it is seriously proposed to do away with the adjustable back-sight as now used altogether, as the trajectory is so flat that the rifle practically shoots point-blank up to 900 yards. In other words, an enemy would be under the power of the rifle throughout that distance without any judging distance being required on the part of the firer. In such rifles as have, however, been provided with sights, instead of elevation being obtained by raising the back-sight, the requisite elevation is secured by a drop fore-sight at the side of the barrel close to the muzzle, the object of this being to allow the firer to shoot at long distances, such as 2000 yards, up to which distance the new rifle is sighted, without having to strain the neck and shoulders. In plain language, elevation is obtained, not by depressing the breech, but by raising the muzzle."

TEA, Coffee, and Cocoa all contain much in common, but Cocoa is the most nutritious beverage of the three, and the one which approaches nearest to milk in its ultimate composition. Pure and unadulterated as is Cadbury's Cocoa Essence and concentrated by the removal of superfluous fat, it is a pleasant, thin, and refreshing beverage. "Cocoa treated thus will we expect prove to be one of the most nutritious, digestible, and restorative of drinks."—British Medical Journal.—[ADVT.]

DRAPERS' ASSOCIATION OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

The second half-yearly meeting of the Drapers' Association of New South Wales was held in the Protestant Hall last night. There was a large attendance of members, and in the absence of the president, Mr. W. Newman, one of the vice-presidents, took the chair.

The secretary, Mr. R. H. MEDLOCK, read a report with regard to the working of the association for the past half-year. It showed that the association had been placed on a firm basis, and the report congratulated the members thereon, and also on the fact that perfect unanimity existed between the employers and their employees. The number of members admitted since the formation of the society was 362, of whom 115 had paid their subscriptions up to date. The committee had held 17 meetings during the past term, but they had laboured under a very great disadvantage, on account of the income necessary to meet their expenditure being very irregular. The association's reading-room had been supplied with the daily and weekly newspapers and magazines. In conclusion the report referred to the success of the association's late picnic, and a few other unimportant matters.

The treasurer, Mr. BURKE, read his report for the last half-year, which showed that the receipts had been £390 2s. 3d. and the expenditure £358 2s. 5d., leaving a credit balance of £31 19s. 10d.

Mr. F. BENNETT moved the adoption of the reports. He said there were one or two things worthy of notice in connection with the reports. The secretary's report pointed out that there were only 117 paid-up members of the association. According to the last census taken there were 3000 drapers in the city and suburbs, and considering that there was only the above number of members who were financial, the proportion was exceedingly small; indeed, bore no comparison to what the initiators of the association had a right to expect. Every draper should be induced to join, and then the association would very soon become a power in the land. The drapers would then be able to demand all that was right, proper, and manly. They would not then have to submit to any slavery in the way of long hours, though he could not exactly say that they were compelled to submit to any at the present time. They would be able to go in for early closing, and perform some useful work. All this lay in the hands of the drapers; and he hoped that a large number who were not members would at once come forward and enrol themselves. (Applause.)

Mr. W. C. RENWICK seconded the motion. As an employer he would say that he was indeed greatly surprised that out of 3000 drapers in the city and suburbs, only 17 were good on the books of the association. He asked whether the objects of the association were appreciated as they should be? There was no encouragement given to employers to decrease the hours of labour when this was the chief aim of the association, and it possessed so few members. He thought that they would have to get something more tangible for their money. With regard to the small amount of subscriptions which had come to hand, he attributed the cause to the fact of the association having paid very little attention to the early closing movement, although that was its principal object.

Several members having spoken to the motion, the chairman expressed an opinion that, considering the many drawbacks which the association had experienced, it was nevertheless in a flourishing condition. Ever since its commencement it had shown no flagging, but rather had increased in every respect.

The motion was then carried unanimously.

A report of a special committee was brought up suggesting various alterations in the association's rules amongst which was a proposal to reduce the subscription fees to 2s. 6d. as entrance money, and 1s. per month, whilst for youths under 18 the entrance fee to 1s., and the monthly contribution to 6d. The latter fees were also fixed in the case of lady members over 14 years of age. The report suggested, in addition, that an annual meeting should for the future be held instead of a half-yearly meeting.

The report was received, and its suggestions, after being considered seriatim, were agreed to.

It was resolved, on the motion of Mr. RENWICK, seconded by Mr. CADDY, that it was desirable to form a benefit society in connection with the association.

It was also decided that anyone subscribing the sum of £10 to the association should be appointed a life governor thereof.

Mr. R. PRICE moved,—"That the present name of the association be changed to that of 'The Mercantile Association of New South Wales.'"

The motion, however, through the want of a seconder, was not discussed.

The election of officers by ballot for the ensuing term resulted as follows:—President, Mr. W. M'Millan; vice-presidents, Messrs. W. Newman, W. C. Renwick, W. Shaw, and S. Hordern; general secretary, Mr. T. Caddy; treasurer, Mr. C. Doust; committee, Messrs. J. Cattley, W. Mason, J. J. Shying, J. Culpit, J. Butler, M. T. Stanton, — Sandon, R. Price, and J. Ross.

A vote of thanks was then accorded the chairman, and the proceedings were closed by the rendition of the National Anthem.

THE ELECTION OF A BISHOP.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent, who bewails the unhappy lot of the "laity of the Anglican Church in New South Wales," whose utterances on the subject appear in your issue of the 13th instant, can scarcely be a member of that Church, or he would not have betrayed such utter ignorance in the statements he has ventured to make as to the present deadlock. First of all, he attributes the deadlock to the conduct of a "stiff-necked minority of the clergy, in receipt for the most part of State pay." The fact is that we owe our present difficulty to a majority of the clergy in synod voting in a particular way, supported by a majority of the laity. Your correspondent must have very peculiar notions of the procedure adopted in synods if he imagines, as he appears to do, that minorities rule the day, or that the clerical order can carry any point, unless supported by a decided majority of the lay element. If the clerics are to blame, therefore, a large proportion of the lay representatives are equally culpable. As to the "stiff-necked" clergy being chiefly those who are in receipt of State pay, the allegation is absurdly untrue. There are very few of these stipendiaries now left, and of these but a small proportion have seats in the Sydney Synod—not more than ten, and nearly all these voted on what your correspondent I presume would call the "right side."

Secondly, your correspondent seems to adopt as his own those criticisms of the laity's which would hold the Dean and Chapter responsible for the deadlock! Surely he can't be ignorant, if he be really a member of the Church of England, that the Dean and Chapter have no more to do with the election of the Bishop of Sydney than the Town Council or the Legislative Assembly. In England the Dean and Chapter have nominally—so nominally as to make their share in the matter a farce—a voice in the election of their bishop; but here they have nothing whatever to do with the matter.

In conclusion, I would observe that, in common with all right-thinking churchmen, I deeply regret the present unfortunate state of things, and I fully sympathise with the feelings of disappointment, and indeed of vexation, entertained by so many. But I am none the less certain that such rash and inconsiderate statements as those made by your correspondent, and which are samples of much that one hears in private conversation, and more particularly the unfounded reports which are being repeated with every kind of variation, all equally false, as to the proceedings at the late meetings of the bishops and the synod's committee, are doing infinitely more mischief to the Church than the deadlock itself.

I am, &c., SYNODSMAN.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I take a more hopeful and encouraging view of the present and future condition of the Church of England in this colony than some of the correspondents of the Herald appear to do.

1. With regard to the delay in filling up the vacant See. By an ordinance of the synod, one of two courses was open to it in the appointment of a bishop. The plan of direct election has been tried and failed, and the other plan has likewise been tried, viz., a conference between the bishops and a committee of the synod, and nothing is yet known of the result of their united deliberations. It is not right to prejudge the matter. Our bishops have frequently been appointed by letters patent, and the work of obtaining a bishop by synodical action is a new element, and hence attended with some difficulties at the outset which will in due time be overcome. Meantime, instead of complaining and predicting all kinds of evil consequences, surely all loyal members of the Church should, "in their vocation and ministry," do all in their power to uphold and further the interests of their Church—I mean by zealously and diligently doing Church work.

2. The Church Society is not in such a deplorable state in regard to finance as some imagine. Through the church and school estates having reverted to the Crown, no further aid is received from this source, and therefore a greater demand is made upon the general fund of the society; but this will be met by a generous response on the part of all true hearted members of the Church. Much has been done in the way of progress through the operations of the society during the past year. I refer to new parishes having been formed and additional clergymen appointed and located.

March 13. W. LUMSDAINE.

THE SUEZ CANAL TRAFFIC.—Not even the most sanguine promoter of the Suez Canal scheme—including M. de Lesseps himself—could have foreseen the splendid results, financially, of that great undertaking. We learn from figures just published that the receipts last year (1882) were 60,523,815f. To duly estimate the growth of the revenue to the fortunate shareholders we need give only a few data. In the year of the opening of the canal, in 1870, the revenue was only a little over 5,000,000f. It had more than trebled two years later, being 16,407,591f. in 1872. From that time the receipts expanded rapidly, we might almost say by "leaps and bounds," until they had reached in 1877 the sum of 32,774,344f. Remarkable as that increase was, it is exceeded by what follows. The receipts fell off in the following year to 31,089,229f., and they still further declined in 1879 to 29,686,060f. But from that year their growth was enormous. They were, in 1880, 39,840,487f.; rose, in 1881, to 51,274,352f.; and last year to the sum above stated. That year certainly was an exceptional one, on account of the increased traffic caused by the military operations; but the expansion of the revenue during the years that have gone before 1882 tends to prove that the success of the Suez Canal is now well established—a success, however, we need hardly add, fully deserved.—Iron.

THE NEW LICENSING BILL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The bill to amend the Licensing Act of 1882 is now before Parliament, and its passage through the House will undoubtedly be watched with a large amount of interest by the people of the country. The question of regulating the sale of intoxicating drinks is one of increasing importance, and the necessity for effective legislative control over the traffic is almost universally recognised. In all parts of the civilised world there is a growing conviction that the consumption of alcoholic liquors is by far too large, that the supply of those liquors is altogether beyond legitimate public requirements, and that our whole public-house system should be hedged round with such restrictions as are calculated to reduce its evil effects to the lowest possible dimensions. Unfortunately, in discussing the Licensing question there is a tendency to regard the matter as if it only affected the publicans on the one hand and the teetotalers on the other. It may be natural for those who are interested in the public-house trade to look at the subject from their own standpoint, and to endeavour to get their own views embodied in legislation, but the Government in dealing with the matter should consider not what the publicans or the teetotalers would like, but what the interests and welfare of the people demand.

A glance at the provisions of the Amending Bill is sufficient to show that the Government has not lost sight of the representations made on behalf of the publicans. Almost every alteration proposed is in the interests of the trade. This would not be objectionable if it could be shown that the interests of the public were identical; but they are not, and as experience abundantly proves that the consumption of drink is to a large extent proportionate to the facilities for obtaining it, it is to be hoped that Parliament will well consider the importance of the step before consenting to the proposed extension of the hours of sale.

It may readily be admitted that the present Act is defective in several particulars, and that some of its more repressive provisions may be relaxed without injury to the public interests; but on the whole the Act has worked well, and has effected a vast amount of good, both in the metropolis and also in some of the country towns. And, considering the comprehensive character of the measure, the nature of the traffic it has reference to, and the large amount of new machinery it brought into operation, it is not by any means wonderful that faults should have been discovered in some of its clauses, or that its administration should have been somewhat imperfect. It is simply nonsense, in the face of the last annual report of the Inspector-General of Police, to say that the Act has been a failure; and if other evidence were necessary, it is found in the comparative quiet and good order which prevails in the city during the small hours of morning. According to the opponents of the present law, the police have occupied most of their time in trying to secure convictions under its provisions; and yet, notwithstanding this increased vigilance on their part, we find that the arrests for drunkenness, disorder, and kindred causes were 3378 less than in the previous year. However, the Government proposes to alter all this. Not content with modifying some of the more irritating clauses of the Act, which would remove all reasonable objections, they go in for repealing some of its most valued provisions. Several reasons might be urged against such sweeping changes as some of those proposed in the amending bill. In the first place, the Act has not been in operation sufficiently long to give it a fair trial. It was passed into law in all its essential features by overwhelming majorities in both Houses of Parliament, and with the approval of an equally large majority of the people of the country. It has been in operation for only about 15 months, and unless unusually strong reasons can be given for such a course, its reforming features should not be interfered with till at least an honest trial has proved them unworkable. And, again, in whose interests are these alterations to be made? They have certainly not been demanded by the people; there have been no public meetings, no agitation, no loudly expressed demand made by the working classes for the privilege of getting their Sunday beer. This is the more significant, because the working men of these colonies are not usually slow in making known their grievances. They protest loudly enough—and in doing so they are only exercising their undoubted right—against the Chinese and immigration, or on any other question in which they feel a special interest, and yet as a body they have not lifted a voice against Sunday closing or the 11 o'clock closing on week days. I am aware that at the late elections some of the candidates were cheered when they announced themselves as favourable to opening the public-houses for an hour or two on Sundays, but surely the rowdy element of election meetings is not to be taken as the voice of the country. So far as there is any evidence to show, Sunday closing is just as much in harmony with the feeling of the bulk of the people as it was 18 months ago. The temperance element may not be so largely represented in the present Parliament as in the last, but it is owing to the fact that the Land, and not the Licensing, question was the prominent one at the last elections. If a vote of the people could be taken on this matter, there can be no doubt that a large majority would be against any alteration in the Sunday or week-night closing of the present Act. Mr. Butcher, the member for Paddington, in speaking on the Local Option question on Tuesday night, objected to repressive legislation, on the grounds that it caused secret drinking. But this argument, even if true, should have very little weight. I have yet to learn that secret drinking, even if it exist, is worse than open drinking. Morally one may be as bad as the other, but, as an offence against public decency, secret drinking is not so bad as open drinking. And as Parliament do not legalise gambling or theft on the grounds that men will gamble and steal in secret, they have no right to public-houses merely because men will drink on the sly.

There is no reason in the world why the publican should not be kept in the same position as other tradesmen in regard to Sunday trade. At the present time the butchers are petitioning to have their places closed by law on Sundays, and I hope they will be successful; but surely it is as important to have good meat for Sunday dinner as it is to have good beer. Both, however, can be obtained on Saturday night, so that there is no necessity or justification for having either the butcher's shop or the public-house open on the Lord's Day.

I am, &c.,

Upper Fort-street, 15th March. G. D. CLARK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—An hon. member urged the other night the extension of the suffrage in local option to women. This is a wise provision, as women are the principal sufferers through the drunkenness of husbands. This Licensing Bill undertakes to grapple with the whole question economically as well as socially. Permit me, therefore, to direct the attention of hon. members to a problem which should be faced and manfully solved. I refer to the supply of drink to women. Drunkenness in man is bad enough, but in women is beyond description. That it exists to a large extent is well known, and personally I have known of the fairest homes devastated and the brightest prospects banished through this curse. Those poor unfortunates whom we often see along our streets, have early histories, most of them full of brightest promise and performance, now, alas! a ruin themselves, and a curse to all connected with them. I earnestly commend the question of the supply of drink to women to the attention of our Parliament.

I am, &c., J. J. A.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As Parliament is now about to consider the amending of the Licensing Act, I shall be glad if you will insert the following:—

I am the owner of an hotel in the city. About six years ago I let it on a lease for 10 years at 50s. per week. At the present moment I could sell the land alone for £3500. The money invested at 7 per cent. would amount to £245 per annum—thus I lose £115 per annum. The licensee would be willing to go to another locality, but local option carries it in the negative in the ward. In this case both landlord and tenant would be mutually benefited if the tenant could remove his license. The fact of a man removing his license would not increase the number of hotels, and I fail to see how it would increase drunkenness.

There are 934 ratepayers in Denison Ward. Eighty voted against removals and 40 in favour of them. Any two teetotal lodges could send 80 voters, and thus govern the whole of the ward.

I hold that a house once licensed, and up to the standard accommodation should not have its license removed unless both landlord and tenant consent to the removal, and that when both landlord and tenant consent to such removal, the necessary permission should be granted.

Again, a licensee takes an hotel that has been hitherto conducted in a respectable manner. He neglects his business, abuses his customers, and consequently loses his trade. He flies to the landlord, asks for a reduction of rent, with a threat that he will have the license taken from the house. He violates the law, gets fined, loses his license, and then the magistrate takes the license from the house. The unfortunate landlord is obliged to stand hopelessly by while his property is rendered valueless. Surely the Legislature will take the landlord's case into consideration.

A SUFFERER.

THE DRAMA IN AMERICA.—Dramatic art in the United States (says a contemporary) does not appear to be of the highest class, if we are to credit the San Francisco News Letter, which complains that the American stage of to-day is in a rather pitiful condition. It is a circus, and nothing else. Stock companies have been abolished, circuits for travelling combinations established, and the theatrical business has fallen into the hands of a lot of uneducated, ignorant, vulgar showmen, men without knowledge of dramatic art, but shrewd, sharp at bargains, and of purely commercial instincts. And, unfortunately, these men are successful. There are a few theatres still managed on old principles, and in which art and refinement still reign, but the rest are all run on the clap-trap, humbug system. Excessive advertising of all kinds, brazen falsehoods, flashy posters, brag and bombast, &c., all the tricks and deceits of human ingenuity are used to attract the public, and the public is attracted. Humbug for ever! Our authors are quacks, our managers charlatans. What is the average entertainments offered on the stage to-day? Melodrama, in which brutality is represented as proper, scenes of misery that excite amusement instead of sympathy, absurd representations of human suffering that harden hearts to the reality. Melodrama, i.e., misrepresentation. Comedy, that is pointless, witless, ridiculously improbable, and idiotic. Cheap and ignorant actors, who cannot speak their own language, who are coarse in manner, vulgar in habits and dress, and who lack sufficient intelligence to grasp even the slightest phase of human character. And this is the American stage of to-day.

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, MARCH 16.

Mr. SPEAKER took the chair at 4.30 o'clock p.m.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. COPELAND, in reply to Mr. Hellyer, said that the cost of the water supply for the city of Bathurst was about £26,000: the first reservoir contained 50,000 gallons, the second 200,000—total, 250,000 gallons. The population of the city, from the last census, was 7221. The reservoirs would hold two days' supply, at 17½ gallons per head; but as the entire population could not be reached by the reticulation for many years, the reservoir would practically be found to hold sufficient water for five or six days' consumption. The supply was quite adequate, and it would be taxing the city with unnecessary expense to increase the storage capacity until it was really required, but sufficient land had been resumed to extend the storage capacity if it were found necessary.

Mr. COPELAND, in reply to Mr. Cameron for Mr. Purves, said that the tolls charged on the Hunter River punts, which had been fixed in the first instance by local bodies, were exceptional. As the distances on the Clarence River were longer, the traffic less, and the punts more expensive than those on the Hunter, he could not reduce the rates of the former to the standard of the latter.

Mr. WRIGHT, in reply to Mr. Olliffe, said that after careful consideration he could not see his way to recommend a general increase in the pay of the letter-carriers at present. The Estimates before Parliament provided for increases to several letter-carriers by promotion or otherwise.

Mr COHEN, in reply to Dr. Ross, said that he was informed that the plans for the erection of a court-house and lockup at Cudal were being prepared, and the work would shortly be ready for advertising.

REPORTS OF SELECT COMMITTEES.

SIR GEORGE WIGRAM ALLEN brought up the report of the select committee on the Earnshaw Estate Bill.

It was ordered that the report be printed.

Mr. PURVES brought up the report from the select committee on Heley's Estate Bill.

It was ordered that the report be printed.

PETITION.

SIR GEORGE WIGRAM ALLEN presented a petition from the New South Wales and Queensland Conference of the Australian Wesleyan Methodists' Church, praying that the House in considering the proposed amendments to the Licensing Act would preserve intact the clauses relating to early closing on week-days and entire closing on Sundays, and that the principle of local option should be applied to other portions of the colony than municipalities, and that the distance for travellers be extended to 15 miles.

The petition was received.

FISHERIES ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. STUART moved for leave to bring in a bill to amend the Fisheries Act of 1881.

The motion was agreed to.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION.

Mr. RYRIE desired to make a personal explanation with regard to what he had stated in the House a few nights ago on the immigration vote. He was stated in the newspapers to have said that he regretted that a discussion had arisen, as he felt that it would be unproductive of good results. What in fact he had stated was that he was glad the discussion had arisen, as he felt that it would be productive of good results. It had caused some of his friends to misunderstand his opinions. The reporters, generally speaking, were to be complimented on the accurate and intelligent manner in which they reported the debates and business of the House. (Hear, hear.) They often made the speeches more intelligible than when they were delivered by some hon. members. (Hear, hear.)

REDHEAD COAL-MINE RAILWAY BILL.

Mr. FLETCHER moved the second reading of the Redhead Coal-mine Railway Bill. It would only be necessary for him to assure the House that every provision had been made to afford facilities to those who had property traversed by the line of railway, permitting them to join on to it any collateral branches they might wish. The original intention of the promoters of this railway had been to charge 3d. per ton per mile in respect of goods, the party seeking to transit which should supply and load his own trucks or waggons, and the company would provide locomotive power, and that 2d. per ton per mile would be charged in respect of goods where the party seeking transit supplied his own locomotive power as well as trucks or waggons. These charges had been altered, and would be in the former case 2d. per ton per mile, and in the latter 1½d. per ton per mile. Liberal provision had been made for adjoining property-holders to take their products to market. The gauge of the line would be the ordinary Government gauge, and the gradients would be very light, and, above all else, the railway would tap a class of country that could not well be opened up by Government railways. Already a shaft had been sunk, and valuable seams of coal discovered, and the yield could, when the line was constructed, be taken away by the railway.

The bill was read a second time, and was then considered in committee.

All the clauses were carried without amendment, with the exception of clause 36, which was so amended that the erection of signals, engagement of watchmen, switchmen, &c., should be at the expense of the company.

The bill was reported to the House with the amendment, and the report was adopted.

CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

The House went into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of the Criminal Law Amendment Bill.

Clauses 199 to 211 inclusive were agreed to.

Clause 212—"Setting fire to ship, or attempting that crime"—was postponed.

Clauses 213 and 214 were agreed to.

Clause 215—"Exhibiting false signals"—was postponed.

Clauses 216 to 221 inclusive were agreed to.

Clauses 222-3-4-5—"Relating to injuries to trees, shrubs, vegetable produce, &c."—were postponed.

Clause 226 was agreed to.

Clause 227—"Injuring property not previously provided for"—was postponed.

Clauses 228 to 260, inclusive, were agreed to.

Clause 261—"Forging name of any justice, master in equity, &c."—was postponed.

Clauses 262 to 291, inclusive, were agreed to.

Clause 292—"False swearing not being perjury"—was postponed.

Clauses 293 to 296 were agreed to.

Clause 297—"False statements respecting births, marriages, &c."—was postponed.

Clauses 298 to 329 were agreed to.

Clause 330—"Indictments for perjury"—was postponed.

Clauses 331 to 334 were agreed to.

Clauses 335—"Practice as to entering the dock" and 336 "Challenge to jurors"—were postponed.

Clauses 337 to 339 were agreed to.

Clause 340—"Refreshment to and discharge of juries"—was postponed.

Clause 341 was agreed to.

Clause 342—"Prisoner may be defended by counsel or attorney"—was postponed.

Clause 343 was agreed to.

Clause 344—"Depositions by persons dangerously ill"—was postponed.

Clause 345 was agreed to.

Clause 346—"Witnesses for prisoner"—was postponed.

Clause 347 was agreed to.

Clause 348—"Witnesses as to character,"—was postponed.

Clauses 349 and 350 were agreed to.

Clause 351, "Proof of lawful authority or excuse;" 352, "Depositions on one charge may be read on trial of another;" and 353, "Dispensing with production of banking books," were postponed.

Clauses 354 to 356 were agreed to.

Clauses 357—"Confession obtained by undue means"—was postponed.

Clauses 358 to 367 were agreed to.

Clauses 368, "Intent to return property;" 369, "Cases of rape and carnal knowledge;" and 370, "On trials for murder as to provocation, and verdict of manslaughter," were postponed.

Clauses 371 to 379 were agreed to.

Clause 380—"New trials in misdemeanor"—was postponed.

Clauses 381 to 385 were agreed to.

Clause 386, "Carrying capital sentence into execution;" and clause 387, "Recording sentence," were postponed.

Clauses 388 and 389 were agreed to.

Clause 390—"Body not to be buried within eight hours"—was postponed.

Clauses 391 and 392 were agreed to.

Clause 393—"Sentences on second or third convictions"—was postponed.

Clauses 394, 395, and 396 were agreed to.

Clause 397—"Sentences on two or more counts"—was postponed.

Clause 398 was agreed to.

Clauses 401, "Whipping juvenile offenders;" 402, "Whipping for adults in certain cases;" 403, "Surgeon may remit whipping in certain cases;" and 404, "Kind of instrument to be used; 405, "Irons in what cases;" and 406, "Commutation of capital sentences, cases of rape, &c.," were postponed.

Clauses 407 to 415 were agreed to.

Clauses 416, "Provision substituted for forfeiture in felonies;" 417, "Enforcing such provision;" 418, "Disabilities of felony;" 419, "Effect of reversing judgment in such cases;" 420, "Power to place offender's property in trust;" 421, "Provision for offender's family, restoration on disability ceasing; and 422, "Questions of law may be reserved"—were postponed.

Clauses 423 to 439 were agreed to.

Clause 440—"When appeal allowed"—was postponed.

Clauses 441 to 445 were agreed to.

Clauses 446 to 449, relating to certain offences by boys and youths, were postponed.

Clauses 450 to 467 were agreed to.

Clause 468—"Indecent exposure of person"—was postponed.

Clauses 469 to 472 inclusive were passed, and all the schedules of the bill were agreed to, except the 6th, which was postponed.

The House resumed, progress was reported, and leave given to sit again on Tuesday next.

LAND BOILERS INSPECTION BILL.

The House went into committee for further consideration of the Land Boilers Inspection Bill.

Clause 21—"Persons under the age of 18 years not allowed to have control of boilers"—was proposed.

Mr. DIBBS said that, after the debate last week on this clause, he saw the necessity of making some change. He, therefore, asked the House to negative the clause, so that he might submit the following new clause in its place:—"No person other than a properly competent person of the full age of 16 years shall have charge of, or be allowed to exercise any control over, a boiler. And every owner of a boiler who shall knowingly employ or permit any person other than as aforesaid to have charge or exercise any control over a boiler shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding £50."

The original clause was negatived.

Clauses 22, "Fees for inspection;" and 23, "Inspector to give certificate," were agreed to without amendment.

Clause 24—"Boiler to leave metal plate affixed"—was proposed.

Mr. POOLE wished to know whether the Government or the owner of the boiler was to be responsible for affixing the metal plate.

Mr. GARRARD pointed out that a similar clause was in force in New Zealand, where he believed the Government supplied the plate, and it was affixed to the boiler by the owner.

Mr. MITCHELL did not see the necessity of having the metal plate, especially as in the next clause it was provided that a certificate should be exhibited where it could be seen by all persons working at or with a boiler.

Mr. POOLE thought it would be difficult for many persons in the country to get this plate fixed. A written or printed certificate was quite sufficient.

Mr. FLETCHER considered there was really nothing in this matter of the metal plate, and the clause should be struck out.

Mr. WITHERS could see no reason why the plate should not be affixed to a boiler.

Mr. DIBBS said he was sure there would be the necessary means for affixing this plate in all places where boilers were to be found, and the cost would be very small—10s. or 15s. The clause would be useful for the protection of the public.

Mr. BARBOUR thought the clause not worth the time spent in discussing it.

Mr. BURNS was of opinion that it was sufficient to issue a certificate.

Mr. FLETCHER moved that the clause be amended by inserting the words "fittings or seating" after the word "boiler," so that the plate might be affixed, if desired, to the fittings or seating of the boiler.

Mr. PURVES thought the best place to indicate the pressure of a boiler would be to cut it on the pressure gauge.

Mr. GARRARD supported the amendment of Mr. Fletcher. The plates suggested could be obtained for about 6d. each, and could easily be altered if on a subsequent inspection, the pressure was lowered on account of the boiler getting weaker.

Mr. POOLE contended that the written certificate required by the next clause would be quite sufficient.

The amendment was agreed to.

The clause, as amended, was then put and carried on a division of 27 to 8.

Clause 25. "Certificate to be exhibited."

Mr. POOLE asked what was a man to do if some one maliciously destroyed his certificate?

Mr. DIBBS said if there was no wilful default on the part of the owner he would not be liable to punishment.

The clause was agreed to.

Clause 26. "Duration of certificate."

The clause was verbally amended and agreed to.

Clause 27. "Further provision as to certificates."

Mr. POOLE said some definition should be given of what was a material alteration. The matter ought not to be left to the inspector.

The clause was agreed to, as were the following:—28, "Penalty for working without certificate;" 29, "Where boiler is sold or let notice to be given;" 30, "Owner liable to penalty in the first instance;" 31, "Owner and mortgagee when not liable;" 32, "Actual offender may be proceeded against in certain cases;" 33, "Notice of every accident to be sent to inspector;" 34, "Magistrate to hold inquiry and report thereon to the Minister;" 35, "Saving of liabilities;" 36, "How notices, &c., may be served;" 37, "Penalties to be recovered in a summary way;" 38, "Magistrates may allow proportion of penalty to other person injured;" 39, "Expense of Act."

Clauses 40, 41, 42, 43, and 44 were omitted.

Clause 45. "Governor may make regulations."

The clause was verbally amended and agreed to.

Clause 46. "Act not to extend to boilers under control of Government."

Mr. POOLE thought the Government, in their position of common carriers, should come under the enactment. From information that had come to him from time to time it would appear that many of the steam-boilers in the motors traversing our streets were in a very dangerous condition.

Mr. COPELAND thought that it would be folly to employ another staff of half-a-dozen officials, outside that at present employed, to do exactly the work now done by the present staff. It was the duty of the present staff to examine the machinery and see that it was in good order and condition, and these officials were as fully qualified to do that work as any outside inspectors could be. If any hon. member could make a statement showing that there was reason to believe that it would be better to give more attention to the state of the Government steam-boilers than hitherto, he would, in his official capacity, take care to have them examined by the officials whose duty it was to see to the matter.

Mr. FLETCHER pointed out that to bring the Government under this clause would be a perfect farce. Who would they fine if the law were broken by the Government? Either the Minister of Works or the Commissioner of Railways, and the fine would be paid out of the Consolidated Revenue, and then paid back into it.

Mr. PURVES thought the amendment ought to be such as to provide for the inspection of such boilers as were not directly under the control of the Government, those for example lent by the Government to contractors.

Mr. POOLE did not see any necessity why if the inspection of Government boilers were enforced a new staff of officers should be employed. As the Government were the great carriers through the country they should have the steam boilers employed by them inspected the same as those of other people.

Mr. REID proposed to amend the clause by inserting after the word "boilers" the words "the property of the Government," and after the words "public works" the words "by persons in the employment of the Government."

The amendments were agreed to, and the clause as amended carried.

The schedules and preamble were agreed to.

Clause 12 (postponed)—"All boilers to be supplied with safety valves"—was agreed to.

The bill with amendments was reported to the House, and the report was adopted.

JUDGES' SALARIES AND PENSIONS BILL.

The order of the day for the second reading of the Judges' Salaries and Pensions Bill having been called on,

Sir HENRY PARKES said that he doubted very much the propriety of proceeding with the second reading of such an important measure as the Judges' Salaries Bill with such a thin House, and consisting of less than one-third of the members.

Mr. BUCHANAN urged that the Government should proceed with their business.

Mr. O'CONNOR considered that there was a sufficient number of members present to consider that matter.

Mr. STUART hoped the House would go on with the business. The Government were anxious to get on with the business, and if they kept postponing the work they would never get through it. Everyone knew that that bill was to be committed.

Mr. BRUCE SMITH considered that most of the members who were absent were in favour of the bill, or otherwise they would have been in their places to oppose it. He thought it was the duty of the House to go on with it.

Mr. COHEN said that the bill was one of some importance, inasmuch as it dealt with the salaries and pensions of the Judges of the Supreme Court: but it was not of that high importance which would warrant the Government in delaying the second reading. He referred to attempts which had been made previously to legislate in a similar way, and said that so far back as 1875 there was a recognition of the principle of the bill, the second reading of which he had now to propose. Under the Constitution Act the salaries provided were £2000 per annum for the Chief Justice, and £1500 per annum for each of the Puisne Judges. That was, he thought, so far back as 1838. In 1857 the salaries were altered to £2600 for the Chief Justice, and £2000 each for the Puisne Judges. Now it was about 25 or 26 years since the salaries which the Judges at present received, and the pensions which they are entitled to, were fixed by law. Since then there had no doubt been a very large increase in the cost of living, and beyond that the increase of work in the Supreme Court was greater than most members would imagine. Since 1875, the year when Sir John Robertson proposed to increase the salaries of the Judges, a fifth Judge had been appointed, in the hope—and that hope had been realised—that five Judges would be fairly competent to master the work flowing into the Supreme Court. If they desired to attract the best qualified barristers to the Bench as vacancies might arise, they would have to tempt them with such salaries as would induce them to leave the large incomes prominent members of the Bar were now making. It appeared to him that, no matter how wise their laws might be—no matter what amount of care Parliament might bestow upon the consideration of laws they passed in order to regulate and govern the liberties of the people—that work would be thrown away if they had not men capable—mentally, physically, and by their professional training and learning—of administering those laws in an able and efficient manner. The Government proposed to increase the salaries of the Judges to £3500 for the Chief Justice, and to £2600 for the Puisne Judges. He thought that the proposals they had made were fair in themselves, and likely to attain the important objects to which he had alluded. Some hon. members might argue that the salaries the Government proposed were not sufficiently high. (Hear, hear.) Well, after considering, in conjunction with his colleagues, the question fully, he was of opinion that the salaries and pensions were such as would secure the high and important objects they had in view in submitting that important bill to Parliament. Take, for example, the position of the Chief Justice. At present he had a salary of £2600, with a pension equal to £1400 a year. Under this bill he would get a salary of £3500, with a retiring allowance of £2450. The Puisne Judges now got £2000 a year and a pension of £1050. It was now proposed to increase the salaries to £2600, with a pension equal to £1820. If the House would agree to the principle of increasing the Judges' salaries, then the amount of the salaries would be a subject of after discussion. He understood that some members thought that the present proposals for an increase did not go far enough. On the other hand, there were members who thought they went too far. Under the Charter of Justice the salaries were fixed at £2000, and the other Judges at £1600. The pensions were fixed at £4560, that being 7-10ths of the then salaries of the Judges. In 1857 the salaries were increased, but there was no special provision made for an increase of the pensions. In 1859, some doubt having arisen as to what pensions the Judges were entitled to, it was enacted that the pensions should be the same as the Judges were entitled to receive under the conditions and according to the rates established by the Constitution Act. The rate established by the Constitution Act was 7-10ths, so that if Mr. Justice Hargreaves could obtain under the law 7-10ths of his salary, his pension would instead of being £1050, the amount fixed under the Constitution Act, be £1400. By this misread law Mr. Hargreaves obtained only £1050. This provision applied also to Sir Alfred Stephen. His pension, fixed at 7-10ths of his salary, would be £1820 instead of £1400 a year. These were the two provisions of the bill, and he believed they would be acceptable to the House.

Mr. GARVAN submitted that the bill was not properly before the House, inasmuch as it increased the salaries of the Judges, while the leave under which the bill was introduced only gave power to introduce a bill to regulate the salaries and pensions of the Judges.

After some discussion,

Mr. SPEAKER ruled that as the message requested that provision be made for the requisite expenses under this bill, and as the leave was for a bill to regulate the salaries and pensions of the Judges, the bill was properly before the House.

Mr. BUCHANAN said that as the present Government proposed to deal handsomely with the District Court Judges he of course acquiesced in their proposal to increase the salaries of the Supreme Court Judges. In this matter the Government was acting better than their predecessors, but even they should have dealt with the Judges in a more munificent manner. In England the salaries of the Judges were £5000 each, with magnificent results in the shape of pensions; and in Scotland the principal Justice received £5000, and other Justices received £4500 or £4000 a year, and the Scotch Judges were not worked so hard as the Judges here. When in committee they were dealing with these great officers it would be more creditable to them to make the salaries of their Puisne Judges £3000 each, and the salary of the Chief Justice £3500.

Mr. GARRETT thought the House should pause before hurriedly increasing the burden of the people to the extent of £5000 or £6000 a year. Up to two years ago there were only three Judges; then the number was increased to four and subsequently to five, and the expenses had kept on increasing accordingly, until now they were threatened with an increase larger than was proposed at any previous stage. Before they agreed to this they ought to have some justification for their action, and the hon. gentleman who had introduced the bill had not offered it to them. Had the Judges applied for an increase in their salaries, or made out a case for one? In the case of other officers they were told that the officers had been in the service so many years without any increase in their salaries, and that their duties had become heavier, but here no such reasons as these were advanced. The Judges had taken their offices knowing what the salaries would be, and not having made any complaint it must be presumed that they were satisfied with them. They were very glad to accept their offices at the salaries.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON: Not very glad.

Sir HENRY PARKES: The ablest men at the bar would take the position now.

Mr. GARRETT: The gentlemen at the bar took spells every few years, and did so at their own expense; whereas if a Judge wanted one for six or twelve months he obtained it, still drawing his salary, and after serving 15 years he was entitled to a pension. They had fallen on strange times. A few years ago proposals similar to the present one were made, but were never listened to; and now, in a small House, half composed of lawyers, they were asked to pass this bill, which was uncalled for by the public, uncalled for by public necessity, and uncalled for by those to whom this money was to be given. If any member could cite a single case of want of ability attributable to shortness of pay, he would acknowledge that there was a reason for introducing the bill. As a fact, their services were efficiently performed by gentlemen, some of whom had undertaken them recently, knowing what the salaries were, and anxious to obtain the position. They gave up good lines in the profession to do so. The ablest men at the bar were ready to take the position of Chief Justice to-morrow if it were vacant, and he, for one, would do his utmost to prevent this act of extravagance being indulged in.

Mr. BURNS said that the hon. member (Mr. Garrett) had charged the hon. member for Mudgee with inconsistency, but it would be as well if the hon. gentleman looked looked back upon his own conduct. The hon. gentleman was a member of a Government in 1875 that brought in a bill for increasing the salaries of the Judges—(hear, hear)—[Mr. GARRETT: I can find a very good reason for it.]—and he thought, therefore, the hon. gentleman might have spared the hon. member for Mudgee. He thought that, having regard to the receipts of leading barristers, and all their surroundings of their position, hon. members were quite justified in supporting the measure now proposed. If they looked at the other colonies, and observed the salaries and pensions paid there, they would find that the provisions in this bill were by no means over-liberal. The Puisne Judges of Victoria got more than was proposed in this bill. He intended to vote for the second reading of the bill, and contended that the salaries and pensions proposed were by no means extravagant. If they were to get the ablest men at the bar to take these positions they must offer such emoluments as would induce good men to accept them. He hoped hon. members on the Opposition benches would assist the Government in passing the bill during the present session.

Mr. R. B. SMITH had always supported the principle contained in the bill, and would do so on the present occasion. He thoroughly endorsed the remarks made by the hon. member who had just spoken as to the inconsistency of the hon. member for Camden, who, while supporting a similar bill when he was a member of a Government in 1875, now opposed it. [Mr. GARRETT: I never spoke on the bill.] Every clause of a bill was discussed in Cabinet, and the hon. gentleman must have given his concurrence in the bill proposed in 1875. The salaries now proposed in this bill were less than those fixed by the bill of 1875, and he was therefore surprised at the opposition of the hon. member for Camden.

Mr. O'CONNOR did not think that the hon. member (Mr. Garrett) deserved the charge of inconsistency, because it was well known to most hon. members that hon. members, when they joined a Government, had sometimes to sink their personal opinions and their individuality. He however, could not agree with the hon. member for Camden in his opposition to the bill, because he considered the present salaries totally inadequate. What did this bill ask? It asked them to give the Chief Justice of this colony a salary that an attorney could earn. Would any man say that £3500 a year was too much for a man on the bench like Sir James Martin, a profound lawyer, and an able and upright Judge. The salaries proposed in this bill were very moderate; there was nothing extravagant about them. With regard to what the hon. member for the Hunter had said respecting pensions, if those pensions were deserved they ought to be granted, and this House would participate in the honor of granting them. One matter in the bill required amendment. One of the clauses referred to the retirement of Judges under certain circumstances, and it stated that on permanent disability or infirmity a Judge would be entitled to seven-tenths of his actual salary at the time of retirement. That condition, "permanent disability or infirmity," he thought objectionable, for a Judge might for some reason consider himself permanently disabled a fortnight after his appointment, and it was rather too much to give him seven-tenths of his salary after a service of that duration. In this respect he thought the bill should be amended.

Mr. SLATTERY thought the salaries of the Puisne Judges should be increased to £3000 a-year; and the proposal in this bill, while it did nothing but an act of simple justice to the Chief Justice, was only a measure of justice to the Puisne Judges. The salaries of the Judges in England were largely in excess of what was here proposed, and it was the same with the law officers of the Crown in England. It should be remembered, also, that the laws administered in England were the same as those which our Judges administered here. In England, however, each of the Judges had one kind of business to attend to; here a few Judges had to perform the whole of the duties appertaining to their office. The Chief Justice in Bombay received £4600 a-year, and the salaries of the Judges generally in India were £3000 per annum. In the Crown colony of Ceylon the Chief Justice received £2500 a year; in Hongkong it was the same. Lately the salary of the Chief Justice of Queensland had been increased to £2500 a year. In Jamaica the salary of the Chief Justice was £2500, and the same amount was paid in Singapore. If we wanted to see justice properly administered, we must have the most competent men on the bench, and we could not secure the services of the most competent men unless we gave proper salaries. He would give the bill his support.

Mr. GARRARD said he should vote against this bill. The position of Judge had been well filled at the present salary, and he believed if a vacancy occurred now there would be no difficulty in filling it. The Judges not only got a good salary, but after 15 years' service they got a large pension. He thought, if the Judges were entitled to an increase of salary, the Cabinet Ministers were twice as much entitled to an increase. The most objectionable thing in the bill to his mind was the proposal to increase the pensions of the Judges who had already retired.

Mr. W. J. FERGUSSON thought it was time they criticised these increases a little more closely than they had one in times past. He did not think there was another country in the world with so large a Civil list in proportion to the population. He considered that our proportion of Judges to the population was 50 per cent. more than it was in England, and our Judges did not work more than two-thirds of the year. He did not know that it was necessary that Judges should be selected from the leaders of the bar. Neither Judge Windeyer nor Judge Innes were leaders of the bar when they were appointed. He did not think there would be any difficulty in filling the position of Puisne Judge should a vacancy occur. There were plenty of men at our bar who would take such a position at the present salary. There were plenty of men who occupied positions quite as responsible as that of a Judge, and yet who only got half the salary—as a Minister of the Crown, for instance. If the salaries of the Judges were increased the salaries of other gentlemen, such as Crown prosecutors, should be increased also. He thought some amendment should be made in the second clause, and some provision should fix the age of retirement from office, so that we might have young and vigorous men on the bench. He would oppose the bill, as he did not think there would be any lack of good men to fill the positions at the present salaries. Taking into consideration our population and the nature of the judicial duties our Judges were well paid.

Mr. FLETCHER thought it was not the individuals who filled the positions, but the positions themselves, that should be taken into consideration. In all departments of the Civil service they would find applicants ready to take up the duties of those in office at their salaries; but it was another question that they were suitable men. The positions which the Judges filled were worthy of this increase, and if the men filling those positions were not efficient, then the Government was to blame. The fact that in the past the work of the Judges' bench had been so well done was surely not an argument against the increase, but to the contrary. He would support the bill, and he congratulated the Government on having introduced not only a bill to increase the salaries of the Supreme Court Judges, but also one to increase the salaries of the District Court Judges.

Mr. CAMERON had once been of an opposite opinion, but was now perfectly willing to support the increases of salary to the Judges. He did not think the increases proposed at all extravagant. The measure should recommend itself to the House. He congratulated the Government on the action it had taken.

The question was then put, and resolved in the affirmative upon the following division:—

The Speaker left the chair, and the House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill in detail.

The preamble was postponed.

Clause 1. "Judges' salaries."

Mr. GARRETT moved that the clause be amended so as to reduce the salary of the Chief Justice to £3000.

The amendment was negatived, and the clause as printed was agreed to.

Clause 2—"Judges' pensions"—was agreed to.

Clause 3. "Pensions of Judges already retired."

Mr. GARRETT said he took it that that clause was entirely beyond the scope of the bill. The title of the measure was "A Bill to Regulate the Salaries and Pensions of Judges of the Supreme Court." That clause dealt with the pensions of those Judges of the Supreme Court who had ceased to be Judges. If they had any claims provision should be made for them in a separate bill. That clause was not covered by the terms of the message recommending provision to be made in connection with the bill, nor was it covered by the title of the bill.

Mr. CAMERON said in his opinion the clause was certainly within the limit, and title, and scope of the bill. The message to which the hon. gentleman had alluded gave permission to introduce a bill to regulate the salaries and pensions of Judges of the Supreme Court. There were, they knew, certain gentlemen who were in receipt of pensions as Judges of the Supreme Court, and not as private individuals, although they might have ceased for some time to hold the position of Judges of the Supreme Court.

Mr. GARRETT said that he disagreed from the Chairman's ruling, and he therefore begged to refer the point to the Speaker.

The House having resumed,

The point was argued before the Speaker.

Mr. SPEAKER said that it seemed to him that the pensions contemplated in the order of leave and title of the bill could only be those which might be assigned to gentlemen now being or hereafter to be Judges of the Supreme Court. He had come to the conclusion that the third clause was open to the objections which had been raised to it.

The SPEAKER left the chair, and the House in committee again proceeded to consider the bill in detail.

Clause 4—"Pensions secured"—was agreed to.

Clause 5—"Repeal of Acts"—was negatived.

Clause 6—"Short title," and the preamble—was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN left the chair, and reported the bill with amendments. The report was adopted.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON hoped that a bill would be introduced dealing with the pensions of these two Judges.

Mr. STUART said that the Government would do this or withdraw the present bill and introduce it afresh. It would be a monstrous injustice if they did not do so.

DISTRICT COURT JUDGES BILL.

Mr. COHEN moved the second reading of this bill. It was similar to the measure which had just been considered. The salaries of the District Court Judges were the same as they were 25 years ago, and much difficulty was now experienced in inducing gentlemen to accept the position. They proposed that the salaries should be increased to £1500 a year, and that these should be supplemented by pensions.

Mr. GARRETT thought this was an unnecessary and extravagant proposal. It would be years before they got a return for their money. In the interests of the public taxpayers he would oppose the motion.

Mr. COHEN replied, and the motion was agreed to.

The House went into committee to consider the bill in detail.

The preamble was postponed, and clause 1—"Salaries of District Court Judges, and Chief Commissioner of Insolvent Estates"—was agreed to.

Clause 2—"No claim to increased salary on account of future increase of duties"—was negatived.

Clauses 3—"Pensions after service or disability," and 4. "Short title and saving"—were agreed to. The preamble was also agreed to.

The House resumed, and the bill was reported with an amendment.

The report was adopted.

The House adjourned at 16 minutes past 11 o'clock until 4 o'clock on Tuesday next.

NEW NOTICES OF MOTION.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.—TUESDAY, MARCH 20.

Mr. Trickett to move,—That there be laid upon the table of this House copies of all letters, reports, documents, and papers connected with the removal of sergeant Thomas Scollin from the police force.

Mr. Dibbs to move,—That so much of the standing orders be suspended as would preclude the passing of a bill intituled "A Bill to apply certain sums out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of New South Wales towards the services of the year 1883" through all its stages in one day; and would also preclude the resolutions of Committees of Supply and of Ways and Means respectively, whereon the said bill is proposed to be founded, being received on the same day on which they are come to by the said committees respectively.

WHISTLING TRAMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Allow me, with "Steam Engine," to record my protest against this dreadful nuisance. I am a shopkeeper in George-street West, where we have nearly a constant stream of trams from early morning until past midnight. Apart from injury to business, it is quite enough to bear with the rumbling and puffing of the passing monster, but, as if to make its nerve-shattering work more complete, suddenly, sharply one is hit by its deafening screams and yells. Oh! those dreadful trams!

Something must be done soon to mitigate this dreadful nuisance. May I suggest a kind of trumpet-sound or note of music distinct enough to warn drivers of vehicles or individuals of the approaching motor? This, I believe, could be accomplished by some mechanical contrivance, attached the same way as the whistle. I am, &c.,

A discussion as to the wearing of medals by officers in mufti is going on in the London morning newspapers. One medallist proposes that all those who have been the recipients of such tokens should sign an agreement to wear them. If a person likes to display a ticket as evidence that he took an excursion to Egypt with Lord Wolseley, let him. It seems, however, that the medallists who are anxious to parade their medals on all occasions, like the fox without a tail, want everyone to unite with them in this latest exemplification of the mania which makes so many undistinguished persons eager to appear distinguished.

DEPUTATIONS.

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN NORTH SHORE AND MANLY.

A deputation of gentlemen representing the districts of Manly, East St. Leonards, South St. Leonards, Victoria, and North Willoughby waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday, with respect to the desirableness of providing better means of communication than at present exist between North Shore and Manly. The deputation was accompanied by Mr. B. O. Holtermann, M.L.A., who explained the object of the deputation.

Mr. C. H. HAYES, Mayor of Manly, said he had been requested by various boroughs to present a petition setting forth the desires of the inhabitants of North Shore and Manly. He then read the petition, which was signed by a large number of inhabitants of the districts already named. It was stated that the population of Manly was about 1327; that of East St. Leonards 2320, that of South St. Leonards, 2647; that of Victoria, 2182, and that of North Willoughby 1411, so that the total population of those districts was nearly 10,000. It was pointed out that there was no direct means of communication between the North Shore municipalities and the ocean at Manly by any easily practicable land route; that there are in the district of Manly, and between Manly Bridge and Broken Bay many thousands of acres of Crown lands undisposed of, the value of which would be greatly enhanced by more direct communication; that the inhabitants of Manly have no means of getting to Sydney in stormy weather except by steamer, failing which by way of the road by Balgowlah and the ferries at Middle Harbour and St. Leonards, and that great inconvenience frequently arises from the want of direct means of communication. It was also pointed out in the petition that great benefit would arise to all the boroughs previously mentioned, were easy access to Manly Beach and the ocean afforded without the people being compelled in stormy weather to cross the water in steamers; and that what was required could be accomplished by the construction of a tramway carried by a bridge over Middle Harbour at some convenient point accessible from St. Leonards and the other municipalities on the North Shore. It was further stated that if such a means of communication were provided, it would afford a most desirable outlet for the people of Sydney and North Shore on holiday occasions, and would help to prevent the tendency to dangerous crowding in the steamers which was found to prevail on all public holidays.

Mr. COPELAND said that he saw from a memorandum which had been obtained from Mr. Bennett that preliminary surveys had been made, but satisfactory progress did not appear to have been made with the work. He (Mr. Copeland) thought that the work recommended by the deputation was a desirable one to carry out, provided the expense did not prove too great. Mr. Bennett had estimated the cost of a bridge at £45,000, and had stated that if it was to be a swing bridge an additional sum of £5000 would be required, making the total cost £50,000. He was not sure whether any cheaper bridge could be constructed than that. Then there would be the cost of the tramway to be taken into consideration. He would promise the deputation that a thorough examination would be made, and if it could be found that a cheaper and serviceable bridge could be constructed the matter would receive very favourable consideration. He was quite in sympathy with the desire of the deputation to get a bridge across to Manly, and thought that it was a very desirable work; but he did not think that at present he would be justified in asking Parliament to vote £50,000 for that bridge.

In reply to Mr. Hayes, Mr. COPELAND said that in the event of its being found that a bridge would be too costly to construct at present, the Government would, after the proposed cable tramway at St. Leonards had been constructed and found to work satisfactorily, consider the desirableness of constructing a cable tramway on the other side of North Shore, and of providing a steam ferry.

Mr. HAYES said that at present there was a small punt, but it was unreliable, and the approach to it was very steep.

ROAD AT NORTH SHORE.

Introduced by Mr. Withers, M.L.A., a deputation consisting of Mr. B. O. Holtermann, M.L.A., and Messrs. Edwards, Knapp, and Harris waited on the Hon. the Minister for Mines yesterday, to ask that the Government would contribute £100 for the resumption of land for a road off the Lane Cove Road, and running eastward through what is known as Clayton's ground. It was represented that this £100 was only half the value of the land in question, and that the present owner, Mr. Mackintosh, was willing to forego the other £100. The road would connect two roads already in existence, and would give people egress and ingress to lands which were now practically locked up. Mr. J. P. Abbott, in reply, said that he had already called for a report in regard to this road, and that it had not yet been sent in. He was inclined to meet the wish of the deputation, but he could not speak positively until he saw the report, and so he could only say that he would communicate his decision to them in a week or 10 days. The deputation thanked him and withdrew.

PARK FOR PETERSHAM.

A deputation, consisting of Messrs. S. A. Stephen, W. H. Pigott, H. Moses, and A. P. Tighe, Ms.L.A., Mr. Gelding (Mayor of Petersham), and others, waited upon the Colonial Secretary, yesterday, to urge that a public park should be provided for the borough of Petersham. It was pointed out by some of the speakers that the late Government had long ago recognised that Petersham was entitled to a park, and a portion of the late Captain Johnstone's property was recommended for resumption. It was, however, represented to Sir John Robertson while he was Acting Colonial Secretary that Captain Johnstone attached a sentimental value to keeping the estate intact, and Sir John Robertson, therefore, expressed himself reluctant to split up the estate during Captain Johnstone's life. The matter had, therefore, to be left in abeyance. Since then Captain Johnstone had died, and it was stated that it was intended to cut up the estate into building allotments.

Mr. STUART said that this matter of public parks was one of immense importance. £100,000 was voted for the purpose a year or two ago, but that had all gone for the satisfaction of comparatively few localities. £100,000 had been again placed on the Estimates and voted for another distribution this year, but the applications already in would require an expenditure of £400,000. No doubt in connection with the outlying municipalities there might not be so much necessity for securing land, as the population in those localities was very sparse, but on the other hand the very sparseness of the population made the land in those localities so much more readily purchasable than in crowded localities. The question that would first occupy the attention of the Government would be the principle upon which this £100,000 should be distributed. The importance of Petersham entitled it to a foremost place in the list of applicants; but in order to get anything like a satisfactory piece of ground it would be necessary for various adjoining municipalities about Sydney to group themselves together. For instance, he had a deputation the other day from Newtown, another from Marrickville and St. Peters; and it seemed to him that if a central piece of ground could be found to suit all those municipalities it would be better than buying up three or four acres in each separate municipality. Perhaps something of that kind could be done at Petersham. Land had reached such a high value that he was afraid that it would cost millions to satisfy the applications from all the municipalities. He admitted that Petersham had a strong claim, and would consider the application during the recess.

RESERVE FOR SINGLETON.

A deputation, introduced by Mr. Gould, M.L.A., waited upon the Colonial Secretary yesterday, to request the appropriation of £5000 for the borough of Singleton. There was a property close to Singleton of 60 or 70 acres, which would be suitable for the purpose indicated. The deputation also asked for £200 for the main road that passed through the borough of Singleton. They also suggested that the old lockup should be pulled down.

Mr. STUART said that Sir John Robertson, when acting as Colonial Secretary, had considered that the old lockup should be removed, and he was not aware of the reason why it had not been removed. He would have the matter cleared up. With regard to the main road, he would enquire into the matter. So far as the recreation-ground was concerned, it appeared that his predecessor had promised £2000 for a reserve, but owing to a disagreement among themselves, the people of Singleton had failed to secure that amount out of the last vote of £100,000. The application now made was for a big jump from £2000 to £5000 or £6000, and he was afraid that it could not be at present entertained; nor did he think that the Government should purchase land for people to use as a racecourse. He would promise to consider this application with others during the recess.

RAILWAYS IN THE HAWKESBURY DISTRICT.

A deputation, consisting of Mr. M'Quade, M.L.A., Mr. T. R. Smith, M.L.A., Mr. Primrose (Mayor of Windsor), and several other residents of the Hawkesbury district, waited upon the Hon. Henry Copeland, Minister for Works, yesterday, to ask for a light railway from Windsor to Sackville Reach, so as to keep the whole of the river trade there. It was pointed out that the river in that locality is silting up and becoming too shallow for boats of any draught, and that, if the railway were constructed, its length would not be more than eight or nine miles, and it would render unnecessary a journey of 22 miles by river. Mr. Copeland intimated that he was favourably impressed by the statement made by the deputation, and said he would cause a survey to be made, and if the report of the surveyors were favourable probably the railway would be granted. Nothing, however, could be done during the present session, because the Government did not intend to introduce into Parliament this session anything of this kind.

A second deputation, consisting of residents of the district around Mulgrave and Pitt Town, and introduced by Mr. Gerrick, M.L.A., waited upon the Minister for Works to request that a branch railway or tramway, five miles in length, might be constructed from Mulgrave to Pitt Town. The line would go through Crown land; there would be no bridges to build, and very few culverts would be required; and it was necessary to enable the residents of the district to get their produce to market before it perished. Mr. Copeland said he could not make any promise other than that he would have a report made during the recess, and he could see his way clear to give the tramway or light railway he would do so. The proposal to take the railway from Windsor to Sackville Reach demanded more consideration than the request of the present deputation, because it would tap the river lower down.

LIVERPOOL REQUIREMENTS.

A deputation also waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday, to urge upon him the desirableness of sending a competent engineer to Liverpool to report upon a scheme for water supply, and also to report with reference to a proper system of sewerage. The deputation also desired to have a sum of money placed on the Estimates for the erection of a bridge over George's River. The deputation was accompanied by Mr. N. Melville, M.L.A.

Rev. Father BERRY spoke with reference to the desirableness of a supply of water being provided for the town of Liverpool, pointing out that there was a large asylum at Liverpool, containing between 800 and 900 inmates; that there was a large number of manufactories, which, in seasons of drought, had to stop work for want of water; and that in the event of a fire breaking out in the town it might do a considerable amount of damage before it could be arrested.

Mr. E. ASHCROFT spoke of the desirableness of a proper system of sewerage being provided for Liverpool, and urged that it was required partly by reason of the Government institutions in existence there; and that in view of that fact it would hardly be fair to expect the municipality to do all the work at their own cost.

Rev. A. L. WILLIAMS said there was a large and increasing population in the district of Liverpool, and the want of a bridge over George's River was very greatly felt. At present there was a dam and a small foot bridge, but the foot bridge was without any rail.

Mr. COPELAND said that in reference to the water question the Government would have no objection to sending an officer when one was available, to advise the municipality as to the best course for them to adopt; but at present the Government were not making any provision for finding the money, or for carrying out works in connection with matters of that kind. It was the intention of the Government to let the matter stand over until they had got the Local Government Bill passed through the Parliament. The Government proposed then to assist municipalities in the way of giving guarantee for any money which it might be found desirable for municipalities to borrow for works of that kind. That, he believed, would be the policy which would be adopted by the Government in all cases. They were carrying on some two or three works of that description at the present time, but the Government did not intend to construct any more, except under the provisions of whatever Local Government Bill might be passed. Then if municipalities were prepared to incur the expenditure the Government would guarantee the payment of the money borrowed. It was proposed to pass a Local Government Bill during the next session. The law in Victoria at the present time enabled the Government of that colony to guarantee all municipal loans, the waterworks remaining the property of the town. And with respect to what had been stated respecting the question of sewerage, the deputation might depend upon it that when the Local Government Bill had passed into law the Government property would be assessed in the same way as other property. The fact of their having Government buildings at Liverpool would go a long way towards paying the cost of their water supply and sewerage. The custom in Victoria was to charge a sewerage and also a water rate on all Government buildings; and he was sure that Parliament would agree to the Government buildings being rated in the same way as all other buildings in the town. The plan would be to levy a water rate and also a sewerage rate, so that whenever those works were carried out the Government would pay a fair proportion of their cost. An engineer would be sent to report upon the water supply and sewerage questions as soon as a suitable officer could be spared. With reference to the question of the bridge, the matter could not be dealt with at present, as the Estimates and Supplementary Estimates had been passed. He would, however, obtain a report as to the necessity for the bridge, and if the cost was not found to be too great, would, when the estimates for 1884 were under consideration, place a sum of money on them for the erection of the bridge.

RAILWAY FROM NEW ENGLAND TO BYRON BAY.

A deputation of residents of Richmond and Lismore, accompanied by Messrs. S. W. Gray, W. A. Hutchinson, and J. P. Garvan, Ms.L.A., waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday afternoon, to ask that a survey for a railway line might be made from New England to Byron Bay.

Mr. STOPPS, in asking that the survey should be made, urged that Byron Bay was the most suitable port for the district, and referred to the large quantity of agricultural land there is between Lismore and Byron Bay. A survey was previously made of a line from Byron Bay to Tenterfield, but the papers were destroyed in the Garden Palace fire. He also asked that a sum of money might be put down on the Estimates for a jetty at Byron Bay.

Mr. COPELAND said it would be necessary for him to get a survey of the harbour before he could do anything, and when he had obtained that information he would consider the question of having a survey made, and of setting down a sum of money on next year's Estimates for the jetty.

POLICE PROTECTION AT WOLLOMBI.

A deputation, introduced Mr. Gorrick, M.L.A., waited upon the Colonial Secretary yesterday to request that police protection and a police station be provided at Pelican Flat, in the Wollombi district. At present the nearest police station is at Newcastle, 20 miles distant.

Mr. STUART stated that the matter was under consideration.

RAILWAY FREIGHT ON GRAVEL.

A deputation, consisting of Mr. T. R. Smith, M.L.A., and Messrs. J. T. Ryan, A. Turnbull, F. Leeds, F. Macintosh, and others, waited upon the Minister for Works to ask for a reduction in the rate charged by the Railway Department on gravel and metal between Emu Plains and Sydney. Mr. Smith said in support of the request that the quantity of gravel and metal carried on the railway between Emu Plains and Sydney during 1882 was 67,000 tons. The freight paid on that quantity was £11,542, and the cost to the Department was £8127. This left a profit to the railway of £3415, a sum equal to 31 per cent. on the working expenses; and he thought this was sufficient justification for asking that a reduction in the freight should be made.

Mr. COPELAND, in reply, said he could not see his way clear to grant the reduction. He had looked into this matter, and he thought it would be found that Mr. Smith's calculation was an erroneous one. Mr. Smith had, in calculating the 31 per cent., simply taken the net returns, £3415, and the gross earnings—he had forgotten to take the cost of constructing the railway. The railway had cost £1,259,838, and the Government required to get interest on the cost of construction. The gravel traffic paid only about 1½ per cent. on the capital expended in constructing the line, taking into consideration of course the working expenses. Another point was that the Government took most of this gravel. The contractors for supplying it had calculated their contracts on the existing freights, and now they wished the Government to reduce that freight. If after the present contracts were closed there could be shown good reasons why the freight should be reduced, the question might be reconsidered.

NORTH WILLOUGHBY.

A deputation from North Willoughby, consisting of a number of the leading residents of that district, was introduced to the Hon. Postmaster-General by Mr. Holtermann, M.L.A., yesterday. The deputation came to ask for the erection of a post and telegraph office; that there should be a second daily mail from Sydney; for the erection of more letter-receivers; and for a daily delivery of letters by a carrier.

Mr. WRIGHT, in reply, promised the deputation that they should have the second daily mail. He would make inquiries as to the requirements of the district, with a view to give them a letter-carrier if it was found necessary. He would get a report as to the erection of a post and telegraph office, and if the population of the district justified it he would put a sum of money on the Estimates of next year for that purpose. At the same time he pointed out that a number of suburban telegraph offices seemed to have been erected solely for political purposes, as the returns received in many instances did not half pay the salary of the operator.

PELICAN FLAT.

Several residents of Pelican Flat were introduced as a deputation to the Postmaster-General yesterday by Mr. Gorrick, M.L.A. Their object was to urge upon the Minister the necessity for the construction of a telegraph line from Newcastle to Raspberry Gully, and thence to Cooranbong; also, that a post and telegraph office should be erected at Pelican Flat.

Mr. WRIGHT explained to the deputation that the telegraph line they asked for had been commenced, but that the contractor had failed to carry out his contract. Arrangements were, however, now being made to give the work to the next lowest tenderer. As soon as the line was completed, he would, on the strength of a report from Mr. Cracknell, open a telegraph office at Pelican Flat, but he could not promise to advise the erection of buildings until the office had been in operation for some time, so that he could judge from the revenue received whether he should be justified in making such a recommendation.

The death is recorded in a London paper of the once-celebrated actress Mrs. Bray, in the 93rd year of her age. She was the daughter of Mr. John Kempe, a descendant of an ancient family, and was born on Christmas Day, 1790. In early life she displayed a turn for the stage, especially after seeing Mrs. Siddons and John Kemble, of whom she ever talked with enthusiasm. Having turned her attention to painting she became acquainted with some of the leading artists, and in 1818 was married to Charles Stothard. With him she visited the old towns of Normandy and Brittany, and soon afterwards published her first book, a series of animated letters descriptive of her tour. The premature death, in 1821, of Charles Stothard, who was killed by a fall from a ladder while making a drawing in Beer Ferrers Church, in Devonshire, left her a widow while expecting to be a mother. Her only child died in early infancy, and in some sense she never recovered from the mental shadow which this tragic period of her life cast over her. With the assistance of her brother, Mr. Alfred John Kempe, himself a distinguished antiquary, she edited her late husband's incomplete work on the "Monumental Effigies of Great Britain," and in 1823 published his memoirs. This received high commendation from Sir Walter Scott and Southey, and led to an intimate friendship with the latter. About this time, while on a visit to Devonshire, she made the acquaintance of the Rev. Edward Atkyns Bray, vicar of Tavistock, and afterwards became his wife. Mrs. Bray soon discovered interest and employment in legendary lore and relics of an unknown antiquity, with which Devonshire abounds, and in rambles with her husband she collected materials for many works of fiction founded upon local traditions.

THE stories about Sarah Bernhardt are mostly calumnies. Those who know her are high in their laudation of her character, just as those who are familiar with the virtues of Wolfe's Schnapps.—[ADVT.]

Alice Mary, for Hongkong: 516 tons coal.

Custom House.—Entered Outwards: March 16, Alexandra (s.), 546 tons, Captain C. J. Nightingall, for Brisbane and Northern ports; Alice Mary, barque, 361 tons, Captain J. H. Davis, for Hongkong; Barrabool (s.), 588 tons, Captain J. D. Joy, for Melbourne, via Newcastle.

The Governor Blackall (s.) left Brisbane at 0.30 p.m. on the 14th, rounded Cape Moreton at 3.15 p.m., passed Smoky Cape at 2.15 p.m. on the 15th, Seal Rock Point at midnight, and entered the Heads at 11 a.m. on the 16th, arriving at the Company's Wharf at 11.30 a.m. same date. Experienced light south and S.E. winds, fine clear weather, and smooth sea throughout the passage.

The Orient Company's chartered steamer, Cephalonia, the new Cunard liner, left the bay yesterday for London, via Melbourne, with a large and valuable cargo and a full complement of passengers. Indeed, several days ago all the passenger accommodation was filled, and numerous persons had to be refused a passage home in this fine ship. The Cephalonia has justly excited the admiration of almost every one who has seen her—not that she has such fine lines as many of the vessels which now visit this port, but there is a massiveness, a grandeur, about her that has forced itself upon the attention of the onlooker. There is but little doubt that, owing to her great beam, she is essentially a safe ship, in contradistinction to some others which might be mentioned; and the travelling public evidently had this in mind, judging by the amount of patronage which has been bestowed upon her. Just before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the huge vessel was surrounded by small steamers and boats, either conveying passengers and their luggage to the Cephalonia, or else taking away those who had been "seeing their friends off," and the scene was a most exciting and interesting one. At intervals the old-time airs of "The girl I left behind me" and "Should auld acquaintance" were interrupted by bursts of cheering from one or other of the steamers; the compliment would be returned by the people on the Cephalonia, and handkerchiefs innumerable were to be seen fluttering in the wind. The weather was gloriously fine, and added greatly to the effectiveness of a picture that could scarcely be excelled. Shortly after 4 o'clock the anchor was weighed, and the Cephalonia under the direction of Pilot Coutts, commenced to steam down the bay. The steam launches Eagle and Mascotte accompanied her as far as Watson's Bay; the band on the former craft played familiar airs, and cheering was frequent. Notwithstanding the great number of persons who went off to the ship besides the passengers and luggage, not a single hitch occurred; and Mr. J. A. Fennelley, who had the steamers engaged, viz., the Prince of Wales and Agenoria, under his direction, deserves credit for the way in which the arrangements were carried out.

The Coraki (s.) crossed the Macleay Bar on the 15th instant at 1.30 p.m., called at Port Macquarie at 7 p.m., and arrived at Sydney on the 16th instant at 6 p.m. Experienced light variable winds and fine weather throughout the passage. Cargo: 1450 bags maize, 80 bags antimony ore, 22 bags potatoes, 42 hides, 7 cases eggs, 11 coops poultry, 31 pigs, and sundries.

The Lismore (s.) crossed the Richmond Bar at 12.45 p.m. on the 14th, passed South Solitary at 9.45 p.m., rounded Seal Rocks at 2.10 p.m. on the 15th, and entered Sydney Heads at 3 a.m. on the 16th. Easterly winds to Smoky Cape, westerly to Tacking Point, and S.E. and S., from thence to port, with showery weather, sea moderate. Cargo: 106 cedar logs, 124 casks treacle, 826 mats sugar, 328 bags maize, 52 hides, 6 coops fowls, 4 cases eggs, 11 bags oysters, 56 cases empty bottles, 2 pigs, and sundries.

The schooner Louisa, for Melbourne, cleared the Heads at 3 p.m. yesterday; and the barque Alice Mary, with a cargo of coal, for Hongkong, at 5.25 p.m.

The Ly-ee-Moon (s.) left the company's wharf, Melbourne, at 4.40 p.m. March 14, and entered Sydney Heads at 9.50 p.m. on the 16th. Experienced fine weather, with moderate north and north-east winds.

Yesterday the A. S. N. Company's steamer Quiraing was towed round to the company's works, Pyrmont, where she is to receive a thorough overhaul.

To-day the American barque Crescent will be towed from Neutral Bay to the Central Wharf, the Borghild from Neutral Bay to Dibbs' Wharf, and the R.M.S. City of New York from the company's wharf to Fitzroy Dock.

The French barque Briez Izel was yesterday afternoon towed from below Garden Island to her Alger's Wharf.

The ship Euterpe, for San Francisco via Newcastle, and the ship Star of Germany, for Calcutta, cleared the Heads at 10.15 o'clock yesterday morning.

The yacht Doris, belonging to Dr. Milford, commodore of the P. A. Y. C., left Melbourne, yesterday morning, for Sydney.

In the Import market to-day business has been marked by steadiness, which has been the prevailing feature of the week's transactions. The flour market is quiet at unaltered rates. South Australian town brands, £13 10s. to £13 15s.; country, £12 5s. to £12 10s.; New South Wales, £12 5s. to £15; Victorian country, £12 to £12 5s.; Californian, £11 15s. to £12; New Zealand moves at from £10 to £11. Wheat, in consequence of the large quantity forward—altogether in excess of the milling requirements—continues at a price relatively lower than flour. While the quotations for best flour range from £11 15s. to £12 12s. 6d. in Adelaide and Melbourne, the price of wheat being 5s. 4d. to 5s. 6d., here we have the best flour selling at £12 15s. to £13 15s., and the price of wheat at 5s. to 5s. 3d. At their grain sale to-day, Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, sold 1000 bags wheat at 5s. to 5s. 2½d.; bran, 13½d.; pollard, 12½d. The tea market continues in a state unsatisfactory to importers. Though some fair sales have been made, the weight of stocks yet precludes the possibility of remunerative prices. 1600 boxes were quitted at a price not named; also 100 half-chests of old season's tea at 30s., and 150 half-chests new seasons at 37s. 6d. to 42s. 6d. Some inquiry is noted for boxes, which is likely to lead to business. Generally teas are dull of sale, especially low and very common congous. There is a much improved inquiry for Indian teas, the present very low prices causing attention to be drawn to them. Sales have been made to the extent of about 90 chests and 120 half-chests, at 1s. 3d. to 1s. 9d. per lb. duty paid. Reporting on the Melbourne market on the 11th March, Mr. Alfred Harvey observes:—"To importers, the month has been most unsatisfactory, the quantity selling being comparatively small, almost all comprising common grades, upon which, owing to the exceptionally heavy stocks held by the trade, prices gradually weakened, until several thousand halves were quitted at 4d. per lb. under July rates. Since then, however, values have firmed, preventing business being carried through by private contracts within 1d. per lb. of last auction rates; the lower the grade the heavier the loss has been the rule throughout the season. On the finer kinds within a shade of cost is occasionally made; more especially is this noticeable with cut-down half-chests and 11-lb. boxes, both packages being in very short supply, more especially from 10d. to 1s. 1d., almost none remaining in first hands." The market for coffee is firm, with some inquiry for export; 9½d. is value of No. 1 Ceylon plantation; chicory worth 6d. to 6¼d., according to quantity. Cocoa maintains late quotations, with a quiet trade. The sugar market is fairly well supplied with almost all descriptions of sugars, the range of value being from £24 10s. to £26 for ration, £27 to £28 for brown, £32 to £33 for good yellows, up to £35 10s. for whites. Rice of ordinary table quality is worth £15 to £16, the better sorts selling at about £20. Sago and tapioca command 2d. per lb. Pepper, white, 1s. 1d.; black, 7½d. In fish, sardines are worth 5s. and 10s. for quarters and halves, inferior brands having been sold at a trifle less; tinned salmon, 8s. 3d. for good fish; bulk salmon dull at 5d.; fresh herrings, 5s. 10½d.; kippered, 11s.; ling, weak at 6¼d. Dried fruits are in only moderate request; currants selling at 5d.; elemes at 6½d.; sultanas, 6½d.; and valencias weak at 6¼d. Moir's marmalade sold at 6s. 6d. Coarse salt is worth from 70s. to 72s. 6d.; fine quoted at 87s. 6d. in small bags; rock, in trade parcels, worth 70s. Among smaller lines, the scarcity of starch is to be noted, the market being firm at £42. Imported candles are quoted at from 7½d. to 8d.; for D.R.J.s the latter figure is wanted by most holders. A moderately good business is doing in English malt, average samples bringing about 7s. 3d.; colonial worth 6s. 3d. to 6s. 9d. Hops are worth from 4s. to 4s. 6d., according to sample; packet hops, 3s. In liquors, there is an unabated demand for bottled beer, the supply of favoured brands being still inadequate to market requirements; prices are without alteration. Hennessy's three star case very scarce, and selling to arrive at 48s.; single star worth 35s. But little business is reported in second class brandy. Lowndes' rum is quoted at 4s. 2d. for hogsheads and quarters; Lemon Hart and other brands at about 3s. 8d. to 3s. 9d.; Queensland at 3s. 3d. A fair demand is noted for for whisky of the most favored brands. In metal, galvanised iron is quoted at from £23 to £25, outside brands moving from £22 10s. Sheet lead is firm at £18 5s. for assorted parcels. Fencing wire still hangs heavily on importers' hands; £13, £13 15s., and £14 15s. are the nominal quotations for Nos. 6, 8, and 10 respectively of Whitecross and Ryland's brands. I. C. Coke tin plates are selling at 19s., others at proportionate figures. Wire nails are still selling as low as 15s. Muntz metal worth 8½d., with sales. In drugs we note sales of soda crystals at £6 15s. Cement continues to be dearer, 16s. 6d. being the quotation for K.B.S.; other brands from 15s. In oils, raw and boiled of leading brands may be quoted at 2s. 5d. in drums; castor and olive are both scarce, and firm at 3s. 6d. At the Darling Harbour Railway sales there was a plentiful supply of produce. The quality ranged from medium to prime, but there were only a few loads of the latter forward. The attendance was rather poor. Prices as follows were realised:—Lucerne hay, 1s. 9d. to 3s. 10d.; lucerne hay and wheaten straw, 2s. 7d. to 3s.; oaten and straw chuff, 4s. 6d. to 5s. 8d.; wheat, 4s. 6d.; potatoes, 4s. 6d. to 4s. 11d.; wheat husks, 2s.; baled hay, 3s. 10d. to 5s.; oaten straw, 3s. 6d. to 5s. 6d.; baled straw, 2s. 11d. to 3s. 3d.; bundled straw, 3s. 4d. to 3s. 6d. On the wharfs, Messrs. Brunker and Wolfe sold, on account of the Hunter River Farmers' Association, lucerne hay at from 50s. to 70s.; New Zealand oats at from 2s. 8d. to 2s. 9d.; fowls at 5s. 1d. Mr. Wells sold a quantity of lucerne hay at 70s. There was not much produce forward.

Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, F. L. Barker, Hill, Clark, and Co., John Bridge, Brunker and Wolfe, and Mort and Co. held their weekly sales of hides and tallow to-day. There was a moderate quantity of tallow under offer, and as shippers and the local trade both purchased freely, nearly all of it was cleared at prices about equal to those obtained last week. Best mutton tallow is worth £35 to £35 10s., and beef £33 to £34. Hides also were in active request at rates fully equal to those of late sales, extra heavies being worth 4½d.

The O. S. S. Cephalonia sailed this afternoon for London, via Melbourne and Adelaide. She takes 2892 bales wool, 9906 ingots tin, 26,591 ingots 549 pigs 1619 cakes 3144 tubes and 6553 tiles copper, 183 bags silver ore, 3618 cases meats, 31 casks tallow, 30 cases pelts, 18 bales basils, 65 cases and 2033 ingots nickel, 1 box specie (£5000), 1 case silver model, 40 cases sundries, 56 bags ore, 6 cases wine, and 1 case cigars.

From Messrs. Houghton and Co.'s Batavian circular of 21st February we extract the following:—

"Cassia: Prices somewhat declined, and is procurable at Padang from 11 to 11·50 francs for 1st quality, and 7·50 to 8·50 francs for 2nd quality. Cloves: In these there is nothing doing. Coffee, Java: The quantity of Government coffee delivered into Government stores up to 31st December last amounted to 1,021,808 piculs. Some thousands of piculs of Pemanockan coffee were lately bought at 40 francs per picul. Coffee, Sumatra: For the March auction sale there were stored up to the 16th instant, 9091 piculs 1st quality, 89 piculs 2nd quality. The auction it is expected will consist of 15,000 to 20,000 piculs. Indiarubber: Benkoelen has been sold at 120 francs, and Lampong at 150 francs per picul. Gum Copal is in good inquiry; 400 piculs Gorontalo were sold at Macassar at 15½ francs per picul. Hides: Buffalo are procurable at 0·28 francs to 0·40 francs, and cow at 0·40 francs to 0·45 per lb. Mace has been sold at 90 francs per picul. Nutmegs: Nuts in the shell have been sold at 85 francs per picul. Black pepper is selling at 25½ francs to 26 francs per picul. White Pepper: Of this there is none offering. Rattans are worth 11½ francs to 13 francs per picul. Rice is without change in value, and first quality Batavia we value at 170 francs, and second at 145 francs to 150 francs per koyang. Sugar: Resales of balances of crops have been made at 15 francs per picul, f.o.b. (½ franc per pic less for each No. below, and ¼ franc per pic more for each No. above No. 14.) Freights are very quiet, and only few engagements concluded. Imports from Australia.—Beef and Pork: Sales of Australian beef have been made at 60 francs per barrel. In the latter there is nothing doing. Coal: There have been no sales of this of late. Flour: Market is steady at 22 francs per bag. It is reported that supplies are now on the way. The Havre and Eyver had sailed for Melbourne with 1329 tons of sugar. The Sourabaya, Pelham, and Vivid were loading for the same place."

LATEST COMMERCIAL TELEGRAMS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

LONDON, March 10.

Since the commencement of the present series of wool sales, 102,000 bales have been catalogued, and 13,000 have been withdrawn. Biddings are less animated than before. Prices of good wools are maintained, but the rates for inferior, medium, and superfine are weaker.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, March 8.

Consols, 102¼.

Tin: Straits and Australian, £95. The Dutch auctions commence on the 29th instant, when 23,000 slabs of Banca will be offered.

The Bank of England weekly returns show the proportion of the reserve to liabilities to be 43 per cent. The total reserve in notes and bullion amounts to £13,800,000.

At the wool sales to-day 8900 bales were offered. The market is steady. The withdrawals amount to 11,000 bales. The next series of sales commence on May 16, and will comprise 350,000 bales.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Victorian Mining Stock.—Sales of Band of Albion, 37s. to 37s. 6d.; Duke, 67s. to 68s.; Egerton, 32s. to 33s.; Golden Stream, 26s. 6d. to 27s.; Lone Hand, £11 10s.; Lady Barkly, 30s. to 31s.; Maxwells, 32s.; United Devonshire, 22s. to 23s.

Breadstuffs continue unchanged. Buyers of wheat still offer 5s. 4½d. unsuccessfully. Maize is dull at 3s. 9d. There is a good demand for sugars, but the business done is limited, pending a large sale on Tuesday, when 20,000 pockets, ex City of Tanjore and Earl, will be offered at auction. Holders of cornsacks ask 6s. 4½d. in bond; for woolpacks, 2s. 4d. Fish, good, are in demand at full rates. Currants are quoted at 4½d. Hops are in good request, but buyers decline to give the prices asked. Many of the Gippsland crops were much damaged by the recent bad weather, and the market has a downward tendency.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

For wheat to-day the nominal quotation was 5s. 5d. to 5s. 6d. For flour the quotation was £11 5s. for ordinary brands.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1883.

In the Legislative Assembly yesterday,

Ministers replied to questions respecting the Bathurst water supply, the tolls charged on the Clarence River punts, the remuneration of letter-carriers, and the want of a lockup at Cudal.

Sir Wigram Allen presented a petition from the president of the Wesleyan Conference, praying the retention of certain of the provisions of the Licensing Act.

Mr. Dibbs gave notice of a resolution for Tuesday for the passing of a Temporary Supply Bill through all its stages at one sitting of the House.

Leave was given to Mr. Stuart to introduce a bill for the amendment of the Fisheries Act of 1881.

Sir Wigram Allen brought up the report of the Select Committee on the Farnshaw Estate Bill, and Mr. Purves brought up the report of the Select Committee on the Heley Estate Bill.

On the motion of Mr. Fletcher, the Redhead Railway Bill was read a second time, and the bill was passed through committee without amendment.

The House then went into committee for the further consideration of the Criminal Law Consolidation Bill.

All the remaining unopposed clauses were agreed to.

The principal clauses in respect of injuries to ships, the exhibition of false lights, the false registration of deeds, injuries to trees, shrubs, and the like offences; false statements respecting births, marriages, deaths, and burials; rape, manslaughter, cumulative sentences, the carrying out of capital sentences, juvenile offences, the commutation or mitigation of sentences, the forfeiture of property on conviction, offences by boys and youths, and assaults by husbands were postponed.

Progress was reported, and leave was given to sit again on Tuesday next.

The House next went into Committee for the further consideration of the Land Boilers and Inspection Bill, the remaining clauses of which were in part amended, and its third reading was made an order of the day for Wednesday next.

Mr. Cohen moved the second reading of the Supreme Court Judges' Salaries and Pensions Regulation Bill, under which the salary of the Chief Justice would be raised from £2600 to £3500, and the salaries of the Puisne Judges from £2000 to £2600 per year, from the 1st January, 1883. The bill also enacted that the pensions of Judges, who might retire after a service of 15 years, or on account of permanent disability or infirmity, would be in the proportion of seven-tenths of their actual salary at the time of their retirement; and the like provisions would apply to judges now in the receipt of pensions, and would take effect from the 11th October, 1881.

The bill was supported by Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Burns, Mr. R. B. Smith, Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Slattery, Mr. Fletcher, and Mr. Cameron; and was opposed by Mr. Garrett, Mr. Garrard, and Mr. Fergusson.

The second reading was agreed to on division by 39 to 5, and the House went into committee on the bill.

Mr. Garrett moved an amendment in clause 1, limiting the salary of the Chief Justice to £3000 per year, which was negatived without division, and the clause was agreed to, as was also clause 2, in reference to pensions. On clause 3 being moved, which had relation to the pensions of Judges already retired, and under the operation of which the pension of Sir Alfred Stephen would be increased from £1400 to £1820, and the pension of Mr. Justice Hargrave from £1050 to £1400 per year, from the 11th October, 1881, it was ruled by the Speaker, on a point of order raised by Mr. Garrett, that the clause was beyond the order of leave and the terms of the message from his Excellency the Governor. The clause was therefore dropped. The bill was reported, and its third reading was made an order of the day for Tuesday; but Mr. Stuart stated, in answer to a question from Sir John Robertson, the Government would consider before then whether they would withdraw the bill, and bring in a new bill embodying the dropped clause, or whether they they would bring forward a separate bill to meet the claims of Sir Alfred Stephen and Mr. Justice Hargraves for increased pensions.

Mr. Cohen moved the second reading of the District Court Judges and Chief Commissioners of Insolvent Estates Salaries and Pensions Regulation Bill, by the terms of which the salaries of the officers named would be increased from £1000 to £1500 per year, and pensions be allowed them at the rate of half salary, after a service of 20 years.

The bill was opposed by Mr. Garrett on the ground of its extravagance; but its second reading was agreed to, and it was passed through committee without amendment.

The House adjourned at 11.15 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday.

Although we have not been able to concur in the censure passed by Mr. Dalley on the Marine Board for obeying the instructions of the Board of Trade, the Governor, and the Treasurer, to suspend their inquiry into the sinking of the Austral, we see no reason to mitigate the force of his more recent comment on a letter from the solicitor of the Board of Trade to the Shipping-master of Sydney. It is perfectly clear that the English authorities had not given due consideration to the course they were pursuing. In their anxiety to get an effective scientific inquiry, they not only overlooked the respect due to the local authorities, but they overlooked, in the first instance, the importance of the local evidence. We drew attention at the time to the importance of that local evidence, the fact that it was only obtainable in Sydney, and that without it the inquiry could not be complete. The Board of Trade was so absorbed, in the first instance, in the importance of the scientific aspect of the inquiry, and with the conviction that that could only be properly investigated in England, that it hurriedly arrested the proceedings in Sydney, whereby alone the necessary evidence as to facts could be elicited. To make good this deficiency, six weeks after the foundering of the vessel the solicitor to the Board of Trade writes direct to the Shipping-master of Sydney to get a quantity of specified evidence, exactly of the sort which the Marine Board would have got if it had been left alone. The points referred to are exactly those which would have occurred to any layman of common sense, and would certainly occur to the practised members of the Marine Board. If the Board of Trade had any doubts that the local evidence might not be properly got out by the Marine Board, and that they would overlook material points, it would not have been difficult to suggest matters that should be specially inquired into. It would not have ruined the Home authorities to have sent out by telegram the whole of the letter which has now come from Mr. Walter Murton. It certainly would have been a much smaller interference with the Marine Board than a peremptory order not to inquire at all. But to stop them by telegram from inquiring at the time when all the witnesses were alive and available, and then six weeks afterwards to indite a letter to a subordinate officer in the port, instructing him to go out of his own province to do the Marine Board's work, is certainly a most unusual and unseemly proceeding—so unusual that we cannot but think that when the Board of Trade sees the whole case put before it, it will feel that it has acted injudiously, if not irregularly. We do not expect it to concur in the idea that it has not the power to stop an inquiry by our own Marine Board, but it must see that it has made a mistake in the way in which it has done this. Mr. Dalley states that the Shipping-master has no power to get this evidence, and that he is instructed to go quite outside his functions; and as he is appointed and paid by the Colonial Government, his obedience is due, in the first instance, in that quarter. Meanwhile, does it necessarily follow that the evidence cannot be got at all, and that proper inquiry can now never be made? In common with all the rest of the civilised world, we are interested in having this inquiry as thorough as possible, and it would not be seemly for us, simply because piqued on a point of honour, to set up our backs and refuse to assist, or throw hindrances in the way. Is it not possible for the Governor or the Treasurer so far to modify previous instructions to the Marine Board as to request them to get out all the required evidence?

The Lunacy Act of 1878 made provision to meet a want which had long been felt and often pointed out, namely, the want of some efficient means of collecting from the estates, or from the friends and relatives of insane patients in the public asylums, contributions towards their support. It was well known before the passing of the Act that there were many inmates of those institutions who were wholly, or almost wholly, maintained at the public cost, although they had well-to-do relatives quite able to bear the burden in the whole, or at least in part, or in some cases had property of their own, the profits of which were being enjoyed by other people, instead of being applied to their own maintenance. One portion of the Act in question was framed with the view of remedying this state of things, by placing considerable powers of action in the hands of the Master in Lunacy, and not only enabling him, but making it his business, to act in protection of the interests of the insane, and of the public interest. Mr. Holroyd has shown much zeal in the discharge of this part of his functions, and has achieved a large amount of success. A recent report of his shows that by ferreting out funds belonging to patients in the hospitals, by summoning before him parties interested in their maintenance, and sometimes by threatening legal proceedings against those who had sought to evade their obligations in the matter, he collected and paid into the Treasury during 1881 a sum of £5751, which was an increase of £1215 upon the corresponding collections for 1880. The action of the authorities has in many cases brought to light the fact that patients had money which was available for their maintenance, although they were being kept in hospital as pauper patients. Their right to property was sometimes disclosed by relatives under pressure as a means of saving themselves from obligation to contribute support. In one instance a patient, who was found to be entitled to a sum of money in England, had been kept as a pauper for more than twenty years.

The report shows that the appointment of the Master in Lunacy, with power to assume the guardianship and management of lunatics' affairs, has not only protected the interests of the public, but has also been of great advantage in saving the estates of insane persons from loss and waste, and in facilitating the settlement of difficulties amongst their relatives or friends. These latter purposes are important ones to serve; but it seems specially desirable to direct attention to the matter from the public point of view. We see in the history of the hospitals for the insane an illustration of the liability of public charitable institutions to abuse. There are few classes, if any, in the community with stronger claims for commiseration and sympathy than the insane. There is no class of sufferers in whose behalf there is better reason for the State to interpose, with its unequalled command of resources, for their aid. But at the same time, when the efficient protection and treatment provided by the State are turned to advantage by people of means, there is no case in which the relief so afforded to friends and relatives establishes a more urgent demand for their cheerful contributions in return than the case of the insane. But what has been seen instead? Natural obligations have been ignored, and people who might have been expected, as a matter of common gratitude or even justice, to provide at least some portion of the cost incurred by the State in maintaining and treating their unfortunate friends, have rather turned the misfortunes of the latter to their own profit. The only remedy was to appoint a public officer to look after the public interest, and to arm him with sufficient powers.

Unhappily, the case of the hospitals for the insane does not stand alone as an illustration of the vicious tendency that is corrupting the community and sapping the foundations of our social system. In a hundred forms the persistent effort to thrust personal and private responsibilities upon the State is to be discerned. It seems to be, in fact, the outward evidence of a steadily growing instinct by which the national character is becoming distinguished. Our public charities are continually supplying proofs of its existence and strength, and unfortunately, under the prevailing mode of management, they provide a sort of forcing-ground in which the evil spreads and flourishes. They facilitate this transfer of responsibilities, and the opportunities they offer are eagerly seized. What, for instance, is a greater scandal to these colonies than the number of deserted wives and children seeking and obtaining relief from private charity or the State? It can hardly be doubted that the extreme frequency of this contemptible crime is in a great measure traceable to the knowledge that the deserted families will soon find support—the wife in service, the children from the State. Amongst the other causes are the readiness with which deserters can escape from colony to colony, and the want of some public officer in connection with our charities, not only charged like Mr. Holroyd with the protection of the public interest, but possessed of all necessary powers. Few things are more necessary than reform in the system under which public charity is dispensed, and when the time for undertaking the work comes it will be well to consider how far the principle that has brought out such results in the case of the insane can be extended. Would it not be well in the other charities, as in the hospitals for the insane, to have a public officer or officers who should ferret out attempts to impose upon the bounty of the public, enforce payment from people who can pay and ought to pay, and bring wrongdoers to punishment?

The other day Mr. J. S. Butters, of Melbourne, wrote a letter to the Argus to exculpate himself from certain charges in the matter of Dr. Beaney's election. Rumour said that he had made the election cost £5000 or £6000, and that out of that amount he had paid himself handsomely. He writes a long letter, therefore, to say that the expenses were under £3000, of which he did not receive for himself a penny. It may be an important thing for him to clear his reputation from the fog which had gathered about it; but it is still more important to use his letter, if it can be so used, as an occasion for uttering a remonstrance against the increasing cost of Parliamentary elections everywhere. The cost of the last general election in England ran up to some millions; as many thousands ought to have sufficed. A recent election in Edinburgh cost about £2000; and one at Liverpool cost more than that. In this colony the evil is on the increase; and the latest of our elections must have cost a price which probably no one would care to state publicly. It is said that an electorate which has recently been the scene of a severe contest is becoming so expensive that no candidate can offer himself for one of its seats unless he is prepared to spend his cash without limit and without grudging. All this is bad enough, but it is not alone in its badness. Wherever money has to be so freely spent all other evils incident to popular elections are sure to be found; for where the carcase is the eagles come. Nor is that the worst feature of the case. Wherever such things are done good men are driven out of the field. They may be never so willing to serve their country; but they can hardly be expected to run the gauntlet of all that can be raked out of their past private life or put into it by lawless tongues, to be called upon to defend themselves in reciprocal language, and to pay for it through all manner of persons, who have acted as agents, and who have perhaps taken money from both sides. The Parliament of this country has always suffered from the loss of men who quietly decline the laurels of the arena because they utterly dislike its dust, and probably no Parliament has suffered more than the present. Fortunately, we have a few good men who, if not insensible to hustings criticism, are prepared to endure it for the country's sake; but the number is proportionately less than it ought to be, if not less than it used to be. The evil can be remedied by the electors chiefly, if not entirely. It is for them to shun electioneering corruption, even in its mildest forms. If we must have parties, let them be formed on the lines of a true patriotism both as to measures and men. It should require no corruption and little money to send a good man to Parliament. Let it be understood that a bad article only must cost a heavy price, and perhaps a seat in Parliament may yet be dreaded and despaired of by inferior men, as much as it is now by many men well fitted thus to serve the country. Dr. Beaney must have dreamed much of glory to be so cheerfully willing to pay nearly three thousand guineas for a seat in the Legislative Council for the Province of Melbourne; but it may appear to others that he does not owe his elevation so much to his merits as to his friend who worked 100 days, Sundays and Saturdays, aided by a staff of 20 clerks, 14 hours a day, and to his large account at his bankers. If thus elected, whom does he represent?

Mr. William Bourke, livery stable keeper, is, according to his own account, a highly excitable personage, and if the horses he has to manage are equally excitable and rampageous, he must be a very clever equestrian to be able to manage them. This is his own account of himself and his doings. He is not an ardent politician, for he has never voted in his life, and belongs to no land league. He went to the meeting at the Protestant Hall without any concert with anybody, and purely out of curiosity, and had not read the advertisement calling the meeting. He took no interest in the matter, and was not inside more than three minutes altogether; but he stood on a chair and hissed Mr. Poole, and resisted being pulled down. He certainly soon managed to get the steam up. If men indifferent to politics can, without any concert or outside instigation, get excited in less than three minutes to disturb a meeting which they have attended purely out of curiosity, what may we expect from persons who feel deeply on the subject under discussion, and who have been excited by listening to long and passionate harangues? It is proper, however, to note that other evidence goes to vary Mr. Bourke's testimony. It is to the effect that he entered the meeting with several others with whom he seemed to be in concert, that he was in for some time, that he was hooting as well as hissing, that he was disturbing the meeting, that he was asked civilly to get down and refused, and that on being pulled down he seized a chair and threatened violence that prompted reprisals. It is possible that the excitement he was under confused his perceptions of what he was doing and how long he was about it, and has confused his recollection of the event subsequently. As to Mr. Sparkes, his uncontradicted evidence is to the effect that he was acting under the lawful authority of the proprietors of the Hall, and was enjoined to preserve order, in which case he was justified, if he used persuasion first, and then no more force than was necessary to expel a disorderly person.

We have been accustomed to look with surprise and regret, but still with some measure of self-congratulation, upon the cases of infringement of the Trades Marks Statute so frequently occurring in Melbourne. We may have pitied the sad case of our neighbours, and have reflected with complacency upon our own condition of cleanliness. On Wednesday last, however, a case cropped up which considerably lowers our flag in this respect, and forces us to the confession that there are men in Sydney—business men—who have no objection to sell inferior goods under imitation labels. The firm of Woods and Co. were proved to have been using labels evidently a close imitation of those used by Lorimer, Marwood, and Rome to distinguish a peculiar brand of bottled stout of which they were sole agents. The legal proceeding was not a charge of felony or fraud, but it seems tolerably clear that an attempt was made to pass off upon the public an inferior article, by means of an imitation of a superior brand. The result of the action was to check the practice, so far as this particular case was concerned, to secure to the original proprietors of the original label their own rights, and to protect the public against any further deception in the way of Pig porter. But what has the total quantity of Pig porter drunk in the city to do with the total amount of deception of this kind practised. The one firm has been caught and dealt with! The parties may take warning and repent and live honestly for the future. But how many more are brisk and active in the line? How much whisky wine, beer, sauce, pickles, condiments of all kinds, are daily sold under imitation labels? How many fortunes are built up by the use of these imitation labels, of how much money is the public annually robbed by their aid, and what sort of a bulk of falsehood and fraud does their general or occasional use amongst the mercantile community represent? Perhaps, if as much vigilance were used in Sydney as in Melbourne, something like the same number of injunctions would be issued; and there can be no doubt that the obtaining of those convictions would be a weeding process, beneficial to manufacturer, honest trader, and much-abused consumers.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Communication by cable between Port Darwin and Banjoewangi was restored at noon yesterday. We have received a large batch of messages, which will be found in another page. Regarding Ireland, the news is of great interest. It would appear that the police authorities are almost daily obtaining fresh evidence with respect to the conspiracy to subvert the Government, and which will probably be the means of completely breaking up the secret organisations. Mr. Patrick Egan, treasurer, of the Irish Land League, is said to be compromised by letters found in Carey's house in Dublin. Two dynamite explosions have occurred in London, at the offices of the Local Government Board, and at the Times Office. The outrages are supposed to have been committed by discontented Irish. As regards Madagascar, war between France and the Malagasies appears imminent. The death of Prince Gortschakoff is announced.

Mr. Stuart obtained leave, in the Legislative Assembly yesterday, to introduce a bill to amend the Fisheries Act. The Criminal Law Amendment Bill was further considered in Committee of the Whole. The whole of the remaining clauses to which no objection was raised were agreed to, but a large number of debatable clauses were postponed. The Land Boilers Bill was taken through committee, after which the second reading of the Judges' Salaries and Pensions Bill was moved by Mr. Cohen. After a somewhat protracted discussion the second reading was carried on division of 39 to 5. In Committee of the Whole Mr. Garrett raised the point that the third clause, to provide for an increase in the pensions of Judges who have already retired, was beyond the leave given for the introduction of the bill, inasmuch as they are no longer Judges, and the leave given was only to increase the salaries and pensions of Judges. The point was referred to the Speaker, who sustained the objection, and the clause was consequently withdrawn. Mr. Stuart announced that the Government would deal with the matter either by withdrawing the present bill, and introducing it afresh with proper leave, or by bringing in a separate bill to deal with retired Judges. The other clauses of the bill were agreed to. The bill for increasing the salaries of the District Court Judges and the Commissioner of Insolvent Estates was read the second time, and carried through committee.

The effect of the death of Gambetta in Germany is reviewed by our Berlin correspondent (whose letter appears in another column). Prince Bismarck still adheres to his opinion that a Republic in France is the safest guarantee for peace, as the revival of a monarchy would bring about an attempt to restore French prestige by another war in order to fortify its position. The circular note of Earl Granville on Egypt has been favourably received at Berlin. It is thought that the reinstitution of the former joint control would on no account be supported by the German Government or that of Austria. Notwithstanding the friendly letters that have passed between the Pope and the Emperor, there seems to be some difficulty in the way of a compromise between the Vactican and Germany.

All the people that are at the quarantine station, North Head, will be brought up to town some time today. There are upwards of 200 persons there, comprising the passengers and crew of the steamship Menmuir, and they are all pronounced to be well. Of course, the Chinese on the Faraway will not be released, as their destination is Queensland; they will be kept on board until the E. and A. Company's steamer leaves for Hongkong, via Queensland ports. The patients at the Coast Hospital, Little Bay, are all progressing towards health; they are now up and moving about.

The private view of the Art Society's third exhibition at the Town Hall will be available this afternoon to those who have received invitations, to the members of the Art Society, and to the contributors to the Art Union, the prizes in which (some 34, ranging from 50 guineas to two guineas) will be drawn during the afternoon. We understand about 400 pictures will be on view, so that the afternoon should be an interesting one to those who visit the exhibition. The public will be admitted on Monday next, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., and in the evening from 7 to 10 o'clock, and at the same hours daily during the week.

In the Supreme Court yesterday the trespass action of Evans v. Gunning and the cross action were settled. The hearing of the libel action, Williams v. Whyte, was concluded, the jury finding for the defendant. Muston v. Smith was part heard, when the court adjourned. His Honor Mr. Justice Faucett took general Equity business yesterday morning, and in the afternoon he continued the hearing of the Temora mining case, Bourke v. Wright and another. The learned counsel for the plaintiff had not finished their arguments when the court adjourned.

The following is a return of the amount of revenue derived from the Glebe Island abattoirs during the year 1882, taken from a paper published by order of Parliament:—Slaughtering fees, £2849 8s. 7d.; rent of abattoirs, £3161 18s. 4d.; sale of manure, &c., £1193 12s. 3d.; total, £7204 19s. 2d.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Nicholas Weekes, grand secretary Grand Lodge of New South Wales, left for a trip to the old country by the Orient liner Cephalonia. The steam launch Eagle, chartered by his friends, had on board about 40 gentlemen, including a number of deputy grand masters, besides several ladies and the guest of the day himself, and they left the Circular Quay shortly after half-past 2. The Eagle first proceeded round the Austral, and then steamed down to the Cephalonia, which was lying below Garden Island. The health of the departing brother was drunk in bumpers, and after warm wishes that Mr. Weekes might have a speedy and pleasant voyage to the old country, and that he might be soon back again, had been expressed, Mr. Weekes went on board the Cephalonia, which was crowded with passengers. When the vessel left her moorings the Eagle accompanied her down the bay, the brass band on board played suitable selections of music, and cheering was frequent.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the Trade Defence Association of New South Wales was held at the office of the association on Friday last, Mr. T. F. Thompson, vice-president, in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was then taken for 10 joining members, who were duly admitted as members of the association. The names of several members desirous of joining were then read out by the secretary, to be balloted for at the next meeting. A number of accounts were passed, and ordered to be paid. The Amended Licensing Bill was then fully discussed, and it was the generally expressed opinion that, with one or two additions and alterations, the measure should give satisfaction. It was considered that Part III. should include grocers with all other holders of wholesale licenses, and prevent them selling or delivering less than two gallons of any one "liquor at the one time," as under the present Act they were selling "single bottles," and it was not fair to the retailers. It was also considered that a new clause should be added, empowering "hotelkeepers to sell and dispose of goods and chattels of persons who have left the hotels without liquidating their hotel liabilities," say at the expiration of "three months," as a number of hotelkeepers were in possession of property which they had had a considerable period, and had no power to dispose of it. There being no further business, the meeting terminated.

A correspondent writes to suggest that the Postal Act should be amended so that unclaimed letters could be returned to the sender, without remaining in the Dead Letter Office for three months, as at present required. We are informed that the matter has already been under the consideration of the Postmaster-General, who has it in contemplation to amend this as well as other anomalies in the present system.

An accident took place yesterday on the tramway, resulting in serious injury to a little girl named Annie Harris, seven years of age, residing at Botany-road. It appears that she was crossing the line about 2 p.m. on her way to school, when a tram struck her, knocked her down, and ran over her right arm, producing a compound comminated fracture of the arm, and crushing the bones at the elbow joint. She was taken to the hospital, where it was found necessary to resort to amputation. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. Tarrant, assisted by the resident staff. In addition to the injury to the arm, the sufferer was found to have a contusion on the forehead and a bruise on the left knee.

Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, a boy named John T. O'Reilly was taken to the hospital suffering from an injury to his hip. He had been riding in a cart near Darlinghurst, when the axle-tree broke, and he was thrown out. He was admitted. A little fellow 5 years old, named Arthur Davis, was brought to the institution in the afternoon, said to have been run over by a van; but as he did not appear to be much injured, he was taken home by his friends.

A woman named Sarah Paddington went to the hospital last night with two wounds on the right temple one about two inches long down to the bone, the other a little less than an inch in length, cutting the anterior temporal artery. She had lost a lot of blood, and stated that she had been struck by a woman with a jam jar. The wounds were dressed, and she went away home.

At the Picton Arms Hotel, yesterday, a lodger named George Davies, who followed the avocation of a miner, and was about 40 years of age, was found dead in his bed by the licensee, Mr. Jenkins. On the afternoon of the 15th instant the deceased was found in Belmore Park by Sergeant Bell, and as he complained of feeling unwell, he was taken to the hospital, where he was seen by Dr. Sinclair. He then complained of having received an injury to his hip through slipping down; but when Dr. Sinclair examined him he failed to find injuries so severe as to warrant the detention of Davies in the hospital. Dr. Sinclair then recommended him to obtain an order to see the hon. surgeon of the hospital on the following day if his hip were not better, and he afterwards left. An inquest will take place this morning.

Wine-making (says the Wagga Advertiser of Tuesday) commenced nine days ago at the Lake Albert vineyard, where the pickers are in full swing. The average yield looks much better than it did a year ago, and there appears to be a much heavier yield of grapes, so much so that Mr. Seckold anticipates making 7000 gallons of wine this year, when during the richest season yet known in these parts, the Lake Albert vineyard produced 10,000 gallons.

We gather from the Times of the 18th of January the decision of a case of considerable interest to the mercantile community. The whole report is too long for our columns. The Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China had sued the Netherlands-India Steam Navigation Company, Limited, in respect of goods shipped on board the defendant's vessel, the Willem Kroon Prins der Nederlander, under a bill of lading, which contained an exception of, among other things, "collision" and "accidents, loss, or damage from any act, neglect, or default whatsoever of the pilots, master, or mariners, or other servants of the company, in navigating the ship." In the course of the voyage the Kroon Prins came into collision with another vessel of the defendants, the Atjeh. The jury found that the collision was due to negligence, for which the Atjeh was mainly in fault; but the Kroon Prins was also, in some degree, to blame. Upon motion in the Queen's Bench division to enter judgment, it was held by Pollock, B., and Manisty, and Stephen, J. S., that the defendants were liable for the whole loss. Upon the hearing by the Court of Appeal, Lords Justices Brett, Baggallay, and Lindley held that the defendants were absolved by their bill of lading from loss so far as the collision was due to the Kroon Prins, but that they were responsible as owners of the Atjeh, against which ship's negligence the word "collision" in the bill of lading of the Kroon Prins, the carrying ship, did not protect them. Lord Justice Brett said that "if, in such a case, the two ships belonged to different owners, each of the owners would have to pay half the loss. The defendants were relieved by the conditions of the bill of lading from that half of the loss which would otherwise have fallen on them as owners of the Kroon Prins, but they were not relieved from the other half, for which they were liable in consequence of the negligence of their servants on board the Atjeh. His Lordship added that if shipowners were to venture to draw up bills of lading in such a form as to absolve themselves from liability for loss occasioned by their personal negligence, and it was found that shippers of goods could not resist this, the shipowners would assuredly be met by an Act of Parliament just as railway companies had been."

Imprisonment (observes St. James' Gazette) is no doubt a disagreeable punishment to many lawbreakers, but there are a vast number of habitual criminals upon whom it appears to exercise no deterrent effect whatever. A man blessed with this happy temperament, by name John Farrell, described as a forgeman, was sent to prison for three months by the magistrates at Newcastle-under-Lyme for having committed an aggravated assault upon his wife, whom he kicked most brutally. It was stated by the chief constable that Farrell had been convicted on no fewer than 45 previous occasions, and that his punishment costs upon the county and borough amounted to £546 19s., exclusive of railway fares. Under these circumstances it is worth consideration whether some compromise might not with advantage be effected with Farrell by paying him a small annuity on condition that he will put the country and borough to no more expense by ceasing to commit offences which render his prosecution unavoidable. In the meantime there can be little doubt that the substitution of flogging for imprisonment as a punishment for persistent evil-doers would not only effect a great saving of money, but also invest the law with a terror it frequently fails to inspire under existing arrangements. Farrell does not mind going to prison 45 times, but he would strongly object to 45 floggings. The idea, however, of flogging Farrell is too painful to be seriously entertained.

The following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral for to-morrow, the Sunday before Easter:—Services, Kempton; anthem, "O Saviour of the World," Sir John Goss.

The school teachers under the Department of Public Instruction intend holding a picnic at Clontarf on Saturday, 31st instant.

IRISH AFFAIRS.

[By Cable.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, March 9.

Patrick Egan, the treasurer of the Irish National Land League, is now in France again. Byrne, who had been arrested in France on suspicion of complicity in the Dublin assassinations, has been released, the British authorities not having produced sufficient evidence to satisfy the French Government.

Egan has been compromised by letters found in Carey's house.

March 13.

Egan has vested the funds of the Irish National Land League in Messrs. Parnell, Biggar, and Justin M'Carthy.

Mr. Parnell, the leader of the Irish Nationalists, has refused to accept the money subscribed to clear his estates.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

PARIS, March 9.

Despite the evidence produced by the British Government tending to prove the complicity of Byrne in the Irish outrages, the French Government released him yesterday.

LONDON, March 9.

According to further evidence which has been adduced, it appears that the knives used by the Phœnix Park assassins were thrown in the Canal at Dublin, whence they were recovered through the evidence of Kavanagh and Molloy.

An arrest was made to-day of a man who is believed to be closely connected with the despatch of an explosive to Earl Spencer through the Post-office at Ballydehob.

Mr. Parnell is announced to visit the United States. His visit will extend from Easter to Whitsuntide.

March 10.

The discovery has been made by the Dublin police, of knives which are believed to have been used in murders in Ireland other than the Phœnix Park tragedies. Further inquiries are on foot.

March 14.

In the House of Commons to-day, Mr. Parnell moved an amendment on the Land Act of last year. Mr. Gladstone refused to sanction any further legislation, and the amendment was rejected by 250 to 63.

March 15.

A terrific explosion of dynamite, which is believed to be directly traceable to the secret societies of Ireland, took place last evening at the offices of the Local Government Board, facing Whitehall, and adjoining Downing-street. The force of the explosion was such that the offices, several in number, were completely wrecked. Great damage was also caused to the buildings in the vicinity. Thousands of windows were broken. Fortunately very few persons were about at the time. So far as is known no one was injured. Suspicions having fallen upon a man seen in the neighbourhood, he has been arrested by the police. The outrage is supposed to have been committed as a direct act of vengeance for the rejection of the amendment to the Irish Land Act introduced by Mr. Parnell into the House of Commons on the 14th instant. The greatest excitement was caused in London, and the scene of the explosion was visited by thousands of persons to-night.

About the same hour that the explosion of dynamite took place at Whitehall last night, another explosion occurred at the Times Office, Printing-house-square, Blackfriars. A box containing dynamite was introduced into the premises, but though it exploded no material damage ensued. No doubt exists that the same persons are implicated in both outrages.

WASHINGTON, March 11.

It is believed at Washington that England has renounced the demand for the extradition of Sheridan, the American Land Leaguer.

NEW YORK, March 14.

Patrick Egan, who recently disappeared, and who was accused of the misappropriation of the funds of the League, has arrived here. He has published a statement indignantly denying that he fled, or that he employed the funds, and repudiates all complicity in the outrages.

March 15.

It is understood that the object of Patrick Egan's visit to America is to confer with the Irish American leaders of the Land League.

FRANCE AND MADAGASCAR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, March 9.

The condition of affairs in Madagascar is most critical. The Malagsies will retire into the interior if Tamatave, the capital, is attacked by the French. The natives are exasperated, and a general massacre of foreigners is feared.

March 14.

The Queen of Madagascar has appealed to England and Germany to prevent the bombardment of Tamatave by the French.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, March 13.

News has been received from South Africa that H.M.S. Dryad, belonging to the Indian station, has arrived at Tamatave to protect British interests there.

Sir F. Herschell, Solicitor-General, presided at the annual dinner of the North of England Commercial Travellers' Association at Newcastle. Responding for "The Houses of Parliament," he remarked that everything we could say of the Commons might be supplemented by saying the reverse of the Lords. For instance, it costs a good deal to get into the Lower House and nothing into the Upper; the Lords went to bed early and the Commons late; in the Lords they talked little and in the Commons they talked much. Some people said the Commons went too fast: nobody could say that of the House of Lords.

AFFAIRS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC.

LONDON, March 14.

Sir John Gorrie, late Chief Justice of Fiji, read a paper before the Colonial Institute on Fijian affairs. A discussion followed, in which several colonial representatives took part. Sir Arthur Gordon contrasted the treatment by the governing authorities of the natives of Fiji and those of New Zealand, and contended that if the system under which the natives are allowed to dwell in communities were destroyed, bloodshed would shortly be the result. It was unlikely that the other groups of islands in the South Pacific would solicit annexation, and in the absence of any express desire for annexation, it would be absurd for the Imperial Government to interfere. The Hon. Thomas Archer, acting Agent-General for Queensland, warmly defended the action of the Government of that colony in regard to the cruelty of the sugar planters towards the Kanakas.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

LONDON, March 15.

Sir Arthur Blyth, Agent-General for South Australia, has presented to the Prince of Wales the donation of £3000 given by Sir Thomas Elder towards the scholarship fund in connection with the Royal College of Music. His Royal Highness, in acknowledging the gift, expressed the hope that other wealthy colonists would follow the example set by Sir Thomas Elder.

DEATH OF PRINCE GORTSCHAKOFF.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 12.

The death is announced of Prince Gortschakoff, the Russian Chancellor, at the age of 85.

An inquest was opened on the remains of the late Prince Gortschakoff, who died suddenly yesterday. Suspicions are entertained that he was poisoned. The whole evidence is not complete, and the inquiry has been adjourned.

March 15.

It is generally considered as certain that Prince Gortschakoff, the Russian Chancellor, whose death was announced on the 12th instant, was poisoned in his own house at the hands of his German mistress.

SOCIALIST DISTURBANCE IN PARIS.

PARIS, March 9.

A Socialist disturbance took place in the city to-day. Five thousand persons assembled in the Place des Invalides, but the police dispersed the crowd, and several persons were arrested. Louise Michel, the notorious female Communist, was among those arrested.

MARCH 10.

Nineteen persons, who were arrested on the 9th instant for taking part in the anarchist disturbances, have been sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. Excitement prevails among the Socialists, and a renewal of the riots is threatened.

MARCH 11.

The statement that Louis Michel was arrested is incorrect. A warrant was issued to-day.

An attempt was made to-day to renew the rioting; a large number of Socialists and Communists assembled in the streets. The Government ordered out the police and military, whereupon the the crowd dispersed. Fifteen more arrests were made.

ALLEGED ATTROCITIES BY THE BOERS.

LONDON, MARCH 10.

In the House of Commons last night a question was put to the Government in reference to the alleged atrocities committed by the Boers on the natives of the Transvaal. Mr. Gladstone, in reply, stated that the report had been brought under the notice of the Government, who were giving the matter their serious attention.

MARCH 12.

A Cabinet meeting was held yesterday, at which it was resolved to take measures for the protection of the natives of the Transvaal from the oppression of the Dutch Boers.

MARCH 14.

In the House of Lords last night, the Earl of Derby stated, on behalf of the Government that they would only remonstrate with the Boers for their excesses, and not have recourse to more active measures. He pointed out that the cost of even a small expedition would exceed the total value of the land under British protection, and urged that only extreme necessity would justify the use of force.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The Excise Department continue to prosecute publicans for infringing the Trades Marks Statute. At Collingwood to-day, three publicans were fined for placing inferior spirits in bottles bearing labels of favourite manufacturers.

Mr. Berry addresses the electors of Geelong on Monday evening.

The Central Board of Health, acting in conjunction with Mr. G. Coppin, M.L.A., have taken steps towards having an amended Public Health Act, which had been drafted some years, submitted to Parliament during the current session. The measure will deal effectually with the back slums of the city. Mr. Service, in addressing his constituents at Castlemaine, last night, announced that the Government will assist in passing the measure.

An insolvent, named A. H. M'Intyre, an estate agent, was guilty of such gross prevarication whilst under examination to-day that, after repeated warnings, Judge Noel committed him to gaol for seven days.

Favourable replies to the proposal of the Victorian Government, that a conference should be held to discuss the question as to the desirability of the Australian colonies joining a universal postal union; have been received from Tasmania, Queensland, and South Australia. The Government of Western Australia has also signified its willingness to join the union, if New South Wales and New Zealand agree to send delegates, and that action be at once commenced. One of the subjects to be considered would be an arrangement by each colony to pay a proportional share of the subsidy of £85,000 per annum paid to the P. and O. Company.

The departmental board appointed to report on the competitive designs received for the new railway stations at Spencer-street and at Flinders-street respectively, held its first meeting to-day, when the designs received were opened. For the Flinders-street station 10 designs were received, and 9 for Spencer-street.

To-morrow will be the last day for receiving nominations for the Ministerial elections. Mr. Alfred Deakin, the Commissioner for Public Works, is the only Minister against whom any opposition has yet been brought.

An inquest was held to-day on the body of a girl named Edith Hawkins, who was killed yesterday at the Inkerman-street crossing on the Brighton railway. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, a rider being added, calling the attention of the Minister to the extremely insecure condition of the crossing in question.

An action brought by Waddington against Dunning for £23, alleged to be due to plaintiff for photographing the characters in the opera of "Boccaccio," which claim was twice dismissed in the Police Court, was brought before the County Court this morning, when the plaintiff was nonsuited, with £12 12s costs.

The City Council will on Monday next consider a recommendation from the public works committee, that an offer made by Julius Vogel for an experimental lighting of Elizabeth-street by electricity for six months, be accepted. The estimated cost is £520 in excess of the present cost of gas, but this amount includes the cost of erecting an engine and shed, &c.

St. Patrick's Day will be celebrated to-morrow by a monster demonstration, under the auspices of the Hibernian Society. There will be a procession through the principal streets to the Friendly Societies' Gardens, where sports will be held. The annual dinner will take place on Monday evening in St. Patrick's Hall. In the evening a grand national concert will be given in the Town Hall.

A lad named August L'Estrange, nine years of age, son of the late Joseph L'Estrange, of the Crown Lands Office, was accidentally shot by his brother, 11 years of age, whilst playing with a loaded gun, of which the children had surreptitiously obtained possession.

At the Central Criminal Court, a middle-aged man named George Mottram was charged with obtaining money by false pretences. He was found guilty. Prisoner acknowledged to several previous convictions for similar offences.

At a meeting of Constitutionalists held to-day at Fitzroy it was agreed not to oppose the re election of Mr. A. L. Tucker, Minister for Crown Lands.

The Premier, with several of his colleagues and some members of Parliament who attended Mr. Service's meeting at Castlemaine last night, visited the Harcourt granite quarries to-day, and returned to the city in the afternoon.

Mr. J. R. Rose, who is retiring from the management of the Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, has accepted a seat at the Australasian board of the company; and Mr. W. R. M'Comas, the submanager, has been appointed to the vacant position.

The annual Fire Brigades' Demonstration, which was the most successful affair of the kind yet held in the colony, was brought to a conclusion at Sandhurst to-day. The engine practice was won by the Sandhurst City Brigade, the Corowa (New South Wales) being second: Ballarat was third. The Carlton Brewery Brigade won the representative race, and also got the first prize for best average time, besides having won the three principal hose competitions at the demonstration. The prizes were delivered by the Mayor at the local Town Hall this evening. A majority of the firemen return home to-morrow.

The executive committee of the Victorian Alliance have made arrangements for continuing the agitation in favour of local option throughout the colony.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, FRIDAY.

His Excellency the Governor and the Chief Secretary leave Adelaide on Monday for the south-east to open the Naracoorte and Border Town Railway. Two banquets have been arranged for the occasion, and several members of Parliament invited.

At Port Adelaide, Herr von Trever, who recently resigned the position of Consul for Germany, was presented by the German colonists with a portrait of himself. He had occupied the position for 17 years.

An action was brought by Joe Brunt against White, the champion skittle player, for £200 damages, for breach of agreement. Plaintiff and defendant had dissolved partnership. In their agreement defendant was not to engage in a similar business for five years, under a penalty of £200. Before the expiration of the term he had managed a similar business for Roberts, of Tattersall's Hotel, at a weekly salary. Judge Andrews held that was a breach of the agreement, and gave plaintiff a verdict for the amount claimed as liquidated damages.

Thow, writes, referring to a paragraph in the Argus respecting the brake question, and says that the paper does not seem to have got beyond trial results or surface comprehension of the evidence. Woods' brake was not a failure, because the hose pipe was not sufficiently long for play of the drawbars of carriages. By lengthening the flexible hose pipes and by strengthening the drawbar springs, such accidents as collisions could be prevented. This evidence was, it is said, used by the Argus against the engineman, and was obtained by the board when inquiring into the cause of what at first seemed the erratic action of the Westinghouse brake, and this evidence taken satisfied the board that such unusual action was not due to any fault of that brake beyond control.

MR. SERVICE AT CASTLEMAINE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The Premier, Mr. Service, announced the Ministerial programme before a large meeting of his constituents at Castlemaine yesterday evening. The Mayor, Mr. Adams, occupied the chair, and four of Mr. Service's colleagues in the Ministry were present, namely, Messrs. Deakin, Langridge, Levien, and Tucker, and also Mr. Patterson, who is Mr. Service's colleague in the representation of Castlemaine, and several other members of Parliament. Mr. Service was warmly received. Referring to the formation of the Coalition Government, he said that the result of the recent general election was that the Constitutional members of the Assembly numbered 38, whilst Mr. Berry's party numbered 32, and the Ministerialist about 15; neither party were able to form a Ministry, and a Coalition was inevitable. He denied that the alliance was unholy, and those who termed it so formed a similar alliance 18 months ago. He was delighted to see the wall of parties broken down, for it resulted in a united progressive party. The present Government would be liberal and progressive. They would endeavour to abolish political patronage, bring in a bill for the reform of the Civil Service, and construct new railway lines as fast as the finances would allow. Means would be taken to reclaim the waste lands, particularly the mallee country, and to stimulate the capitalist by granting a reasonable tenure. Water supply would be extended. The Ministry would endeavour to pass a bill to legalise mining on private property, and he thought it was desirable that miners should form accident societies, whose funds would be supplemented by the State. Amongst other measures he promised a bill to amend the Harbour Trust, and an amending Local Government Bill would be introduced. Postal union was indispensable. A uniform rate obtained in Europe and America, and it was desirable that Australia should be included. All possible means of promoting federation would be adopted by the Ministry. The prospect of passing such practical measures ought to satisfy all parties. The Constitutional party had authorised him with one accord to coalesce with Mr. Berry, and he deprecated any opposition to the re-election of any of his colleagues, as an attack on one was an attack on the whole Ministry. He claimed the support of all Constitutionalists. A vote of confidence was moved and seconded, and was supported by Mr. Patterson, who recommended that the Coalition Government should have a trial, on the ground that the patient being very ill it was necessary to call in both doctors. Each of the four other Ministers present addressed the meeting, and were well received. The vote was carried.

THE RAILWAY COLLISION AT CLUNES.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The Commissioner of Railways has received the official reports in connection with the railway collision at Clunes yesterday. It appears that the acting porter, Blackie, who was at the points when the accident occurred, fully admits his culpability. Blackie states:—"After assisting in releasing the passengers from the Ballarat train which was standing at the platform—the train from Maryborough being due—I walked to the semaphore lever and gave the 'all right' signal. I went to the points to steady them, they being facing points; but by some terrible calamity I held them for the platform siding. I saw my error when too late, and, to make the collision as light as possible, I let the points go, and threw the latter part of the train on to the straight road. I have been here little over seven weeks, and have endeavoured to do my duty, and now through one second's want of thought I have undone all." The Locomotive Superintendent in his report states that Blackie after making the mistake did all he could to avert the accident, but was unable to succeed owing to the points being too close to the street, being distant only 290 feet from the end of the platform. The line repairers have been engaged all day at Clunes repairing the damage done to the permanent way by the carriages and van forming the back portion of the train being thrown off the line, when Blackie, upon discovering the mistake he had made, threw the points back again. It is stated that the officials at the Clunes station are greatly overworked. On the day preceding the accident Blackie commenced to work at 7 o'clock in the morning, and did not finish his duties until 1.30 on the morning of the accident, and he had resumed duty again at 8 a.m. Four sufferers remain in the Clunes hospital. The lad Hawkins who was injured is now much better. The remainder of the passengers are progressing favourably, though some are still suffering from severe shock.

ACTIONS AGAINST THE VICTORIAN GOVERNMENT.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

An action brought against the Board of Lands and Works by a girl named Laura Evelyn Brown, who sustained a fracture of her leg and other injuries in the recent Hawthorn railway collision, was compromised to-day by the sum of £550—being the amount of a verdict entered by consent.

A bank clerk, named Frederick Leonard, who claimed £500 damages for injury to his spine, obtained a verdict for £258.

John Laurence, who was employed in the soft goods trade, and who, it was alleged, was suffering from shock to his system, and showed symptoms of paralysis obtained a verdict for £768 10s.

Thomas Rumsley, a bank clerk, was awarded £165.

The claim against the board preferred by A. Brander was settled by the Government agreeing to pay plaintiff £75.

W. J. Littlewood, a tea tester, sued the Government for £5000 damages for injuries to his spine and shock, owing to which he had been obliged to give up his employment, and was now unable to act as a tea tester. He was awarded a verdict for £1700.

SINGULAR ACTION FOR LIBEL.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

A curious libel action was commenced in the Supreme Court to-day before his Honor Mr. Justice Holroyd. The late minister of the Melbourne Hebrew congregation, Dr. Jacobson, D.D., sued Julius Matthews, a member of the congregation, for £5000 damages, for an alleged libel contained in a letter through which the plaintiff alleges he lost his appointment as Rabbi. The letter stated that plaintiff wrongly promised to make a proselyte Jew, and marry, according to the Jewish ritual, one Mr. George, son-in-law of Mr. Jos. Jones, who is also a member of the congregation, for the sum of £50; and that Dr. Jacobson had not kept his word by solemnising the marriage, and that he had falsely alleged that he had received only £2 instead of £25. It transpired that the origin of the case was the secret marriage before a registrar of the daughter of Joseph Jones, who on hearing of the union was most anxious that his daughter's husband, George, should be received into the Judaic faith. Plaintiff denied all defendant's allegations, except that he had asked to be paid, and had received £25 in addition to a previous gift of £2 upon consideration when the alleged act of proselytism was performed. The examination of the plaintiff had not been entered upon when the Court adjourned till Monday.

ANOTHER POLITICAL PARTY IN VICTORIA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

A private meeting, convened by circular signed by Mr. Thomas Bent, late Minister for Railways, was held yesterday to consider what steps should be taken to oppose the Service-Berry coalition. About 120 were present, Mr. Bent presiding. A league called the National Liberal League was formed to oppose the new Ministers, to provide candidates for the various electorates represented by the Ministers, and ensure a full representation of the national party in Parliament by contesting seats as vacancies occur. Messrs. Bent and M'Intyre, M's.L.A., were appointed joint treasurers. The latter was not present at the meeting. Subscriptions were promised on a liberal scale. Amongst the speakers were Messrs. D. and W. Gaunson and Graves, late Commissioner of Customs.

BEGA AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BEGA, FRIDAY.

The Bega Agricultural Show was continued to-day, when there were nearly as many visitors present as yesterday. The weather was fine and agreeable. The entrance money at the gate amounted to £82, being only £5 less than was taken the first day.

The awards in the farm produce and dairy sections were made early in the day, and the following prizes were given:—Henry Otton, of Brogo Vale, took Nelson Hewlett silver cup and the first money prize, for cheese; Henry Wren, of Opura, was second; Mr. Black, of Ayrdale, was third. Salter's cheese trophy, in various sizes, was greatly admired. For butter James Osborne, of Wolumla, took first prize; Robert Moore, of Meringlo, second and third. Bacon and Hams: There were only two exhibits, the season being too far advanced. Ritchie took the first prize for fresh butter; Whiteley, second. Collection of Fruit: Casper Hergenhan first. Collection of Vegetables: John Hergenhan.

Maize, shelled and in cob: Jauncey. Potatoes: Downs' special prize, Jauncey. Horses: Hubert 1st for blood stallions, Lady Belmore for mares. Ladies Hacks: Otton's Whist. Gent.'s Hacks: Newton's Thornhopper. Best four-in-hand: Wren first. Ditto Ponies: Wallace, of Braidwood, who took a prize for a pair of ponies, first; Connelly, second. Carriage Horses, pair: Allan. Buggy Horses, pair: Jamp's Lucifer.

In cattle, the exhibits were not so good as in previous years. Duke of Alva took the first and champion prizes, and Rodney 53rd the district bred prize. Ennice exhibited the best cow (with two heifers). Prizes were also taken by Wren, of Tarragonda. For a pen of dairy heifers, J. W. Hammond took the first with five roans. Alcock and Otton exhibited some fine bulls. For fat cows, Wren first. For fat bullocks, Wren. For pigs, Kirkland 1, and Whiteley. For medium dogs, the Candelo Coursing Club's prize was won by Hibburd, Cook second.

The show throughout was pronounced a thorough success.

FERNMOUNT AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

FERNMOUNT, FRIDAY.

The agricultural show opened to-day, and was a great success. There were about 500 people present. The weather was beautiful. The entries were numerous, especially in live stock. Everything passed off well and pleasantly. There are a great many visitors to the show in town. The usual banquet was held to-night, and was well attended.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.

The Customs revenue for the past week was £1646 7s. 11d.

Edward King, who accidentally cut his throat at Wickham yesterday, is progressing favourably under the care of Dr. Ashe.

The city has just received an unwelcome but numerous body of visitors in the shape of a host of Norwegian rats, which have escaped from a vessel in the harbour. Many of these vermin have been caught in the city. They average more than a foot in length, and are large in proportion.

The weather is still excessively hot.

ORANGE, FRIDAY.

Mr. Redmond, M.P., left by mail train last night for Sydney.

NOWRA, FRIDAY.

Mr. Pitman, geological surveyor of the Department of Mines, has been surveying Yalwall goldfield during the week, to report on.

A special general meeting of the members of the Agricultural and Horticultural Association of Shoalhaven has been convened for next Tuesday, for the purpose of rescinding a resolution passed at the last meeting to ballot for trustees for the grant of land, and for electing trustees by open vote.

An important industry, in the collection of grass tree trunks (in which the cost of the land hereabouts has increased), is being developed, under the management of Sydney employers. There are now over 100 men employed. The trunks are first pulverised, and then are sent to Sydney in bags, and then from them a marketable rosin is extracted. The men thus employed earn from £3 to £4 per week.

There is a great scarcity of agricultural labourers and female servants in this locality, as well as a dearth of skilled labourers for the building trades, and employers here hope the immigration vote will have the effect of introducing a large supply of workmen.

GOULBURN, FRIDAY.

The District Court opened here to-day. Mr. Pilcher, instructed by Mr. Roberts, appeared in defence of Joseph Riley, of Mittagong, charged with perjury, who was acquitted.

The weather is fine and warm.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

"Henry V." will be repeated at the Theatre Royal for about six nights longer, and will be succeeded by "The Romany Rye," which is to be produced in very fine style. "The Strategist" at the Opera House is still so very successful that it will not be taken off for some time to come.

"Hamlet" was produced at the Gaiety Theatre last night, and the performance gratified a very large audience, who evinced their satisfaction by frequent applause, and by recalling at the close of each act the Hamlet—Mr. W. E. Sheridan. From first to last Mr. Sheridan was impressive, and in the different soliloquies he was intensely so, for though he is not at present absolutely letter perfect in the text—having last night made one or two slips—he nevertheless has so ably analysed the character, and gives such an intelligent and forcible reading of it, that no one could fail to be interested by his performance. He seems to follow Hamlet's own advice to the player; and though every gesture he makes, and every word he speaks is full of passion, this passion is controlled and repressed, and thus becomes all the more powerful. His Hamlet is a thoroughly natural one; and it is to be regretted that we have not before this had the opportunity of seeing it. Miss Louise Davenport was Ophelia, Miss M. A. Melville Queen Gertrude, Mr. J. H. Rainford the Ghost, Mr. Oates Laertes, Mr. J. Gaynor King Claudius, and Mr. J. Stark Polonius. "Hamlet" will be repeated to-night; "The Marble Heart" will be introduced on Monday night; and on Tuesday evening Mr. Frank Oates will take a benefit, and will play Iago to Mr. Sheridan's Othello.

"The Great Hibernicon, or Mirror of Ireland," will be shown to-night at the Academy of Music, 10 variety artists being engaged in the representation.

THE NELSON'S BAND IN THE GARDENS.

The band of H.M.S. Nelson will perform the following selection of music in the Botanic Gardens on Monday afternoon, from 4 to 6 p.m., under the conductorship of Mr. G. Daley, bandmaster:—March, "Patience," Sullivan; overture, "Crown Diamonds," Auber; lancers, "Rip Van Winkle," Planquette; selection, "La Fille du Tambour Major," Offenbach; waltz, "Gloire de Dijon," Andrew; selection, "Faust," Gounod; glee, "Red Cross Knight," Callcott; "The Queen." On Monday, when the Nelson's band was playing, a number of roughs collected round, and by their disorderly conduct made matters very unpleasant both for the band and those who had gone to enjoy the excellent music. It will be a matter of great regret if anything should occur that would drive the bands from the Gardens, as the public would be deprived of what now proves a great source of pleasure. We may remark that people would conduce to the comfort of the performers by not crowding too near them; it would also add to the enjoyment of those who keep at a reasonable distance by enabling them to hear the music much better.

It is rumoured that efforts are being made to secure a repetition of the concert arranged and given at Manly Beach by Mrs. H. R. Woods and members of the Fitzstubbs family in Sydney, the laudable object being the Kendall Fund. There is a special fitness in the idea of this musical family exercising their talents for the benefit of the children of Australia's first poet; and the entertainment of itself is sufficiently meritorious to obtain support apart from any definite object.

OVERLAND PASSENGER TRAFFIC

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

ALBURY, FRIDAY.

The following passed through to-day:—

Urquhart, S. Skellet, J. Skellet, A. A. Joske, R. J. Pope, G. W. Lincoln, J. C. W. Nicholson, H. R. Murray, J. Bradbury.

For Sydney: Messrs. J. Colahon, Gellin, J. Martin, Morpheit, Littler, Bennett, H. H. Donkin, Conran, A. Forsyth, J. J Turner, Henderson, L. Bent, R. Fraser, J. Jones, and B. Smith, Mr. Angus and 4 ladies, Mr. Morphett and 2 ladies, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Misses King (4).

RUSSIAN PRISONS.

Prince Krapotkine lately wrote a paper in the Nineteenth Century on Russian prisons, and he proves, from the annual report of the Ministry of Justice, that of 99,664 arrests made during 1876 only 37,159 cases were brought before a Court, and of these 12,612 resulted in acquittal. More than 75,000 persons were arrested on frivolous charges, and of the 24,547 who were actually convicted about 15 per cent. were accused of neglecting to comply with the passport regulations or of similar offences. These 100,000 "suspects," the great majority of whom were innocent, were doomed to remain for months, many of them even for years, in the provincial lockups, or ostrogs, where they were "at the mercy of a set of omnipotent gaolers, packed like herrings in a cask, in rooms of inconceivable foulness, in an atmosphere that sickens, even to insensibility, anyone entering "directly from the open air." The monstrous overcrowding of these filthy dens is proved from the official statistics for 1879, when there were 70,488 cases awaiting trial and an aggregate maximum capacity of the prisons for 54,253 souls. The frightful mortality rate is evinced by a declaration in a sermon preached by the priest of Kharkoff prison to the effect that of 500 inmates, 200 died from scurvy in the course of four months. The horrors of prison life are illustrated by recitals like Mme. Koutouzoff's, which kindle a glow of righteous indignation in the cheeks of any reader with anything warmer than ice-water in his veins. This woman was convicted of the technical offence of opening a school for peasants' children without authority from the Ministry of Public Instruction. As her husband was a foreigner, and her offence was not penal, she was sentenced to expulsion from the frontier. The journey from St. Petersburg to the Prussian line occupied about two months, during which she experienced in the town lock-ups horrors indescribable. Forced to stand for hours in an open courtyard under a drenching rain, brutally insulted by soldiers and keepers, dependent upon murderesses and prostitutes for food and protection, marching four days at a time with bleeding feet, sleeping in overcrowded rooms no better than sewers, dragged into prisons where men amused themselves by tormenting maniacs and drunken women, and finally escaping through the venality of her gaolers, this helpless schoolmistress is an unimpeachable witness of the revolting degradation and heartrending sufferings to which Russian prisoners are subjected. To her testimony is added in Prince Krapotkine's article a great array of evidence from many sources, bearing mainly upon the protracted duration of preliminary detention, the herding of hundreds of prisoners in small rooms, the immorality and venality of gaolers, the cruelties of discipline, solitary confinement, and starvation diet, and the futility of all attempts on the part of honest and capable men to reform the abuses of the system and to mitigate the horrors of prison life. The fate of the reformers is the most melancholy feature of this startling narrative. The chief of the model penal settlement at Kara was dismissed as soon as an English bookwriter had sounded his praises. A reformer who had had admirable success in ameliorating the condition of juvenile criminals was degraded as soon as people began to talk about it, and the institution was remanded to one of the old-time officials, who could restore the rod and the black hole.

ALBURY RACES.

ALBURY, FRIDAY.

The Albury annual races took place to-day, and proved highly successful. The weather was glorious: the attendance was good. All the arrangements were most satisfactory. The following are the results:—

HANDICAP HURDLE RACE.

Mr. Day's Rosewood (Griffiths)	1
Mr. West's Granville (Bell)	2
Mr. Mair's Nameless (Martin)	3

Rosewood went away with the lead, closely followed by Granville, both taking the first hurdles together. On entering the straight Granville made an effort, but was unable to gain the lead, Rosewood winning without any extra effort. Time, 4 minutes 2 seconds.

SELLING STAKES.

Mr. M'Donald's Favour (Sullivan)	1
Mr. Tomkins' Minnehaha (Larkand)	2
Mr. Toney's Eclipse (Taylor)	3

Eclipse led half way round, but then collapsed; Minnehaha being close after him, but was passed in the straight by Favour, who won by four lengths. Time, 2 minutes 3½ seconds.

MARES' PRODUCE STAKES.

Mr. Toney's Gay Lad	1
Mr. Bowler's Pall Mall	2
Mr. Paton's Olivette	3

Gay Lad got the lead at the start and was never headed, winning by half a length. Time, 1 minute 23¼ seconds.

ALBURY CUP.

Mr. Poplin's Coolabah	1
Mr. Middleton's Rapid	2
Mr. M'Donald's Bonnie Bee	3

This was the best race of the meeting. After two false starts, all were sent away well together. Thurgoona was first to show in front, and led to the back of the course, with Friendship next. Thurgoona then fell back, and Friendship led. On turning into the straight Coolabah, Rapid, and Bonnie Bee were let out, and a splendid contest resulted in Coolabah winning by half-a-head, a still shorter distance separating the second and third horses. Time, 2 minutes 58 seconds.

LADIES' MILE.

Mr. West's Granville	1
Mr. Whitley's Raven	2
Mr. Paton's Mary Gray...	3

A false start occurred in this race, nearly all the horses racing the distance, Jokes and Mary Gray coming in first. On the proper start being made, Eboracum cut out the running, but was headed at the back of the course by Granville, who won easily by two lengths.

THE TURF.

The Hawkesbury Autumn Meeting will be continued to-day, when a rather interesting programme will be placed before the public. Five events are set for decision, and the flag will go down for the first at 1 o'clock. The pen has been very busy with those engaged in the Hawkesbury Autumn Handicap, and not more than half-a-dozen will face the flag. By the running at the recent meeting of the Victoria Racing Club, Willeroo should have the race at his mercy; and so the public appear to think, for last night he ruled as favourite, with a shade of odds on him. The following are the entries, weights, and acceptances for to-day's racing.

THE SHORTS HANDICAP—6 furlongs.

Speculators are reminded that the right to the gate for the ensuing A. J. C. Autumn meeting will be disposed of by public auction on Monday next.

Mr. Kiss will on Monday sell by auction the right to the entrance gate, booths, &c., for the A. J. C. Spring Meeting.

Our Penrith correspondent telegraphed yesterdta that the committee of the Penrith and Nepean Jockey Club have decided that the distance for the Maiden Plate will be one mile and a quarter, in lieu of one mile and a half. The races will come off positively on the 14th April. The entrances for the Penrith and Nepean Jockey Club Handicap and Railway Handica p will close on Tuesday next at 8 o'clock. The affair promises to be a great success.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that to-day (Saturday) there will be a most interesting trotting match, for 500 sovereigns, at Elstenwick Park. Several race meetings are announced for St. Patrick's Day, one being by the Amateur Turf Club, at Caulfield, which promises to be very successful.

NORTH SHORE ROWING CLUB.

A general meeting of the members of this club was held on Tuesday night last at Myers's Assembly Room, High-street, to consider the advisableness of holding a ball this year, as before. It was decided in the affirmative, after which a committee of five was duly appointed to carry out all necessary arrangements in connection with the management thereof. It was further settled that the ball should take place in the early part of next June. It is intended by the sub-committee to leave no stone unturned to make this reunion a most unqualified success. Everything that will tend to promote the comfort and convenience of the guests will be most assiduously carried out. Mr. Robert Little has accepted the position of hon. secretary to the ball committee, and as it was principally owing to the exertions of this gentleman that last year's ball went off with such éclat no possible doubt can be felt as to the successful results of the one now in view.

PEDESTRIANISM—THE SIX DAYS' WALK.

The interest of the public in the pedestrian contest between O'Leary and Edwards continues unabated, and yesterday several thousand persons visited the Exhibition building. Between 7 o'clock and 10 o'clock between 2000 and 3000 persons paid for admission—there being a greater number of ladies present than have yet witnessed the match. Though O'Leary does not in the least degree show any sign of weariness or fatigue, he seems unable to lessen the gap between himself and his more youthful opponent, who is full of freshness and vigour. At one time during yesterday afternoon Edwards had increased his lead to 27 miles but after that he took matters easy, and indulged in a refreshing sleep for several hours. From midnight on Thursday he was off the track about 15 hours. He seems satisfied to keep 20 miles ahead, and is not ambitious to make a big record in the six days, so long as he can get over a greater distance of ground than O'Leary in the 144 hours. At a quarter to 10 o'clock last night, the respective distances walked were Edwards, 311 miles, and O'Leary 290. It is evident O'Leary is not in good trim for walking, as in his famous tramp for the Astley Belt, he did a greater distance than 290 miles in a little over 40 hours. There are many who still pin their faith in O'Leary, whose wonderful powers of endurance it is thought will bring him out of the ordeal triumphantly. Edwards, however, so far has shown more speed and greater staying power than the American, and last night he considered himself as fresh and well as when he started. The distance traversed so far is very poor when compared with the splendid performances of O'Leary in many of his six days' matches. During last evening Edwards was the recipient of some splendid bouquets, floral offerings being considered the appropriate way of encouraging the rival peds. to increased exertion. The competitors will end their exertions to-night, when doubtless there will be a large attendance.

CRICKET.

There will be no practice on the Association Cricket Ground on next Monday and Tuesday. The first-named day has been set apart for a match between the members of the Athenæum Club, and on Tuesday the ground will be devoted to the annual match between the woolbuyers and the woolbrokers.

The final match of the first series for the Holdsworth Cup, between the University and the Albert clubs, will be continued to-day, on the Association ground. The Domain Ground will be the scene of a contest between the Carlton first eleven and thirteen of Our Boys C. C.

AQUATICS.

John Largan, the English sculler, returns to England in a fortnight. His trip has been a most unsuccessful one, and he has been very unfortunate with his boats, having destroyed no less than three by accident since his arrival here. Although he is a sculler of no mean ability, he has been incapacitated by illness and the influence of the change of climate, and the result has been that he has lost every race he has competed in. As it is absolutely necessary that he should obtain some pecuniary assistance in order that he may return home, Edward Trickett has generously undertaken to collect a sufficient sum to send Largan to England. Trickett states that having been so kindly treated while in England, he is glad of the opportunity of doing something in return. As already stated, Largan has been most unfortunate, and he is really in want of assistance. As there is a large number of sporting men in town, it is to be hoped that the appeal of Edward Trickett on behalf of his comrade of the oar will not be made in vain. Largan intends returning to Australia next year, with the intention of settling here with his wife and family.

PORT JACKSON SWIMMING CLUB.

A meeting of the committee of the Port Jackson Swimming Club was held on Thursday night at Punch's Hotel, King-street, Mr. F. G. C. Hanslow in the chair. It was decided that the autumn matches should be held towards the end of next month, and that the principal event should be a 1000 yards race for the championship of New South Wales. It was stated that M'Indoe, of Melbourne, who swam so successfully in Sydney last year, would be a competitor. With the view of popularising the matches, and to favour the larger attendance of ladies, it was decided that in all future matches competitors should wear singlets and drawers. Several prizes were promised, and there is every prospect of the season being brought to a close by one of the most successful meetings the club has yet held.

TATTERSALL'S CLUB.

The annual general meeting of Tattersall's Club was held in the club room last night. There was a large attendance, Mr. J. B. Olliffe occupying the chair. The following report for the year ending 28th February, 1883, was read and adopted:—"Your committee have much pleasure in again presenting you with a very satisfactory report. The number of members has increased, and the room has been kept in efficient order. Your committee have to express great regret at the loss sustained by the club in the death of Mr. George Kiss, who was treasurer of the club. The vacancy caused by Mr. Kiss's death has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Geo. Curtis, and the vacancy caused in the committee by Mr. Curtis's appointment has been filled by Mr. R. Meiklejohn. The races held under the auspices of the club have been very successful, both in a racing and pecuniary point of view, the New Year's Day meeting being particularly so, for although the club gave over £300 more money than last year, the profits were considerably larger than on any previous occasion. The balance-sheet attached shows the club to be in a very prosperous position, having to its credit £1000, which is invested at fixed deposit. Your committee have for some time had under consideration the necessity of having a secretary whose services shall be wholly devoted to the club, and, whilst doing so, expressed great satisfaction at the manner your present secretary has discharged his duties. Your committee therefore recommend their successors to give this matter their immediate attention. It now devolves upon this meeting to elect office-bearers for the ensuing year, but under rule No. 2 only four of the present committee retire instead of all as hitherto. There have been 20 committee meetings held, with the following attendances:—Chairman: Mr. J. B. Olliffe, 18; treasurer, Mr. George Curtis, 17; committee: Mr. J. Daly, 10; Mr. S. Ackman, 14; Mr. A. H. Prince, 14; Mr. W. Gannon, 12; Mr. T. R. Smith, 9; Mr. W. Forrester, 8; Mr. A. L. Park, 6; Mr. R. Meiklejohn, 5. Mr. Meiklejohn was only appointed a member of committee on 1st September last. In conclusion, your committee express the hope that the present year may be as prosperous as the past, and that the members will continue to assist the committee in their endeavours to carry out the club rules." The Treasurer having laid the annual balance sheet before the meeting, the election of officers was proceeded with. Mr. Olliffe was unanimously re-elected chairman of the club, and Mr. George Curtis treasurer. The retiring committee-men—Messrs. Daly, Gannon, Ackman, and Meiklejohn—were also re-elected, and Mr. W. Fagan was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Park. Messrs. Longfield and Isler were appointed auditors. This concluded the business, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

FAREWELL DINNER TO THE ENGLISH CRICKETERS.

(From the Argus.)

A farewell dinner was given to the Hon. Ivo Bligh and the English cricketing eleven by the Melbourne Cricket Club on Tuesday night, at the pavilion. Mr. F. G. Smith, vice-president of the club, sat at the head of the tables, and on either side of him were Messrs. Ivo Bligh, E. F. S. Tylecote, F. Call, P.M., E. Langton, C. W. Beale, and W. H. Cooper. About 80 gentlemen were present

The toasts of "The Queen," "The Prince of Wales," and "The Governor" having been proposed and honoured,

The Chairman proposed the health of "Our Guests," amidst loud applause. He first alluded with regret to the absence of Sir William Clarke, who took so much interest in all the proceedings connected with the club. (Applause.) Those present would easily recall a similar gathering to the present one which took place four months ago in the pavilion to welcome the English cricketers to Australia. At that time very pleasurable anticipations were formed of the then approaching cricket season, and every one must now confess that they had all been a great deal more than realised. (Applause.) He felt justified in saying that the performances of the visitors on the cricket field had never been surpassed, if indeed they had ever been equalled, by any English eleven that had ever preceded them in Australia. (Applause.) They had not only shown grand all-round cricket, but they had also exhibited a very conspicuous equanimity under defeat—(applause)—and moderation in victory. (Loud cheers.) When he came to speak of them as gentlemen, he felt a little nonplussed, because he did not like to say to their faces what he knew every one present would like him to say in their favour. They were the pleasantest of pleasant men. (Applause.) Their genial cordiality had been a theme of admiration wherever they had been, and he felt unequal to the task of expressing how grateful the Melbourne Club were for their visit to Australia. (Loud applause.) The committee especially felt under the deepest obligations to Mr. Bligh for the alacrity with which he had adopted all their plans, and for the immense assistance which he had rendered throughout their difficult, and it might be said, now that it was drawing to a close, successful enterprise. (Applause.) He asked all present to join him in congratulating Mr. Bligh on achieving his highest ambition in Australia, namely, the recovery of what had humorously been termed the "revered ashes of English cricket." (Applause.) It was his sincere conviction, and he was not afraid to express it, that their visitors having wrested those sacred relics from their previous possessors, they could only be regained in the old country, and if Australia wanted them she would have to go to the old country for them. ("No" and "Hear, hear.") Perhaps in a few years, or possibly sooner, Australia might repeat her recent great efforts in the cricket fields of England. If so, he hoped the result would be the return of their present guests, fired with the laudable ambition with which they were inspired during the recent contests. If such was the case they would receive, at any rate from the Melbourne Club, the heartiest welcome which it was possible to give them. (Loud applause.) Their guests had in a most pleasant and graceful way accepted the compliment paid to them a little while ago, when they became honorary life members of the Melbourne Club. (Applause.) The committee had also presented them with the little badge of life membership, and it was hoped that when contemplating those little souvenirs in future they might be reminded of the cricket season now about to close, and in which they had played so conspicuous a part. Wherever they had been in Australia they had left a host of admirers, but the members of the Melbourne Club were among the heartiest of their friends and most fervent of their well-wishers. (Loud and continuous applause.)

Mr. Bligh, on rising to respond, was received with cheers. He and the other members of the team felt deeply the very hearty reception which the toast had been accorded. He remembered exceedingly well the last occasion on which he had to make a speech in that pavilion, and that for two reasons—first because he could not forget the slight feeling of awe which they all felt at being in the presence of an assemblage of members of the far-famed Melbourne Club; and, second, because he also remembered distinctly that the meal than partaken of was the fourth of four plentiful ones the English team had partaken of in two hours. (Laughter.) He said at that time that the team was an unlucky one, but he did not then know how unlucky they were to be. They had actually been going through the whole of their tour with a man who had a broken rib without its being known. That was an extraordinary piece of bad luck, and all would agree with him in saying how much the team regretted such an accident to one of the best of bowlers, Morley—(applause)—and how much they admired his pluck, which they had only just begun to appreciate, in going through the whole tour with such a wound as he received. (Loud applause.) He (Mr. Bligh) also had the audacity to say on one occasion that the team had come to beard the kangaroo in his den. Now that four months had passed, he was afraid that the kangaroo still hopped as jauntily as ever. (Laughter.) He was afraid that it must be confessed, also, with regard to those "ashes" referred to by the chairman, that the team could not take them back to England. The best thing to do with them would be for their respected friend Mac to bury them in some corner of the ground. (Loud laughter and applause.) There was only one thing he had to request, and that was that all present would see to it that none of Murdoch's eleven touched them, because they really had no right to them. (Laughter and applause.) The English team had not much to say about the last match. (Laughter.) Now that the tour was over, he was happy to say that the team could look back upon it as having been a happy time. It was hardly possible to play a long succession of matches without some little unpleasantnesses, but if there had been any during the recent season they were not worth mentioning. The English team would look back upon the trip with unmixed feelings of pleasure. The matches had been among the hardest they had ever played or would play, and there was only one thing the team were badly treated in, and that was that, after coming 16,000 miles to meet Spofforth on a dry wicket, they had failed to get one. As dry wickets as were got in Australia could be got even in England, but he supposed the seasons might improve. On looking back at the tour, he felt compelled to thank the press for its treatment of the team. On the whole it had been fair and impartial. (Applause.) Of course pressmen were mortal, like other people, and of course one always imagined that the shower falling on the wicket of his side was heavier than that which fell on the wicket of the adversary. But these little things could not be helped. (Laughter.) He had also to thank the people for their kind reception of the team. They had always been most impartial—as impartial as similar assemblages were in England; and it showed at any rate that the principle of a fair field and no favour held sway here. (Applause.) He did not know how soon another Australian team might be seen in England again. A great deal was said about these cricket tours being overdone, but he was of opinion that as long as truly representative teams could be got together there would be no danger of "overdoing" the sport. He hoped that when the next Australian team went home it would play more than one representative match. (Applause.) The present English team had been rash enough to offer to play five matches against Australian teams; but, in his opinion, the proper number to be played was three. He must express his most heartfelt thanks to the members of the club for the kindness which they had invariably shown towards the English Eleven. They had been so kind to them as to make them feel perfectly at home in the pavilion—he might say for himself that, though he felt not at all at home in the middle of the ground, he felt quite so in that building. (Laughter.) Where so many members of committee had discharged their onerous duties so well, it would be invidious to make distinctions, but he felt that the thanks of the team were due to their manager, whose well-known suavity of manner did so much to smooth over many little difficulties. He alluded to Mr. Alexander. (Applause.) He joined with the chairman in regretting the absence of Sir W. Clarke, whose judicious and generous use of his power and position had made him one of the most popular men in Victoria. (Applause.) Sir W. Clarke had in many ways endeared himself to the English team. Of course there was a certain pang in having to say "good-bye," but one or two members of the team, including himself, would remain a little after the others had departed. (Loud cheers.) In the hope that they might meet again, he would say not "farewell," but "au revoir." The pretty badges which the team had received would always serve to remind them of the kindness of the club whose public-spiritedness had enabled them to make the present trip. He could only conclude by proposing the toast of "The Melbourne Club."

The Chairman, in responding, said that the club's number was reached on Saturday last, when the 1500th member joined its ranks. He desired to refer to the small gold lockets which had been given to the English professionals as a souvenir of their trip. Their behaviour was faultless throughout the tour, and their conduct had been most manly. (Cheers.) The accident which deprived Mr. Bligh of one of his most efficient bowlers was deplored by everybody, but they hoped that Morley would arrive in England as full of health and strength as when he first left her shores. (Applause.)

Mr. Barlow returned the thanks of the professionals for the lockets which they had received. The trip had been a most pleasant one to them. They had always done their best. Of course they had lost a few matches, but that was not their fault. (Loud laughter.) If they came again to Australia, they hoped to do better than they did this time. It would be a pleasing task for them to tell their English friends of the kindness exhibited by the Australian people.

Mr. Bligh proposed the health of "The Victorious Victorian Eleven," remarking, as he did so, that he would couple with it the name of that most insidious bowler, Mr. Cooper. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. W. H. Cooper, who responded, said that the Victorian team were very proud of their late victory, although they thought from the first that they would make a very good show. He certainly felt proud of having picked the eleven, and being selected its captain. The day altogether would be marked with a red letter in Victorian cricket annals. (Applause.) It would be ridiculous to say that the match represented the strength of the two teams. (Applause.) In his opinion, if Victoria played her best team against England in a long series of matches the results would be very evenly balanced, though Victoria might have one match to the good in the long run. If he might be permitted to say it, he thought that on the true wickets of the colonies, and in the varied bowling to suit them, would be found the slight advantage which Victoria would have. (Applause.)

The proceedings then terminated.

BOROUGH COUNCILS.

ST. PETERS.—Meeting held on 26th February. Present—The Mayor (Mr. W. G. Judd), with Aldermen Baker, M'Innes, Moore, Crause, Lambeth, Edwards, and Geering. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Mayor submitted a report from the finance committee, recommending payment of accounts amounting to the sum of £156 3s 9d, which was adopted. The Mayor reported that the tender of Messrs. Hardwick and Griffiths, to make annual valuation for £25, as specification, had been accepted. The usual monthly report from the working overseer and inspector of nuisances was received. Correspondence: To Minister for Works, requesting him to appoint time to receive deputation re tramway extension to Cook's River and construction of canal from Botany Bay to Cook's River Dam. From Principal Under-Secretary re Bill for Protection of Property and Life from Fire. To stand over for future consideration. Circular letter from hon. secretary to Municipal Association, soliciting co-operation. Received. Alderman Moore presented a petition from various ratepayers of part of Marionette Estate, praying for Terry-street to be formed and the approaches thereto made. Moved by Alderman Geering, seconded by Alderman Baker, and carried,—"That petition be received and referred to works committee for report." Motions: Moved by Alderman Lambeth, and seconded by Alderman M'Innes,—"That the following repairs be effected to the Town-hall building, viz.:—That two iron rods be placed through Town-hall building to secure the front, which has given way; that the underneath of stairs in hall be boarded with 4in. boards; that the hall upstairs be placed in thorough repair; that all the external woodwork be painted with two coats of paint, the whole at an estimated cost not exceeding £50." Amendment moved by Alderman Crause, and seconded by Alderman Edwards,—"That the present cracks in the walls be filled up with plaster-of-paris on cement in lieu of iron rods being placed through the main building." The votes for and against both amendment and motion being equal, the Mayor gave his casting vote for the original motion, which was carried. Alderman Moore asked the Mayor when tenders would be called for work passed to be done in Union-street. The Mayor replied that the works committee had better visit the road in question and definitely decide what is to be done, and if funds are in hand tenders will be called for the work.—THOMAS ENDERS, Council Clerk.

WATERLOO.—Meeting held on February 28, to receive a letter from the Postmaster-General offering the council a "non-official" post-office in lieu of the post and telegraph office already promised, as also another communication offering to meet a deputation on the subject. Present—The Mayor (Alderman Matthew Smith), with Aldermen Evans, Gray, Cole, Bretnall, Anderson, and Harnsky. The letters having been read, the Mayor said he had called them together in order to attain unanimity on the subject referred to prior to intended interview. After some discussion it was moved by Alderman Evans, and seconded by Alderman Cole,—"That the post and telegraph office, as originally proposed and accepted by the Government, be conceded to this borough." Carried. Meeting held on March 2. Present—The Mayor (Alderman Matthew Smith), with Aldermen Evans, Cole, Gray, Harnsky, Anderson, and Bretnall. Minutes of preceding meetings read and confirmed. Letters read—From secretary of proposed Municipal Association, with copies of the proceedings and the rules, inviting the council's approval, and requesting them to send representatives. Received, and its further consideration postponed till this day three months. Carried. From the secretary of the Mount Lachlan Volunteer Fire Company, asking leave of absence for Endicott, an employee of the council, who was one of their members. Received, and the request granted. From Mr. Hill, of Cowper Wharf, submitting a list of prices of metal. Received. From Mr. Geo. Tanner, calling attention to the state of the paths in M'Evoy-street. Received, and referred to the works committee. An application for asphalt was also granted to Michael Ronan, Raglan-street. The declarations of acceptance of office by Messrs. Winton and Sharp, as auditors, were read, as also of Messrs. Rose and Root as valuers, with their agreement. Alderman Anderson brought up a report from the works committee, which recommended that the works in the eastern part of the borough, projected 18 months ago, be now proceeded with, and that further improvements be made there and in Bourke-street, from the northern boundary (a plan of an intended cutting on the northern boundary was also received), and that asphalting in various parts of the borough be also proceeded with. Received. A petition from 55 ratepayers, for abatement of a nuisance, was also received. On motion of Alderman Anderson, seconded by Alderman Evans, a plan of Raglan-lane was adopted. The finance report was received, and payments amounting to £61 12s. 11d. authorised. Alderman Cole moved,—"That tenders be called for removing night-soil, supply of rubble and gravel, kerbing and guttering, printing and stationery, and for supply of metal; the committee to prepare specifications, and the tenders to close on the 16th." Seconded by Alderman Evans and carried. A motion by the Mayor (Alderman Smith) for reviving a resolution of the council of 23rd December, 1881, for kerbing and guttering both sides of Schimel-street, was, after being seconded by Alderman Evans, carried, and tenders to be called at the end of the month. A letter from Mr. George R. Whiting, complaining of the drainage being obstructed in Beaumont-street, and reminding the council of certain liabilities. Received, and the committee will at an early date reconsider the question of drainage. On the 7th March Mr. Harry Smith, of Botany-street, was elected to the vacancy occasioned by the retirement of Alderman Hogan, and without opposition.—CHARLES HARRIS, Council Clerk.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

NEW RUSH AT BILLY'S LOOKOUT.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

TEMORA, FRIDAY.

A gentleman just returned from the new rush says that he has not a favourable opinion of the place, and that, unless gold can be traced into the deep ground towards Lake Cowal, he fears it will not prove payable. He says there are only a few shafts bottomed on gold, and over 500 miners are walking about not knowing what to do. He advises people not to go there, for the present at any rate.

News was received here to-day that four more claims had struck gold at the new rush. This intelligence has not yet been confirmed, and some doubt is entertained concerning its truth, as a telegram received by a resident here this afternoon makes no mention of the fresh find, but advises him to stay away if he is doing anything. The new road from Barmedman, which shortens the distance to 27 miles, was opened yesterday.

The following report from the constable in charge of Marsden Point Station was forwarded to Warden Sharpe, and by the latter to the Minister for Mines, who has courteously handed it to us for publication:—"Police Station, Marsden, March 9.—I visited Billy's Lookout this morning, and found that a rush had taken place during the night. There were between 70 and 80 men on the ground when I got there, and when I left I believe there were 100 men. From what I heard from the new arrivals I believe there will be over 500 men there in a few days. Most of the men have come from Temora and Barmedman. They have tried the wash in the Prospectors' claim, and all say that it is far better than they expected to find. At present there are only two claims on gold, namely, the Prospectors' and No. 1 North. The prospectors are W. M'Gann, John O'Brien, Patrick O'Brien, and John Calvert. In the Prospectors' claim the wash is about 2 feet thick; in the other about 1 foot, but apparently much richer, as fine specs can be seen when examining it, and a large specimen was obtained to-day, about 12gr., being the largest piece yet found. One dish from the Prospectors' claim yielded from 6 to 8 grains. The general opinion amongst the men is that the wash will yield about 15 or 20 dwt. to the load, and average about 18 inches in thickness right through. In both claims that have bottomed they are driving west, and consider that they have 20 feet of payable wash, and good prospects can be obtained from the face. The ground has been pegged off about a mile and a half down the gully and about a mile up the gully from the Prospectors' claim. The greatest drawback that will be felt there will be the want of water, but the men that are there wont hear of anything of the sort being said. A great number of men have gone back to Barmedman with spare horses, and some with spring waggons to bring their friends over. I believe there will be a great deal of disputing over some of the ground. I have had several applications here for miners' rights, and complaints about the distance men have to go for them. I expect there will be applications in a day or two for business licenses. (Signed) A. C. BERRY, constable." It will be observed that later information concerning the rush, forwarded by our Barmedman and Temora correspondents, has appeared in our columns. We learn from the Mines Department that Warden Sharpe and Mining-surveyor Robertson will visit and report upon the field next week.

The manager of the Silver Valley Silver-mining Company, No Liability, under date of March 1, reports as follows:—"I have to inform you that the mine is looking as well as ever. We have had some heavy rains here, but it has not done us much harm so far. All the ore has left Herberton except about a ton, and I have a ton here which I will send in as bagged, but will not send any more."

Messrs. Gresley, Lukin, and Co. have the following telegraphic news to hand from Gympie:—"Glanmire and Monkland crushed 216 tons, 1oz. per ton."

The mining manager of the Nymagee Copper-mining Company, Limited, reports for month ending March 3, as follows:—"Barton's Shaft: The north end in the 52-fathom level has been extended a further distance of 15 feet, making a total of 81 feet from shaft, and the driving has been relet for one month, the lode being hard and solid, but improving in quality as the drive advances, and will, I hope, soon be quite equal to that in the level above. Forty-fathom Level: The north end has been extended a further distance of 12 feet, making in all 317 feet from shaft, and is still in good sulphuret ore. I expect in a few days to communicate here with Pope's shaft, which will be very advantageous. Stoping is being carried on in the back of this level in sections 14 and 15, where the lode is from 12 to 14 feet of splendid sulphuret ore. Winze: The winze in section 14 has been sunk 10 feet during the month, making in all 48 feet below the level. The lode has improved here, consequently the ground became easier for sinking. Grey ore lodes: Splendid grey ore is still being raised in the 20-fathom. The south end has been extended a further distance of 24 feet, making a total of 116 feet from prospecting shaft, section 17. Dawes winze, in the same level (and which was omitted in the lithograph plans), has been sunk a further depth of 10 feet, making in all 91 feet 6 inches. The ground has eased here also, and the price of sinking reduced. Another 20 feet sinking will put it through to the level below; when this is completed, and the two ends holed to each other in the 40-fathom level, I hope the underground cost will be somewhat reduced; at the same time, in order to develop the mine thoroughly, a certain amount of prospecting must be continued. Pope's Shaft: The south end in the 40-fathom level has been driven a further distance of 10 feet, and is in fair percentage yellow ore. No. 12 stope in the 70-feet level north is without any change since my last report, and a fresh contract has been let to raise carbonate ore, at 16s. per ton, for two months. The prospecting shaft in section 8 has been sunk 16 feet 6 inches, making a total of 91 feet 6 inches from surface. When 120 feet has been reached I intend opening out and crosscutting east for the lode, which must be in close proximity. I am also sinking an addle pass on the back of the grey ore lode, section 16, which is now down 57 feet. Smelting Works: The furnaces have all worked well during the month, and are still in good condition. In order, however, to get rid of the huge pile of rough copper on hand, I am converting No. 7 roaster into a refinery, which I anticipate will be completed in a week from date, when I shall have two refineries in full swing. By this means I hope to have the present accumulation refined, and a large portion of it despatched in three months from date. Ore raised for month, 710 tons, and smelted for same period 660 tons, producing equal to 114 tons refined copper. Despatched 216 tons of refined copper. P.S.—I am pleased to inform you that since writing the above this morning a communication has been effected at the 40-fathom level, between Barton's and Pope's shafts."

Messrs. Gresley Lukin and Co. have the following telegraphic news to hand from Gympie:—"Much better stone struck, 3 and 4 north Lady Mary; 16oz. obtained. No. 1 North Lady Mary cut an auriferous reef in the eastern crosscut; stone payable. Phoenix prospectors crushed 600 tons for 682oz. gold; dividend, 2s. per share. Good stone struck northern shaft."

THE WATER AUGERS.

The following is a report received at Department of Mines from the foreman of water augers, dated Main Camp, Goonery, near Bourke, 5th March, 1883:—"Sir,—I have the honour to report that I started boring at No. 1 Camp, with the Wright and Edwards machine on 19th last month. We unluckily got hard sandstone rock at 3 feet from surface, which extended down for 20 feet. This rock was very severe on the cutters and drills. On Monday, 26th ultimo, a change of sandstone and clay came in with a little salt water (about three gallons an hour) on top of clay. On Wednesday, 28th ultimo, on returning from Bourke, I found the bore down 46 feet in clay (very dry and stiff, what miners call 'pug'). On 1st instant bore was down 58 feet 8 inches from surface, at least 10 feet in stiff block clay (dry). I am now at Goonery, 51 miles from West Bourke, where I have established my main camp. I shall start to bore here with the Tiffin as soon as ready. I intend sinking a shaft a few feet, and strongly timbering it with logs, so that I will have something solid to work the screw-jack against in putting down tubing. Tubing I shall require at once. The spot I have picked as bore site is right in line between several active mud springs, and there is not the slighest doubt but that we will get artesian water at about 100 feet. The station (Toorale) had a well sunk (about 30 chains from my proposed bore site) a few years ago, and got a supply of first-class water at 88 feet, I am told, which is now running 4 feet over the surface in a constant stream into a tank made to collect it. They had to contend with heavy swelling clay in this shaft, which used to break in the timbers. I start to-morrow to No. 1 Camp, and then in to Bourke to the post. I am working the Wright and Edwards machine with horse-power, the water being too scarce to have horses there. The machine is under the charge of Sub-foreman Holmes, and he has four men to assist him."

A FELINE TEST FOR SEWER-GAS.—"An ingenious woman," says a Boston paper, "recently invented what may perhaps prove to be an improvement on the peppermint test for leaky waste-pipes. Noticing, and having used the peppermint test for, an offensive odour in the parlour of the house which she occupied, she suspected a defect in the waste-pipes, and sent to the agent to request that a plumber might be sent to examine them. The agent was incredulous, and refused. To make her proofs more convincing, the woman, after borrowing two cats from her friends, purchased some oil of valerian, and, stationing the animals in the parlour, went upstairs, and poured the valerian into the basin in the same way that the peppermint had been previously applied, and then descended to watch the result. Cats are extremely fond of the odour of valerian, and it was not long before both of them began to sniff the air and move towards the door of a closet through which the waste-pipe ran. The door was opened for them, and they immediately sprang upon a certain shelf, where they remained purring with satisfaction. A third time the woman went to the agent, who, though still unbelieving, consented to send a plumber to make further investigations; and on cutting away the plastering so as to expose the pipe, a joint was found completely separated at the place which the cats had indicated."—Sanitary Record.

In the Journal de Thérapeutique the statement is made by Professor Nocard that pilocarpin, a drug upon which the medical faculty had built their hopes as a cure for hydrophobia, exerts no beneficial influence upon that malady.

COMMERCIAL.

WOOL, PRODUCE, AND STOCK REPORT.

WOOL.—At the wool sales, this week, purchasers operated more freely at the reduced prices of last sales. The catalogues are now becoming considerably reduced, and this week's business comprised, in part, the wool coming forward during the previous fortnight. Nearly 4000 bales were offered, of which a very large proportion was sold. Greasy brought from 7½d. to 11½d.; fleece, 13d. to 16½d., and scoured 12½d. to 22½d.

SHEEPSKINS.—There was good competition at the sales of the week for all lines of sheepskins offered, and the catalogues were cleared at from 1½d. for pelts, to 7d. for best lots.

LEATHER.—The market this week exhibited no change. About the average number of buyers attended the sales, and the following were the values obtained:—Kip, 11d. to 16d.; sole, 8d. to 10d.; damaged, from 6d.; calf, 18d. to 27d.; yearling, 18d. to 24d.; tweed, 16d. to 21d.; harness, 10d. to 13d.; bag, 6s. to 11s.; bridle, 7s. 6d. to 11s.; basils, 4s. to 12s. 6d.; kangaroo, 15d. to 22d.

HIDES.—At yesterday's sales 6050 hides were catalogued, and 4750 sold. There was again an active demand for good heavy hides, other descriptions also selling fairly well at late rates. Extra heavy hides worth 4d. to 4½d.; light, from 2½d. Calf, 1s. to 4s.; yearlings, 5s. to 8s.; kangaroo-skins, 3s. to 30s. per dozen.

TALLOW.—282 packages were offered at yesterday's auction, 234 being sold. There was brisk competition, and last week's rates were fully maintained. Prime mutton worth £35 to £35 10s.; beef, £33 to £34; mixed and station, £28 to £30.

HORNS AND BONES.—At the late auction sales there was a good demand for horns at from 5s. to 30s. per 100, according to size and condition. Bones ranged in value from £3 to £10.

HAIR.—A brisk inquiry exists for all lots of hair obtainable. Horse-tail is worth from 16d. to 18d.; mane, from 8d. to 10d.; cow, from 4d. to 14½d.

Beeswax worth from 8d. to 10½d.

STORE CATTLE.—There is fair inquiry for good fattening bullocks at from 65s. to 75s.; and sales have been made on the basis of these figures.

STORE SHEEP.—The dry weather interferes with business, buyers not being willing to give the prices asked by owners. Quotations: Ewes, 6s. to 11s., according to age and condition; wethers, 6s. 3d. to 7s.

STATIONS.—This week the Glenariff block and station in the Wellington district was sold for the sum of £3000. About 2200 square miles of country, known as Eucla Downs, in Western Australia, have also been disposed of.

MESSRS. BRUNKER AND WOLFE'S REPORT.

Fat Cattle: 2230 yarded for week. Monday's prices ruled about equal to last week's quotations. To-day (Thursday) prices for prime quality unaltered, others down 10s per head. We sold 100 bullocks by road from Myall Creek (W. J. Dangar) at £7 11s 6d, 200 bullocks by road from Collymongle (Pearse and Clarke) at £6 5s 10d, 5 bullocks (C. Keys) at £5 11s, 3 cows (ditto) at £4 4s. Maitland: 83 bullocks (F. A. Carbury), £4 8s to £7; 60 bullocks (Bucknell Brothers), £5 5s to £6 15s; 30 mixed, for various owners, to £5; 30 bullocks (J. P. Luke), £4 4s to £6; 8 cows (ditto), £3 15s to £6; 38 cows (T. Ireland), £3 7s to £4 15s; 83 bullocks (A. O. Holden), £3 10s; 37 cows (ditto), £3 to £4 5s; 21 bullocks (J. J. Dennan), £3 1s to £5 6s; 53 mixed, to £7 2s 6d. Fat Sheep: 20,480 penned for the week. Market easier. We sold 505 (J. F. and R. Smart) at 9s 6d to 9s 10d, 361 mixed (T. A. Johnston) at 10s 4d to 10s 7d, 84 (C. Keys) at 9s 6d to 9s 9d, 534 ewes (W. and J. Loves) at 9s, 12 culls at 8s 6d, 361 mixed (Wightman) at 9s 3d. Fat Lambs: Heavy supply penned. Best sold to 12s. We sold 76 (R. G. Higgins) at 12s, 40 (Britten Brothers) at 11s to 12s, 46 (T. A. Johnston) to 10s 3d, 100 (M'Gregor) at 8s 8d. Fat Calves: Light supply yarded and good prices obtained. We sold 22 (C. Keys) at £2 1s 6d. Store Cattle: We have sold 1075 at very satisfactory rates. Best bullocks to £4 15s; ditto cows, £2 17s 6d; steers to 55s; and have some fine lots for private sale. Sheep: The sale held at Shark Island on Wednesday attracted a largely representative attendance of buyers. For special selections competition was unusually brisk, and the prices throughout exceeded those hitherto reached in the colony. Annexed we furnish results:—Purebred Rams: Squatter, Messrs. Gibson and Son, 450 guineas; Netley, Mr. Alexander Wilson, 250 guineas; Chief, Messrs. Mills, Meilson, and Smith, 185 guineas; Old Tom, Messrs. H. Cunningham and Co., 180 guineas. Ram Lambs: No. 302, Mr. A. Wilson, 300 guineas; 687, Mr. R. P. Simpson, 230 guineas; 746, Mr. J. Cooper, 200 guineas; 960, Mr. A. Wilson, 175 guineas; 990, Mr. J. Cooper, 115 guineas; 953, Messrs. Mills, Meilson, and Smith, 110 guineas; 410, Messrs. H. Cunningham and Co., 82 guineas; 523, Mr. R. G. Higgins, 80 guineas; 542, Messrs. M'Nicholl and Bailey, 80 guineas; 412, Messrs. H. Cunningham and Co., 40 guineas. Ewe Lambs: No. 121, Messrs. Gibson, 152 guineas; 115, Mr. A. Wilson, 120 guineas; 142, Messrs. Gibson and Son, 104 guineas; 106, Messrs. Gibson and Son, 104 guineas; 311, Mr. A. Wilson, 113 guineas; 171, Messrs. M'Nicholl and Bailey, 100 guineas; 793, Mr. R. P. Simpson, 60 guineas; 114, Mr. D. P. Wills-Allen, 55 guineas; 141, Mr. A. Wilson, 40 guineas; 148, Messrs. M'Nicholl and Bailey, 104 guineas; total amount of sale, £3559 5s. Wool: Sales during the week were fairly attended. We quote washed fleece to 18d; and greasy ditto to 12d. We cleared a good catalogue, principally fellmongers' broken lots, at quotations. Sheepskins: Full-wooled are worth 5d to 5½d, others from 2d. Tallow: Late rates are maintained. Butchers' mixed lots at our store brought £30 to £34 per ton. Hides: Best heavies are very firm at 4d to 4½d, others from 3d per lb. Hair: Horse, 12½d to 18d; cow, 5d to 8d for dirty, and 7d to 14d per lb. for washed; horns, 20s to 30s per 100 for large, and from 10s for medium; tips from 3s per 100. Bones: Shanks, 5s to 10s per cwt.; common bones, 45s, 60s per ton. Beeswax, 9½ to 11d; honey, 5d per lb.; bacon, 8d to 10d per lb. Farm Produce: Lucerne hay has not come in freely. Prices have improved and best qualities are worth 75s per ton. Maize is selling at 2s to 2s 9d per bushel, with dull demand. Poultry was scarce. Fowls brought 4s to 4s 6d; ducks, 4s to 5s; geese, 6s to 8s; turkeys, 10s to 18s per pair; eggs, 20d to 22½d per dozen.—March 15.—[ADVT.]

HORSE MARKET.

T. COSGROVE AND CO.—A good supply of horses forward this week from the coast and inland districts, the majority of which were of a light description. We had a few active draught horses forward, but none extra heavy; also several good strong van horses, which sold well. Heavy draught and good useful horses are inquired for, and when forward remain no time unsold. The supply of buggy horses was fair, quality medium. No carriage pairs to hand. The latter class of animal appears to be very scarce, and would command a good market, from £100 to £150 per pair; upstanding well-bred buggy horses, £60 to £80 per pair; well-bred saddle and harness horses, £35 to £45, according to quality; spring-cart horses, £7 10s; active van horses in demand, £22 to £30 each; heavy draught horses, £35 to £40; extra heavy, none forward this week; nuggety cart horses, £20 to £28; light and weedy, £1 to £5. Cows are dear, and those to hand this week sold up to £12. In vehicles and turnouts a good business was done, and prices were realised satisfactory.—March 16.

WILLIAM INGLIS AND CO.—The market was fairly supplied with horses the past week, the most of which were suitable for saddle and harness purposes, and a great number of those sold were well bred, and brought high prices for the light descriptions to hand. Heavy draught and good useful harness horses are inquired for. Such horses are not so plentiful as we could wish, the demand being in advance of the supply. We do not note any alteration in prices since our last report, but consider the market firm at late rates. At the Camperdown Yards we sold a very nice well bred mob of horses for Messrs. Clark, Brothers, chiefly light, with some good buggy and saddle horses amongst them, all of which sold at late rates. We also sold a mob of light horses for Mr. G. Rolfe at quotations, and a lot for Mr. Samuel Leger at late quotations.—March 15.

MR. GEORGE KISS.—This market has been well stocked with horses from the Southern and Western districts, the majority being saddle and light harness horses and light carriage or buggy pairs, and with very few exceptions found a ready sale at good figures. First class saddle and harness horses sold from £25 to £35 5s; medium of same description ran about the same quotations as previous week. A great number was sold, and are in good demand. Hackneys brought from £15 to £30, according to quality. Several buggy or light carriage pairs exchanged hands at from £47 to £55. No upstanding carriage pairs to hand, and are always salable at from £80 to £150—if young, well-grown, and properly educated. A poor supply of extra heavy draught stock to hand, but, when good sorts and stanch, sell almost any day at from £35 to £45. Active draught were well represented, and sold at from £20 to £28. Good van or omnibus horses are badly wanted. Those knocked down ranged from £14 5s to £26. Cows are scarce and dear. What were sold brought from £5 to £8 5s, without any guarantee, but a good one with a week's trial would, I believe, bring twice that amount, as several private gentlemen require them. In vehicles and turnouts a much better business was done, and what were sold brought satisfactory prices.—March 15.

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

[RICHARD GIBSON AND CO.]

MELBOURNE, MARCH 14.

Fat Cattle: The supply yarded this week numbered over 2000 head, the whole of which arrived from Victorian pastures, and consisted of much better quality than we have been accustomed to of late; owing to this the competition was limited, and prices ruled from 10s to 15s per head lower than last week, the fall being most noticeable in second quality. Best pens of bullocks, £10 10s to £13 (extra weights and quality, to £13 12s 6d); good, £9 to £10; seconds, £7 to £8; others, from £5; best pens of cows, from £7 10s to £8 10s; second, from £5 upwards. We sold 63 bullocks for Mr. S. Baker, Gisborne; 55 cows and bullocks for Mr. J. Fell, Tungamah; 30 cows and bullocks for Mr. G. Lamont, Mount Pleasant; 21 bullocks for Mr. B. Hobson, Yarram Yarram, to £9; 20 bullocks for Mr. William Beatty, Bethanga, to £10; 12 cows and bullocks for Mr. G. Burnett, Yarram Yarram, to £8 10s; 12 cows for Mr. A. Hunter, Lancefield; 11 bullocks for Mr. F. A. Devonshire, Yarram Yarram, to £10; 11 cows for Mr. J. Carroll, Mudgegonga; 10 bullocks for Mr. A. Bland, Yarram, to £10 5s; 10 bullocks for Mr. J. WEDNESDAY, 28th INSTANT.

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions from A. A. Dangar, Esq., to sell by auction, at Wooller's Bazaar, on WEDNESDAY, the 28th instant, at 10.30 o'clock sharp,

KENILWORTH, 1 year 7 months, dam Duchess of Broughton, gg dam (imported)
GLENLEE, 1 year 5 months, dam Duchess of Essex 4th, g dam (imported)
BALMORAL, 1 year 4 months, dam Venetia (imported).
AUDLEY, 1 year 5 months, dam Duchess of Essex 2nd (imported) CHARLECOTE, 11 months, dam Venus, g dam (imported).
KNEBWORTH, 1 year 3 months, dam Duchess of Essex 6th, g dam (imported)
ASHBY, 1 year 3 months, dam Lady Walnut 3rd, g dam (imported).

The unquestionably high reputation borne by the Baroona Shorthorns renders comment unnecessary. The herd was founded by the present proprietor by purchases made in England, of Cows possessing the purest and most fashionable strains of blood, subsequently and continuously mated with the very best Imported Bulls in Australia. The character of this magnificent stud herd has been studiously retained and brought to the highest state of perfection under the direct supervision of Mr. A. A. Dangar, who is generally admitted to be the most successful breeder in the colony.

Terms, cash.

8 d. Waterloo 3rd, by Norfolk (2377), J. Whittaker
9 d. Waterloo Cow, by Waterloo (2816), J. Stephenson
10 d. ——— by Waterloo (2816), J. Stephenson

The WATERLOOS were one of the six tribes retained by Mr. Bates up to the date of his death, and at the dispersion of the Kirklevington herd in 1850, this tribe ranked next to the Duchesses and Oxfords. Duke of Cambridge (5037) of this tribe, bred by Mr. Bates, and by his celebrated prize bull Duke of Northumberland (1940), won 1st prize as a calf at the Royal Agricultural Society's Show at Cambridge, in 1840. The Waterloos have always been famous for great wealth, substance, and quality, have steadily risen in public estimation, and whenever specimens of this tribe have been offered for sale they have commanded high prices.

LADY WATERLOO 28th was bred by Mr. E. H. Cheney, of Gaddesby Hall, Leicester, and was sold at his sale in 1871, when a yearling, for 530 guineas.

24th DUKE OF AIRDRIE (36,460), one of the handsomest Duchess bulls in England, was bred in America, and imported to England at great cost (together with his own sister, Duchess of Airdrie 20th), by Mr. G. Fox. He was by 10th Duke of Thorndale (28,458), from Duchess of Airdrie 9th, by Royal Oxford (18,774), &c.

9th DUKE of GENEVA (28,391), imported by Mr. E. H. Cheney, was one of the most popular Duchess bulls of his day in England. At the Gaddesby sales in 1874 and 1877, 29 animals got by him averaged £250 each. He was by 10th Duke of Thorndale (28,458), dam 4th Duchess Geneva by Grand Duke of Oxford (16,184) (illustrated, vol. xxii., p. 115, Coate's Herd Book), &c.

2nd LORD of WATERLOO (22,199) was by Bullion (15,706), dam Lady Waterloo 4th, by Ferdinand (12,871), &c.

LORD OF WATERLOO (18,269), was by Bullion (15,706), dam Lady Waterloo 3rd, by George (12,941), &c.

COUNT WATERLOO (14,343) was by Ferdinand (12,847), dam Lady Waterloo, by 3rd Duke of Oxford (9047), &c.

GEORGE (12,941) was by Rumour (7456), dam Miss Hudson, purchased by Mr. Alexander, of Kentucky, U.S.A., of a fine old Mason family, bought by Mr. Wiley, at the celebrated Chilton sale, in 1829.

3rd DUKE OF OXFORD (9047), sold at the Kirklevington sale in 1850, was by 2nd Duke of Northumberland (3646), dam of Oxford 2nd, &c.

N.B.—24th DUKE OF AIRDRIE is full brother to Duchess of Airdrie the 20th. This cow was the dam of Mr. M'Culloch's imported Duchess bull, Duke of Elmhurst, purchased at great cost in England. It is understood that Mr. Fox paid 4000 guineas for 24th Duke of Airdrie and his sister Duchess of Airdrie the 20th.

GRAND DUKE OF WATERLOO was never exhibited but once, when he obtained First Prize at Kyneton, as a two-year-old.

Amongst the stud cows are several by Imperial Purple 9th (120), the larger number being by 2nd Duke of Alvie (505), sold for 1000 guineas, and by 5th Duke of Brunswick (414), also sold at 1000 guineas.

24 STUD DEVON BULLS
81 STUD DEVON COWS and HEIFERS.

Pedigree of the Stud Devon Sire at present in use in the Mount Gilead Devon Herd:
TEMPTER
(1225 D.H.B.)
(imported).

Bred by the late James Davy, Esq., Flitton Barton, Northmorton, Devon, England. Calved March, 1872.

Sire DUKE OF FLITTON 4th (827)
Gs Duke of Flitton 3rd (826)
G gs Duke of Flitton 2nd (825)
G g gs the Gold Medal of Flitton (613).

G gd Pink (955) by Nelson (83)
G g gd Pink (348) by a bull bred by Mr. Davy
G g g gd Princess (377)
G g g g gd Flower (189)
G g g g g gd by Hundred Guineas (36).

TEMPTER won First Prize at the Bath and West of England Meeting at Croydon; Second Prize at the Devon County Agricultural Show at Tiverton; Second Prize at the Show of the Royal Agricultural Society of England at Birmingham; and First Prize and Champion Gold Medal as the best Devon Bull of the Show of the same Society (R.A.S.E.) at Taunton, then beating the same bull that was placed before him at the R.A.S.E. Meeting at Birmingham.

TEMPTER was also exhibited at the Sydney International Exhibition in December, 1879, and won First Prize in the Aged Bulls' Class, and the Champion Gold Medal as the best Devon Bull.

The Stud Devon Cows are nearly all bred from Tocal stock, and are a very grand lot.

6 IMPROVED BERKSHIRE PIGS (Imported)

and
WEST MAITLAND.

PURE SHORTHORN BULLS.

At Campbell's Hill, West Maitland.

SATURDAY, 21st APRIL
(THE DAY AFTER THE MAITLAND SHOW).

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions from J. B. Christian, Esq., Mount Pleasant, Hinton, to sell by auction, at Campbell's Hill, on SATURDAY, the 21st April, at 12 o'clock, 30 pure shorthorn bulls, 18 months to 2½ years old, from pure-bred cows, and by Prince Imperial and Darlington. These are a grand lot, and in splendid condition.

Terms, Cash.

IMPORTANT UNRESERVED SALE
of
CLYDESDALE MARES, DRAUGHT COLTS, LIGHT HORSES, and CATTLE.

At DOUGLAS PARK.

IN THE ESTATE OF THE LATE MR. JOHN CUMMINS.

On TUESDAY, MARCH 20, at 12 O'CLOCK.

WILLIAM INGLIS and SON have received instructions to sell by auction, at the residence of the late Mr. John Cummins, Douglas Park, on TUESDAY, March 20, at 12 o'clock,

The whole of the horses in the estate, comprising

20 head superior draught mares and fillies, by imported sires, and selected with great care by Mr. Cummins, who has been breeding from imported stock for several years.

These mares will be found equal to any in the colony. Full pedigrees will be given at the sale.

Also,

5 draught colts, very superior, the progeny of the above
4 well-bred saddle horses
2 Shetland ponies
2 well-bred saddle ponies, by Master Lynne and The Barb.

The whole of the dairy cattle, comprising 140 head, as follows:—

14 superior milch cows in full milk
9 working bullocks
4 well-bred Alderney bulls
35 heifers, 2 to 4 years old, most of which are in calf to pure Alderney bull bred by E. Larkin, Esq., Abida 50 steers, 2 to 4 years old, in good condition, and 10 springing cows.

These cattle will be found a very superior lot. The cows and heifers should be secured by any farmers wishing to purchase from a really first-class herd, all descended from pure Alderney stock.

Also splendid buggy and harness, spring-cart, tip-cart, horse, roller, plough, bullock dray and frame, assortment of dairy utensils.

The auctioneers invite the special attention of purchasers to this sale, as Mr. Cummins was known as a splendid judge of stock, and his Clydesdale mares are widely known as equal to any in the colony, and the present is an opportunity very seldom occurring. This is also an opportunity of securing dairy stock of a quality seldom offered for sale.

Purchasers leaving Sydney by the 9.45 a.m. train will be in ample time for the sale, and conveyances will be in readiness at the Douglas Park Station to convey them to the sale, which is only half a mile distant from it.

Luncheon will be provided.

of 260 HEAD CATTLE, at the
GEORGE INN SALE YARDS, PICTON,
On SATURDAY, March 17, at 12 o'clock.

WILLIAM INGLIS and SON have received instructions to sell by auction, at the George Inn Sale Yards, THIS DAY, March 17, at 12 o'clock,

On account of A. E. Moore, Esq., 180 head, comprising

40 choice cows, half of which are fat
30 three-year-old heifers, most of which are in calf
27 young bullocks, fat, 4 working bullocks
30 young cattle, heifers and steers, 2 to 3 years old.

On account of Oswald Scholes, Esq.

50 dry cows, most of which are in calf
30 springing cows
30 young bullocks, 3 to 4 years old
20 young cattle, heifers and steers.
1 well-bred bull.

The above is an excellent opportunity of selecting first-class cattle, as they are described as a really superior lot.

Trains leave Sydney on morning of sale, at 7.55 and 9.45 a.m., arriving in ample time for purchasers.

IMPORTANT SALE
of
PURE AYRSHIRE CATTLE, at the Residence of
T. L. PEATE, Esq., Lansdown, Cabramatta, on TUESDAY, APRIL 3,
at 12 o'clock.

WILLIAM INGLIS and SON have received instructions from T. L. Peate, Esq., to sell by auction, at his residence, Lansdown, Cabramatta, on TUESDAY, APRIL 3, at 12 o'clock,

The whole of his valuable imported AYRSHIRE CATTLE,
comprising

7 PURE-BRED AYRSHIRE BULLS:

No. 1. DANDY, pure Ayrshire bull, bred by Mrs. M'Nab, Oakbank, Victoria; 378 in New South Wales Herd Book

No. 10. NELL, pure Ayrshire heifer, bred by John Grant, Esq., Seafield, Victoria

Also, 90 head really first-class milch cows and half-bred Ayrshire heifers, and a few good steers.

Catalogues, with full particulars of pedigrees (which are too lengthy for advertisement), are in preparation, and can be had on application to the Auctioneers.

The special attention of breeders is invited to the sale of this favourite breed of cattle. Mr. Peate has made the breeding of Ayrshires a special study, and whenever an opportunity arose of making a choice addition to his stock, has spared no expense in securing the same. They have nearly all been imported from Victoria and New Zealand, are from the herds of the best breeders in those colonies, and principally prize-takers. The only reason they are now offered for sale is the proprietor having leased his farm, and intending to reside in Sydney, and it is needless to add that this is an opportunity not likely to occur again for years of securing a breed of cattle that is daily growing in popularity. The train leaving Sydney at 9.45 a.m. will convey intending purchasers in ample time, and vehicles will be in waiting on its arrival at Cabramatta station to take them to the sale, which is only a mile distant.

A Luncheon will be provided.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

WOOROOWOOLGEN STATION,
Richmond River, N. S. W., with the whole of the famous D in a Diamond Herd of Cattle.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER are instructed by Messrs. GRIFFITHS, FANNING, and CO., to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, June 13, 1883,
The celebrated WOOROOWOOLGEN STATIONS, comprised in the blocks known as WOOROOWOOLGEN
MONGOGERIE
CAMDEN VALLEY
WYANDAH
which contain an estimated area of 250,040 acres, and are thoroughly and permanently watered by extensive frontage to the Richmond River, and by Myrtle, Sandy, Wyon, Mongogerie, Shannonbrook, and other never-failing creeks, and by numerous lagoons.

The country is of the finest description for cattle breeding; besides the very extensive and commodious homesteads at Wooroowoolgen, Sandy Creek, Mongogerie, and Wyon, the improvements on these properties in the way of built houses, stables, gardens, stockyards, receiving yards, &c., are too numerous to particularise; also, the runs are enclosed and subdivided into paddocks by an immense extent of very substantial fencing.

With the station will be sold the whole of the famous
D IN A DIAMOND CATTLE, which are known throughout the colonies as being of the purest Durham type, and in regard to which no expense has been spared to keep the herd up to the highest standard of excellence.
The stock comprises about—16,000 mixed cattle
1,500 stud females and bulls
Horses, stores, plant, &c.

The freehold land to be sold with the properties amounts to about 30,000 acres, a large portion of which is situated at the head of navigation on the middle arm of the Richmond River, and includes a great extent of the most valuable scrub lands.

Intending purchasers are invited to inspect these properties, which are absolutely to be sold either as a whole or in three or more lots, as may be found most expedient; and in this latter case the whole of the celebrated stud cattle will be sold by auction at Wooroowoolgen shortly after the disposal of the properties.

Buyers can inspect plans and obtain further particulars from GRIFFITHS and WEAVER, Sydney.

Fuller particulars to be announced hereafter.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEES
and
TRUSTEES OF THE ESTATE
of
Mr. JAMES KINGSTON.

EXTENSIVE AREA OF LEASEHOLD LAND, IN 3 BLOCKS, containing
11 ACRES 1 ROOD, and 12 PERCHES, situated at
WOOLLAHRA,
held under lease from the COOPER ESTATE for a period of 99 years from 1st July, 1857, subject to a ground rent of £204 per annum.

This large PARCEL of LAND has frontages to the following important streets, viz.:—
OCEAN-STREET
MONCUR-STREET
SPICER-STREET
DENISON-STREET
ALTON-STREET
PIPER-STREET,
now called QUEEN-STREET
MORRELL-STREET, and the
OLD POINT PIPER-ROAD.

On portions of this land fronting Moncur-street are TWO TERRACES of FAMILY RESIDENCES, viz.,
WRENVILLE-TERRACE,
FIVE SUBSTANTIALLY-BUILT TWO-STORY HOUSES, each of brick on stone foundations, containing verandah and balcony, hall, 4 rooms, kitchen, laundry, shed with copper, with gardens front and back, producing a rental of £269 per annum.

MONTAUBIN VILLAS,
TWO WELL-BUILT RESIDENCES of stone and brick cemented, ONE containing verandah and balcony, hall, 6 rooms, kitchen and bathroom; the other, verandah and balcony, hall, 7 rooms, detached kitchen, and servants' room, bathroom, &c.; both have garden front and back, and together produce a rental of £171 per annum.
Adjoining this Terrace is a comfortable COTTAGE RESIDENCE, containing verandah, hall, 5 rooms, kitchen, pantry, and bathroom, garden front and back, let at £20 16s per annum.
Fronting QUEEN-STREET, near its intersection with MONCUR-STREET, is DYNEVOR-TERRACE,
THREE TWO-STORY RESIDENCES, of stone and brick cemented, two having porch entrance, containing 5 rooms, kitchen, and laundry. The centre house has verandah, drawing and dining rooms with folding-doors, parlour, two bedrooms, kitchen, and servant's-room.

Annual Rental for the 3 Houses, £178 10s.

On the Old Point Piper-road, at the corner of Spicer-street, a very few yards from the Congregational Church, is built of stone and brick, and containing large accommodation. It is now untenanted, but was recently let at £90 per annum.
CLIFTON LODGE,

Nearly all the rest of the land is sub-let on building leases for the residue of the original lease, and produces an income of £436 17s per annum.

SIX of the Lots of the above area, viz:—
LOT 8. Corner of Moncur and Morrell streets
LOT 28. Corner of Queen-street and Denison-street
LOTS 24 and 25, fronting Ocean-street, and LOT 33, fronting Denison-street are still unlet.

In addition to the above there is a block of land, having 66 feet frontage to Queen-street, running back to the old Point Piper-road, to which it has also a frontage of 66 feet, sublet for the residue of the lease at a yearly rental of £10, thus making the amount of income from sub-leases alone £466 17s per annum.
To this amount has to be added the rentals from the following properties, viz.:—

Cottage adjoining	...	...	20	16	0
Dynevor-terrace	...	...	178	10	0
Clifton Lodge, say	...	...	90	0	0
			£729	6	0

thus making a gross rental of £1196 3s per annum, from which has to be deducted the original ground rent of £204, thus leaving a net income of £994 3s, to be further increased by rents from six lots still unlet, estimated to produce from £80 to £100 per annum.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 30th March, at 11 o'clock,
The above extensive property at Woollahra.

Full particulars of the above estate may be obtained at the Rooms, Pitt-street, where plans may also be inspected.

REIBY-LANE, running from
MACQUARIE-PLACE to PITT-STREET.

IN ONE OR MORE LOTS.

LOT 2.—Block of THREE NEWLY ERECTED STORES, on the east side of SUSSEX-STREET,
a few yards beyond GOULBURN-STREET.

Title Unquestionable.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, 30th MARCH,

at 11 o'clock,
The above VALUABLE CITY PROPERTIES, viz.:—
LOT 1. All that block of land in Reiby-lane, commencing about 68 feet from the corner of MACQUARIE-PLACE, and having a frontage of 186 feet by a depth of 71 feet on the northern or PITT-STREET end, and 57 feet 6 inches on the southern or MACQUARIE-PLACE end—being bounded on that side by a RIGHT-OF-WAY 18 feet wide, to which the adjoining property in Macquarie-place now in course of erection by Messrs. H. S. Bird and Co. has also a right of use.
On this large, centrally-situated block of land are the following premises, viz.:—
DWELLING-HOUSE and OFFICE, built of brick cemented, containing hall and 8 good-sized rooms.
The rest of the land is divided into yard, sheds, and rough stores. The whole of this block, in two portions, is let on a monthly and weekly tenancy at the nominal rent of £4 10s per week.

IN ONE OR MORE LOTS, TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

LOT 2—SUSSEX-STREET.
THREE NEWLY-ERECTED MERCANTILE STORES, occupying a block of land on the east side of SUSSEX-STREET, a few yards beyond GOULBURN-STREET, having a frontage of 49 feet, each store containing good dry cellar (7 feet head room), ground floor, and two floors over.

These premises have city water and gas laid on, and are connected with the sewer. They have only recently been finished, and are now ready for immediate occupation.

BY ORDER OF THE MINISTER FOR MINES.

For Sale by Auction,
ON 4th APRIL NEXT.

LICENSES TO CUT TIMBER FOR THREE YEARS, on certain portions of CROWN LANDS,
hereinafter particularised, situated in the PARISH of TOMAGA, county of St. Vincent, within three or four miles of the navigable waters on the Tomiki or Tomaga River, between MORUYA and BATEMAN'S BAY.

These licenses will be subject to the "Timber Regulations" applying to State Forests, Class A, and to the annual rents to be determined by auction, and to the special conditions and terms to be set forth at the time of sale.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the HONORABLE J. P. ABBOTT, MINISTER FOR MINES, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, the 4th APRIL next, at 12 o'clock noon,

Licenses to the exclusive right to cut timber on the undermentioned BLOCKS of CROWN LANDS, for a period of 3 YEARS from 1st MAY NEXT, subject to the annual rent and regulations now mentioned, viz.:—

BLOCK 1.
ALL THAT parcel of land described as part of TOMAGA FOREST RESERVE, No. 99, containing an area of 640 acres, more or less. This block will be offered subject to an upset annual license fee of £10.

ALL THAT Parcel of Land (adjoining the above) described as part of TOMAGA FOREST RESERVE, No. 99, containing an area of 1000 ACRES, more or less. This lot will be offered subject to an upset annual license fee of £15.
The Timber is described as consisting principally of SPOTTED GUM, MOUNTAIN ASH, PEPPERMINT, BLACKBUTT, IRONBARK, STRINGYBARK, generally of very fine quality, and will be leased to the bidder, who shall offer the highest price per annum over and above the upset fee named, for a period of three years, which may be renewed for a further term not exceeding three years, upon payment of an annual fee not less than that bid at auction, and subject to such special conditions, if any, that may be then imposed, and on sufficient cause being shown to the Minister for such renewal.

TERMS.—The sum bid for the annual license fee must be paid in advance at the time of sale for the unexpired portion of the current year, and each subsequent payment must be made to the Colonial Treasury, Sydney, on or before the 31st December in each year in advance for the ensuing year.
Tracings, showing the positions of the above blocks of land, together with the articles and conditions of sale, and the Crown Lands Timber Regulations, may be inspected at the office of the auctioneers, or upon application to the Government Land Agent at Broulee.

ARMIDALE ANTIMONY MINING COMPANY.

FOR POSITIVE SALE,
ONE-THIRD INTEREST in the ARMIDALE ANTIMONY MINING COMPANY,
situated at
GARA FALLS,
a few miles from the town of Armidale, the PRESENT TERMINUS of the GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, 6th APRIL next,

at 11 o'clock,
ONE-THIRD UNDIVIDED INTEREST in the above Company's Property, consisting of the following Blocks of mineral land, conditional purchases ready for transfer, viz.:—

	Acres.
No. 58.	100	conditional purchase
109.	80	additional ditto
110.	80	mineral ditto
113.	40	ditto ditto
112.	40	ditto ditto
	340 acres.

Also, 4 Blocks adjoining the above, of mineral leased land, containing an aggregate area of 120 acres (with the right to an additional 20 acres when obtained), forming together a large property, rich in deposits of antimony ore, a quantity of which mineral has already been raised and forwarded for treatment.

The introduction of a small capital to further develop this property would render it very valuable; and carried on with energy would yield a handsome return.
Plan on view at the Rooms.
Terms at sale.

QUEENSLAND PASTORAL PROPERTY.

SOUTH GREGORY DISTRICT.

WOMPI and WINNINIA.

HILL, CLARK, and CO., in conjunction with Messrs. French and Moore, of Bourke, have been favoured with instructions to offer by public auction, on FRIDAY, 20th APRIL, 1883, at 2.30 p.m., at the Hall of Commerce Exchange, Sydney, that very choice cattle property,
WOMPI and WINNINIA,
in the South Gregory District, Queensland, and situated about 400 miles from Bourke, and 180 miles from Thargomindah.

The herd consists of about 2000 head of well-bred cattle, of which a good proportion will shortly come off fat.

The country is very rich and fattening, being principally blue and Mitchell grass, and open salt bush plains, and is well watered by creeks and a large dam.

To any one wanting a really good property at a moderate cost, and capable of extension, the present offers special attractions.
Apply to HILL, CLARK, and CO.,
129, Pitt-street, Sydney;
or
FRENCH and MOORE, Bourke.

OLD and NEW ERINGANERIN, CASTLEREAGH RIVER, with
3000 EWES
1000 WETHERS.

J. C. M'MAHON, in conjunction with HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, Limited, has been instructed by J. M'Keown, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Royal Hotel, Dubbo, on TUESDAY, 27th MARCH, 1883,

at 3 o'clock,
His SPLENDID SHEEP STATIONS, OLD and NEW ERINGANERIN, adjoining J. O'Keefe's Breelong Station, on the Castlereagh River, midway between Dubbo and Coonamble, with 25,300 acres of open box mulga, and plain country; having 6 miles frontage to Castlereagh River on the north, and 3 miles on the south side. Capable of carrying 7000 to 8000 sheep.

The improvements consist of six-roomed house, orchard, out-offices, woolshed, sheep and drafting yards, and 60-acre horse paddock.
Exclusive of the river frontages the back country is permanently watered by creeks.
As yet there are no selectors on the station, and most of the deep water frontage is secured by two large reserves.
With the station will be sold
3000 ewes
1000 wethers.

The Auctioneer will draw the attention of small capitalists to the sale of Eringanerin, as it is an opportunity seldom offered to them of acquiring such valuable station property.
Full particulars on application to HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, Limited,
Sydney; or
J. C. M'MAHON,
Dubbo.

IMPORTANT SALE
of
FIRST-CLASS PROPERTIES
by PUBLIC AUCTION.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

WILKINSON, GRAVES, and LAVENDER, Sydney, in conjunction with HEPBURN and ROWE, Ballarat, have received instructions to offer at an early date, to be named in future advertisements,
THE MARNOO and YORK PLAINS ESTATES, in the East Wimmera district of Victoria, containing an area of 12,273 acres of freehold land, as originally purchased from the Crown.
Marnoo was first taken up by the late Martin Shanahan, Esq., nearly 40 years ago, and was continuously occupied by him till his death last year, and is now being offered by the executors under the terms of his will.
The land is unsurpassed in Victoria for pastoral and agricultural purposes, and is splendidly watered by the Richardson and Avon Rivers and the Wallaloo Creek, also by lagoons, tanks, dams, and wells; and is subdivided by substantial post and wire fencing into convenient paddocks.
The homestead improvements consist of large and commodious dwelling-house, and the requisite out-offices; also woolshed, drafting yards, and other improvements of the most substantial character, and the estate is within easy reach of the Ballarat and other first-class markets, being only about 3 miles from Banyena (to which place it is proposed to extend the railway), and about 25 miles from St. Arnaud or Glenorchy.
The Marnoo sheep are noted in Victoria both for their wool and carcase, and have been carefully bred on the station for years. Their number at present is about 10,000 of good ages, and there is also a small herd of cattle and some well-bred horses which will be offered with the estate.

Also
IN CONJUNCTION WITH F. BACON and CO.,
THE ULAMAMBRI PROPERTY,
in the Bligh and Liverpool Plains district of New South Wales, with about 15,500 acres freehold land and 15,000 acres pre-emptive leases, and the adjoining pastoral runs, comprising an additional estimated area of 100,000 acres, or a total area of 130,000 acres.
The freehold lands consist of the richest soil for agricultural and pastoral properties, have frontages to both sides of the Castlereagh river, and are intersected by several fine creeks, and also watered by wells, dams, and tanks.
The property is subdivided by new and substantial post and wire fencing into convenient paddocks. There are also a large and commodious woolshed, drafting yards, steam washing plant, homestead buildings, and out offices, the whole forming a compact and valuable property, capable of carrying double the present number of sheep, and is situated within about 60 miles of the railway station at Gunnedah.
The stock consists of about 20,000 first class merino sheep and a small herd of cattle, horses, &c., full particulars of which will appear in due course.

THURSDAY, MARCH 29.
At the Exchange, Collins-street West, Melbourne.
12 o'clock.
The A1 Barque
BIRCHGROVE.
To Shipowners, Shipmasters, and others interested in our Foreign Trades.
WILLIAM DUTHIE has been favoured with instructions from Messrs. Grice, Sumner, and Co. to sell by auction, on THURSDAY, the 29th instant, at the Exchange, Melbourne, at 12 o'clock,
The British-built barque
BIRCHGROVE,
543 tons register, built under special survey at Sunderland in 1856, obtaining a classification at Lloyd's of A1 13 years, continued in 1869 for 9 years.
Docked at Hamburg in 1880, when the vessel received amongst other repairs new decks, new wire rigging, new mainmast, several new spars, and also shipped, caulked, and re-coppered, procuring a class of 9 years A1 red letter.
Her dimensions are:—
Length, 136.5
Breadth, 28.3
Depth, 18.6.
Carries 750 tons of coals on a draught of 18 feet, and goes to sea with about 220 tons of ballast.
The Auctioneer begs to call the particular attention of timber merchants and others engaged in the timber trade to the sale of this vessel, as being fitted with a bow port of 30 inches, and having an unusually large main hatch and several shifting hold beams, she is therefore in every respect admirably adapted for that. Well supplied with anchors, cables, sails, &c., and now lying in Hobson's Bay, where intending purchasers are invited to inspect her.
Inventories in course of preparation.
For any further particulars apply to WILLIAM DUTHIE,
Lloyd's Rooms, Melbourne.
Terms at sale.

WEDNESDAY, 28th March, at 12 o'clock prompt.
G. S. CROUCH has been favoured with instructions from H. J. Buckland, Esq., Marshal of the Vice-Admiralty Court, Tasmania, and by virtue of a decree by Sir Francis Smith, Knt., Judge of the said Court, to sell by public auction at the Mart, 53, Collins-street, Hobart, time and day as above,
The British-built brig Chieftain, A1 at Lloyd's till 1884. Built at Shoreham in 1867 under special survey, and copper fastened throughout; register, 200 tons, but carries 500 tons dead weight on a draught of 14 feet 4 inches.
Stands without ballast on 7 feet 2 inches, is a fast sailer, and makes very little water when labouring in a heavy sea. Landed her cargo of sugar from Mauritius in capital order.
Underwent a thorough repair at Mauritius in September last, caulked all over, new metalled to water-line, and nearly all her fore and aft wire rigging is only 18 months old. Her sails are in splendid order, and she is well found in anchors, chains, and boats.
Inspection invited. Full inventory to be seen on application to Messrs. MACFARLANE, BROTHERS, and CO., Macquarie-street, Hobart, or to the Auctioneer.
Reference, Messrs. ROBERTS, ALLPORT, and ALLPORT, Solicitors, Stone-buildings, Hobart.
Terms, 25 per cent. cash deposit, balance on completion.

HUDSONVILLE, Granville.—73 Allotments for Sale, This Day, on the ground, by Richardson and Wrench. Joining Hudson Brothers' property, and the great works of Hudson Company. No special train, but fares paid to every one going by 12.30, 1, 1.24, 2.20, 2.30 trains.

BATHURST PLAINS,
BATHURST.

The magnificent estate
BLACKDOWN is now for POSITIVE SALE.

CLEMENTS and M'CARTHY have received instructions from the Trustees of the Estate of the late HENRY ROTTON, Esq., to sell by auction, on WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, at 2.30 p.m.,
at the Royal Hotel,
The above really VALUABLE PROPERTY, which, without comparison, has been the most profitable of all of equal extent on the unrivalled BATHURST PLAINS.

BLACKDOWN consists of 1800 acres (more or less), of SPECIALLY RICH SOIL, nearly half of which is of the celebrated MACQUARIE RIVER FLATS, possibly richer, and certainly more valuable than the far-famed BANKS OF THE NILE.

Five crops of LUCERNE may be cut in a season, by which a return of about £40 per acre may be obtained, at present (and past) season rates. The number of long-woolled sheep these flats have fattened in each season, if mere heresay, might well be deemed incredible.

The upland portion of BLACKDOWN is very rich red and chocolate soil, with deep ferruginous subsoil—the BEST WHEAT LAND—much of which has been cultivated during the past fifty years, and yielded wonderful crops.

BLACKDOWN is only separated from the City and Municipal Boundaries thereof by the overflowing River Macquarie, to which it has an extensive frontage.

The Property is securely enclosed, and divided into fifteen paddocks, and situated between Cangowra—the residence and estate of the Hon. W. H. Suttor, M.L.C.—and Hereford, the homestead estate of Jas. Rutherford, Esq.

BLACKDOWN HOUSE is extensive and complete, with all outoffice requisites.

EXTENSIVE STABLING,
Entires and other boxes.

For a thoroughly practical stud breeder, a wholesale dealer in fat stock, or gentleman of family, whom he wishes to see grow strong and enjoy themselves, it would be hard to find an Elysium equal to BLACKDOWN.

To particularise would be but waste of time.

The Auctioneers simply request particular attention, as the SALE IS IMPERATIVE,
in accordance with the conditions of the will of the late H. ROTTON, Esq.

For all particulars apply to CLEMENTS and M'CARTHY,
Stock, Station, Estate Agents, and Auctioneers, William-street, Bathurst.

ESTATE FOR SALE.

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions from S. A. CRAIK, Esq., to offer for POSITIVE SALE at COHEN'S (late Fulford's) HOTEL, WEST MAITLAND, on TUESDAY, the 10th APRIL, 1883, at 2 o'clock,
THE WHOLE OF HIS LANDED PROPERTY ON THE PATERSON RIVER, consisting of a COMPACT BLOCK
of 4500 ACRES (more or less)
of AGRICULTURAL
and SAPPED PASTORAL LAND, commanding a frontage of
MORE THAN EIGHT MILES TO THE PATERSON RIVER,
and embracing the three contiguous Estates
of CARDONESS, CREEBANK, and LENNOXTON, together with
OVER 1000 ACRES OF SECURED GOVERNMENT LAND.

Cardoness has been much improved of late by clearing and the erection of new fencing.

THE HOMESTEAD
occupies a very beautiful and healthy position. The house is a SUBSTANTIAL BRICK BUILDING, and the ORCHARD and ORANGERY are very complete.

There are also good
COTTAGES and VINEYARDS, &c., on some of the other farms, and the land produces excellent crops of maize, tobacco, lucerne, &c.

If the property is not sold in one lot, it will be cut up into 10 FARMS
from 100 to 1400 ACRES respectively, so as to suit all purchasers, to whom Mr. CRAIK will be happy to point out the property as a whole, or any one of the proposed farms. It is only distant about 18 miles from Maitland, to which place there is an excellent macadamised road.

THE TITLE is perfect, and information respecting it may be had from T. SALTER, Esq., solicitor, Hunter-street, Sydney.

For further particulars apply to the owner, S. A. CRAIK, Cardoness, Paterson, New South Wales; or to the Auctioneers, BRUNKER and WOLFE, Maitland and Sydney.

TERMS:
HALF CASH; the balance in EQUAL PAYMENTS at one, two, and three years, bearing INTEREST at the rate of 7 per CENT. per ANNUM, secured by MORTGAGE over the PROPERTY in the usual manner.

THURSDAY, 12th APRIL.

For Positive Sale,
The Famous
YALLOCK MARSH ESTATE, Near Terang,
containing
4986 Acres Magnificent Rich Land, to be sold in lots, as per plan.

RYAN and HAMMOND (in conjunction with Jellie and St. Quintin, Warrnambool), will sell by public auction, at the homestead, Yallock, on THURSDAY, 12th April, at 1 o'clock,
The whole of the Yallock Marsh Estate, in lots.
Yallock has long been noted as one of the richest properties in the Western district, and being in the midst of the best fattening and agricultural land in Victoria, the auctioneers have much pleasure in drawing the attention of buyers wishing to secure first-class and highly-improved land in a splendid climate.
Every block has permanent water, and the land cannot be surpassed for fattening, agricultural, or dairying purposes. Several of the blocks are suitable for hop growing.
Further particulars as to terms, &c., will appear in a future issue.

The above-mentioned valuable FREEHOLD PROPERTY, with the GOODWILL of the BUSINESS, the profitable nature of which can be judged by the fact that the owner has within a little over four years realised a competency, full and ample proof of which will be afforded to bona-fide intending buyers.
The FREEHOLD on which the premises are built has a MAIN ROAD FRONTAGE of 400 FEET, and also a WATER FRONTAGE to GEORGE'S RIVER of 400 FEET.
The PREMISES consist of the HOTEL, containing 10 rooms, large bar, cellar, kitchen, bathroom (water laid on to bath and bedrooms), STABLING for 20 HORSES. Also, the buildings used as a GENERAL STORE and POST OFFICE, STEAMER'S WHARF, BOAT SHED, and other outhouses.

☞ The property is well and faithfully built, is only 5 years old, and is as good as new.

☞ Such an opportunity to buy a highly lucrative business does not often occur, especially in such a rapidly rising district, destined to become the watering place of Sydney.

INSPECTION IS INVITED.

BELLEVUE.—The TERMS are MOST LIBERAL, viz., 10 per cent. deposit, 10 per cent. in 3 months, WITHOUT INTEREST, the balance at 1, 2, 3, and 4 YEARS from day of sale, with only 6 per cent. interest. No mortgage required. Purchasers may PAY OFF balance at ANY TIME, with INTEREST ONLY TO DATE.

BELLEVUE.—The BEST OF BUILDING SITES. No expense for foundations necessary.

BELLEVUE.—SANDY SOIL, NATURAL DRAINAGE.

☞ The Auctioneers only ask INTENDING purchasers and GENTLEMEN about to BUILD HOUSES for their own occupation to INSPECT this estate, feeling sure that one inspection will satisfy them that every advantage claimed for the property is REAL and WELL-MERITED.

Lastly, "GOOD WINE need NO BUSH."

It is not, therefore, considered necessary, in advancing the claims of BELLEVUE, to do more than INVITE PURCHASERS to JUDGE FOR THEMSELVES, only reminding them that the estate is but little over 2 MILES DISTANT from the CENTRE of SYDNEY, and can be inspected any day with but AN HOUR'S loss of time.
The subdivision has been ably carried out by Messrs. REUSS and HALLORAN.
Messrs. ICETON and FAITHFULL,

☞ THE BROOMFIELD ESTATE.

This splendid property consists partly of beautiful UNDULATING COUNTRY, presenting numerous sites very suitable for VILLA RESIDENCES, ORCHARDS, GARDENS, and AGRICULTURAL purposes, and partly of HILLY COUNTRY, covered with fine TIMBER, suitable for FENCING and BUILDING purposes.

This is an IMPORTANT ITEM, as the want of GOOD TIMBER is much felt in the locality, most of that available having long since been DESTROYED.

The subdivision has been carried out in an EXCEEDINGLY LIBERAL MANNER by Messrs. ATCHISON and SCHLEIGER, in conjunction with Mr. J. F. MANN, Licensed Surveyor, and in conformity with the NATURAL FEATURES of the land. The blocks are all of large areas (none less than 6 acres), and the ROADS ONE CHAIN wide.

The VIEWS are beautifully varied, and extend over the whole of the surrounding country.

ABUNDANCE of WATER from the WINGECARRIBEE RIVER, and numerous SPRINGS and WATERCOURSES.

Over 2 MILES FRONTAGE to the KANGALOON-ROAD.

BATT, RODD, and PURVES have received instructions from a GENTLEMAN leaving for EUROPE to sell by public auction, at their Temporary Offices and Sale Rooms, corner GEORGE and MARGARET STREETS, on TUESDAY, 27th MARCH, at 11.30 a.m.,
The following splendid properties, viz.:—

Lot 1. ST. LEONARDS, MIDDLE HARBOUR, grand block of Land, in area 16 ACRES 1 rood 29 perches, situate in the PARISH of ST. LEONARDS, having a frontage of about 7 CHAINS to a GOVERNMENT ROAD, and about 8 CHAINS to the DEEP WATERS of LONG BAY; distant only 2½ miles from MILSON'S POINT FERRY by GOOD ROADS. Title, FREEHOLD.

Lot 2. LANE COVE, Parish of GORDON. Valuable Block of 24 ACRES, situate on STONEY CREEK, and adjoining BURNS' ORCHARD, all fenced in; 8 acres are cleared and partly planted with FRUIT TREES, and there is a good 2-roomed Cottage on the land.

Lot 3. LANE COVE, Block of 5 ACRES, also situate on STONEY CREEK, close to lot 2. 2 acres are planted with ORANGE TREES, and 1 acre is CLEARED for planting. The HOUSE on the property is almost new, thoroughly well built, and in FIRST-CLASS ORDER, and contains 7 rooms, outside kitchen, copper, &c.

Lot 4. NORTH WILLOUGHBY, CHATSWOOD ESTATE, A splendid Block of Building Land, having 500 feet frontage to VICTORIA AVENUE, by the extreme depth of 200 feet, running through to a 40-feet street at rear, situate almost opposite the CHATSWOOD POST-OFFICE.

Lot 5. NORTH WILLOUGHBY, 2-acre Block, having frontage to MOWBRAY-ROAD, situate close to the residence of Mr. A. S. MACKENZIE, and close to RUSSELL'S HOTEL.

FURTHER PARTICULARS will appear in future advertisements.

NEXT SATURDAY.

ORIENT ESTATE.

LONG BAY-ROAD, nearly adjoining the property of J. Wilson, Esq.

COOGEE.

The favourite resort of pleasure-seekers.

COOGEE is acknowledged by all to be the suburb par excellence of Sydney, and for pure refreshing air, nearness to the city, and beauty of scenery it cannot be excelled.

The ORIENT ESTATE commands an exceedingly good position, having frontage to the LONG BAY-ROAD, along which it is supposed the TRAMWAY will go, and has a frontage to the
VERY WATERS OF THE RESTLESS OCEAN.

As the perfumed breeze comes o'er the seas, the purchaser of an allotment will find, when living on the ORIENT ESTATE,
that life passes like a tranquil dream.

T. R. SMITH, CHAPMAN, and SMITH have received instructions from the vendor to sell without reserve, on the Estate,
NEXT SATURDAY, March 10, at 3 o'clock,

GRAND VILLA SITES, fronting Long Bay-road, Cusco-street, Liguria-street,
by large depths.

ORIENT ESTATE IS THE LOVELIEST LAND IN COOGEE.

The Auctioneers particularly desire to direct the attention of gentlemen and others who are in search of a fine Marine Villa Site to the ORIENT ESTATE,
where grand views of the bold coast line, extending as far as the eye can reach, as well as good building land, can be obtained.

As an investment for capital the must of necessity commend itself to speculators, for in a very short space of time land secured in such a pre-eminent position as this must increase in value to a wonderful extent.
ORIENT ESTATE

The business man can easily enjoy all the soothing influences of a country life, and be able to attend to his business in the city, because the Orient Estate is within a quarter of an hour's walk of the present
COOGEE TRAMWAY, and the proposed tramway will pass this BEAUTIFUL ESTATE.

On Holidays Coogee is the favourite
PICNICING PLACE.

There is nothing better in the market than the ORIENT ESTATE, therefore attend the sale.

Title—TORRENS' ACT, and FREEHOLD.

Special attention is drawn to the Liberal Terms, which are within the reach of all.
